Anthony Bourdain has been found dead in his hotel room in France Friday while working on his CNN series on culinary traditions around the world.

Celebrity chef, TV host
Anthony Bourdain, 61, found dead in France

By ANGELA CHARLTON
Associated Press

PARIS — Anthony Bourdain, the celebrity chef and citizen of the world who inspired millions to share his delight in food and the bonds it created, was found dead in his hotel room Friday in France while working on his CNN series on culinary traditions. He was 61.

CNN confirmed the death, saying that Bourdain was found unresponsive Friday morning by friend and chef Eric Ripert, and the company called the death a suicide.

A prosecutor in eastern France said Bourdain apparently hanged himself in a luxury hotel in the ancient village of Kayserberg on the Alsatian wine route. French media quoted Colmar prosecutor Christian de Rocquigny du Fayel as saying that “at this stage” nothing suggests that another person was involved. However, investigators were verifying the circumstances of Bourdain’s death.

Widely loved and rarely afraid to speak his mind, he mixed a coarseness and whimsical sense of adventurousness, true to the rock ‘n’ roll music he loved. Bourdain’s “Parts Unknown” seemed like an odd choice for CNN when it started in 2013 — part travelogue, part history lesson, part love letter to exotic foods. Each trip was an adventure. There had been nothing quite like it on the staid news network, and it became an immediate hit.

Within hours of his death, “Kitchen Confidential” was in the top 20 on Amazon.com.

The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline, 1-800-273-8255, provides 24/7, free and confidential support for people in distress, prevention and crisis resources for you or your loved ones, and best practices for professionals.

“We are constantly asking ourselves, first and foremost, what is the most (messed) up thing we can do next week?” he said in a 2014 interview with the AP.

Bourdain’s breakthrough as an author came with the 2000 publication of his “Kitchen Confidential: Adventures in the Culinary Underbelly.” The book created a sensation by combining frank details of his life and career with behind-the-scenes observations on the culinary industry.

Colleagues, friends and admirers shared their grief Friday. CNN chief executive Jeff Zucker sent a company letter calling Bourdain “an exceptional talent. A storyteller. A gifted writer. A world traveler. An adventurer.”

As president, Barack Obama sat down for some bun cha in Hanoi, Vietnam, with Bourdain in an episode of “Parts Unknown” in 2016. On Friday, he shared a photo of the interaction on Twitter: “‘Low plastic stool, cheap but delicious noodles, cold Hanoi beer.’ This is how I’ll remember Tony. He taught us about food — but more importantly, about its ability to bring us together. To make us a little less afraid of the unknown. We’ll miss him.”

OBITUARIES

Brent Allen Fife

Pendleton
November 14, 1945 - May 30, 2018

On May 30, 2018, Brent Allen Fife passed away surrounded by his family after a near four-year battle with cancer. Brent was born on November 14, 1945, in Ontario, Ore., to Sandy and Esther Fife and is survived by his wife Fran Fife; his children Tucker Fife (Christiane) and Sarah Fife Sahl (Devyn); his granddaughters Mia Fife, Layna Fife and Finley Sahl; and his siblings Darrylin Collinsworth, Dale Fife, Rod Fife and Terry Fife.

Brent grew up in Echo and graduated from Hermiston High School in 1963. He attended Eastern Oregon State University, BMCC and Portland State University, earning a BS in business in 1968. He was in the Army from 1969 to 1971, with one year of service in Vietnam. In 1973, he became a CPA and went on to become a partner at Fife Cockburn CPAs. He retired in 2010.

Brent was passionate about the Pendleton community and gave back in many ways during his lifetime. He held positions as a Happy Canyon director, president of the Pendleton Country Club, and member of the Umatilla Red Cross, United Way, St. Anthony Hospital Board, Peace Lutheran Church Council and Pendleton Foundation Trust.

Brent was most passionate about his family. In 1973 he married the love of his life, Fran Reeves. His wife, children and grandchildren were his pride and joy and he was the most loving husband, father and papa. Brent loved the outdoors and spending time at his cabin in Meacham. He also enjoyed spending time with his many friends and developing elaborate ways to prank them. Brent had a keen sense of humor and the innate ability to disarm people with his jokes and one-liners. His love, warmth and humor will be the most greatly missed.

A memorial service will be held at the Vert Auditorium, 480 S.W. Dorion Ave., on Saturday June 16 at 3:00 p.m., followed by a celebration of Brent’s life at Happy Canyon, 1114 S.W. Court Ave., on the Mezzanine Level (“Under the Grandstands” by Seymour Butts — that’s for you, Brent).
