Boys swimming was first team all-state (3.67 GPA), volleyball second team (3.67), girls track third team (3.78), girls soccer fourth team (3.77), softball sixth team (3.66), baseball ninth team (3.35), and boys tennis (3.52), girls tennis (3.73) and boys golf (3.22) were all 10th team.

CAPS: Waited 44 years for the Cup victory lap in front of thousands of red-clad fans.

When Ovi got the Cup back, he handed it to Ted Leonsis, the Caps' owner since 1999.

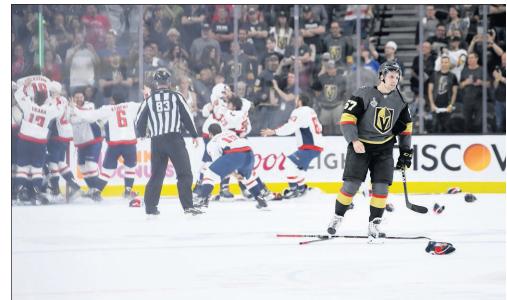

"I'm so happy for the group that has gone through the misery," said Washington coach Barry Trotz, a first-time champ in his 19th season behind an NHL

After Vegas won the Final opener, the Capitals capped their four-game surge by rallying from a third-period deficit in this cathartic Game 5, banishing any memory of playoff failure with clutch goals and rugged play across their lineup.

Braden Holtby made 28 saves in Game 5, outplaying three-time Stanley Cup champion Marc-Andre Fleury in the other net one final time.

'When you get this close to the Cup, it's hard," Fleury said. "Doesn't happen too often. It's very disappointing."

The Caps couldn't win a Cup without a little late weirdness, however: The game clock stopped working on the T-Mobile Arena scoreboards during the final minutes, and the Capitals angrily protested while they played on. Vegas never got close to a tying goal, and the clock finally hit zeros, allowing the Caps to storm the ice behind their net for a frenzied celebration.

Reilly Smith scored a go-ahead goal late in the second period for the Golden Knights, who won seven of their first eight home playoff games before dropping the last two.

The defeat ends the incredible inaugural season of the Golden Knights, who became the NHL's 31st franchise last fall and immediately launched into arguably the greatest debut in modern pro sports history.

Nate Schmidt and David Perron also scored for Vegas in the second period, but Fleury's 29 saves included a stopped puck that dropped underneath him where Eller could sweep it home for the Cup-winning goal.

"It means everything," Eller said. "You couldn't write the story better. If you're going to win on the road, I couldn't imagine a better place to do it."

Washington's win was its 10th on the road in this postseason, tying the NHL playoff record and illustrating the superior toughness of this team. While past editions of the Caps created their team's reputation for postseason flops in part by losing five playoff series in which they had won three of the first four games, Ovechkin's latest group promptly closed out all four of its series this year on the very first try.

The Caps also came back from series deficits in all four rounds and clinched all four series on the road.

The remarkable Golden Knights hadn't lost four consecutive games in their entire inaugural season before the Caps rolled them.

• Tom Dearborn (1962-1966) was a three-year letterman on the football team, a two-way standout at receiver and linebacker and earned unanimous all-conference selection on both sides of the ball as a senior. After graduating, Dearborn played football at Portland State and later coached at Clackamas Community College and Parkrose High School in Portland.

• Laura Moore (1988-1989) spent one season setting records for Pendleton's girls basketball team, including points (618) and assists (203) in a season, and game records such as free throws (15-for-15), and assists (16). She scored 1,951 career points between Pendleton and La Grande, and went on to play college basketball at University of Washington. • JD Lambert (1997-2001) became a two-way football standout as well as one of the top wrestlers in the IMC. In football Lambert earned two all-conference honors as well as IMC Co-Offensive Player of the Year as a senior. On the wrestling mat, he compiled a 86-14 record with two straight second place finishes in the IMC and a seventh place finish at state as a senior.

• Jerry Lilly (1971-1975), a three-year letterman on the football field, was a solid defensive back and developed into a standout receiver as a senior where he caught 28 passes for 579 yards and nine touchdowns and earned all-conference and all-state mentions. Lilly was also a two-year starter on the basketball court and averaged 16 points per game as a senior.

 Cappie Smith (1997-2001) graduated as a fouryear letter winner in girls basketball and a two-time all-conference selection. She finished as Pendleton's all-time leader in assists (293) and steals (254) and was third all-time in scoring with 1,075 points. Smith was also a two-time all-conference softball player as well. is from nearby Tampa. "It felt like coming home from a long road trip.'

After Robertson had a leadoff shot in the third, Haniger got the run back with a solo drive in the fifth.

Pruitt entered in the second after bullpen starter Ryne Stanek worked out of a bases-loaded one-out jam during the first.

Pruitt gave up five runs and seven hits in seven innings.

With Chris Archer (left abdominal strain) and Jake Faria (left oblique strain) both on the disabled list, Tampa Bay is using just Blake Snell and Nate Eovaldi in regular starting roles.

While Faria may be sidelined two months, Archer resumed playing catch Thursday and the Rays are hopeful he will miss no more than two starts.

DEBUT

Rays first baseman Jake Bauers went 0 for 4 in his first major league game.

The 22-year-old lined out to left and to second base before second baseman Gordon made a nice play on a hard one-hopper in shallow right field. Bauers struck out in his last at-bat. "It's just a great feeling all around," Bauers said of reaching the majors.

FEW FREEBIES

Leake's streak of no walks in five straight starts ended when C.J. Cron walked in the eighth. "For some reason when walks get on, they tend to find their way around," Leake said. "So it's a nice stat to be a part of."

MARINERS' MOMENTS

Segura had two hits and tops the majors with 28 multihit games. Seattle is errorless in its last 15 games. UP NEXT

Mariners: LHP Marco Gonzales (6-3) will start the second of a four-game set against Tampa Bay on Friday night. He has allowed a combined one earned run over 26 innings in his last four starts.
