

July Neighborhood Happenings

Yoga for youngsters!

HERMISTON — Limber up your little ones! From July 10 through Aug. 9, Hermiston Parks & Rec is offering Kids Activity Yoga on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m.

These classes are fun and energetic, with creative movement, songs, props, and games. As they learn yoga postures, deep breathing and relaxation techniques, children will develop coordination, flexibility, strength and balance. Classes are designed for kids age 3 to 7 and held Hermiston Community Center, 415 S Hwy 395. Cost of the full session (10 classes) is $45 for residents, $57 for non-residents; drop-in classes are $5 each for residents, $7 for non-residents. Details: 541-667-5018.

Pow Wow at Wildhorse

MISSION — The Wildhorse Pow Pow, is the largest in Eastern Oregon, attracting Native American dancers and drumming groups from all over the West to compete. Local families are invited to watch the spectacle and beauty of an authentic pow wow and enjoy arts & craft vendors and Indian fry bread. The Grand Entry starts at 7 p.m. on Friday, July 6 next to the Wildhorse Casino and continues all day Saturday and Sunday. Everyone is welcome at this free event. To learn more, contact Juliana Luke at 541-966-1567.

Make it to fake it

PENDLETON — Have you ever thought of an awesome band name -- but you aren't in a band? Ever take a photo that would be perfect for an album cover? Now's the time to enter Pendleton Library's "My Fake Band Album Cover Contest." Youngsters can submit a fake album cover they created (no limit on entries) for a chance to win ... a most excellent surprise. Drop your creations off at the library during the month of July; winner will be announced Aug. 1. For details call 541-966-0380.
