Locals get their choice animals at Cattle Barons horse and dog auction

East Oregonian

While getting a car from mom and dad is a rite of passage for many teenagers, Steve Currin did his sons one better: he bought them a horse.

Thousands of dollars were on the line at the Pendleton Cattle Barons Saturday as dozens of participants made their bids in an auction for well-bred horses or cattle dogs.

Currin sat in the back row at the Pendleton Convention Center, but he came away with the first horse: a seven-year-old blue roan gelding from Buck Lake, Alberta, Canada, named Hustler.

The $8,500 the rancher from Heppner paid for Hustler was a relative bargain compared many of the other steeds that were sold at the cattle barons, some of which sold at five-figure bids.

Currin has one son doing rodeo at Blue Mountain Community College and another at Heppner High School. He figures the horse described as “very gentle and nice to be around” by his original owners will make for a good rodeo horse for one of his sons.

“They’re gonna have to fist fight to decide who gets it,” he said.

Saturday was the first time Currin has bid in person at the auction. He had bid over the phone before — proxy bidders with a cell phone glued to their ear weren’t hard to spot — but last year was the first time he traveled to the auction in person to see his son Kolby accept a scholarship.

bid came from Roger and Patty Rasico, whose $600 bid netted them the only puppy in the auction.

A previous bidder had already won the puppy and returned it to the auction pool while donating the $3,000 bid toward agriculture scholarships. In the next round of bidding, the couple from just outside Pendleton got their choice of two puppies.

As their new puppy nestled in her arms, Patty already knew the dog’s purpose.

“A companion for senior citizens,” she said with a smile, referring to herself and Roger.

ARC Foundation cancels golf tournament

UMATILLA — The ARC Employee Foundation Golf Tournament scheduled for May 19 at Big River Golf Course has been canceled.

Due to numerous events during the weekend, organizers indicated they didn’t have enough people sign up for the tournament.

They will return payment to people who have already submitted registration and money. Items donated for the event will be donated to the Hermiston Warming Station.

For more information, contact Megan Olsen, Big River general manager, at 541-922-3006 or megan@golfbigriver.com.

Crafters gather in pasture

HERMISTON — Local crafters, artisans and junkers are gathering together for some outdoor fun.

People can shop, eat and visit with friends during Crafters in the Pasture. The event is Saturday from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 78532 Highway 207, Hermiston. There is no admission charge.

Items available include unique handcrafted items, direct sales products, re-purposed decor, farmhouse signs, handmade baby clothes and “good” junk. The vendor fee is $50.

For more information, contact 509-707-3088, crafters@charter.net or search Facebook.

McGriff to headline event

PENDLETON — A writer referred to as “one of two or three best poets in America today” by notable northwest author Joe Wilkins will headline this month’s First Draft Writers’ Series.

Michael McGriff, who grew up in Coos Bay, became a Stegner Fellow and now teaches in the University of Idaho creative writing program and in the American International School in Vienna. He is the co-author of the story collection “Our Secret Life in the Movies,” which was selected as one of National Public Radio’s Best Books of 2014.

The event is Thursday at 7 p.m. at Pendleton Center for the Arts, 214 N. Main St. After reading from his new work, McGriff will engage the audience in a short discussion about the themes that are central to his work. In addition, there will be an open mic for local writers to read from their work.

McGriff’s writing has appeared in numerous publications. Also, he is the translator of Nobel laureate Tomas Traströmer’s “The Sorrow Gondola,” and is the editor of a volume of David Wevill’s essential writing, “To Build My Shadow a Fire.”

Showcasing notable Pacific Northwest authors, First Draft Writers’ Series meets the third Thursday of each month. It celebrates writing and provides an opportunity for people in Eastern Oregon to engage in discussions about a variety of topics.

For more information about the writers’ series, call 541-278-9201 or visit www.pendletonarts.org. For more about McGriff, visit www.michaelmcgriff.com.
