

WHIRLWIND: Regionals start Saturday

at first. The unexpected ticket to regionals meant the team would have to gather enough funds to send the 11 players, coaches and mandatory parent chaperons to Tuscon.

"The turn-around time is pretty quick," Reeser said. "We've only had a few days to put all these funds together and it's been incredible."

Over $20,000 has been raised and team mom Daena Gaines says the donations are still coming.

"I'm at a loss for words just regarding the generosity and support," Gaines said, "not just from the towns these girls came from, but we got donations from Pendleton businesses, even a family member of one of the girls that lives in Colorado."

"It was a frenzy but everyone kind of kicked it into gear."

From a two-day car wash to the owners at Java Junkies opening up shop on its usual day off to volunteer their time working with the team to a baked potato feed and donated reclaimed wood decor, members all over Umatilla and Morrow counties pitched in to help Columbia.

"All of those communities have stepped up so huge and started putting together funds and resources and we had a van donated and fuel," Reeser said. "Family members and parents of the team just went crazy. We had some moms step up and do a ton of the work."

"When I say community, I mean the whole District 3 region area — they stepped up and made it possible. It was pretty phenomenal to watch."

Columbia's postseason has also been phenomenal to watch. The team was dubbed the "Comeback Queens" after rallying back in nearly every game of the 2018 District All-State Tournament on June 13 in Pilot Rock. The team defeated Union in the finale, 12-11.

Again, Columbia gutted out victories at state, highlighted by a 13-6 victory over Warm Springs in Game 1.

"We worked our way through that bracket and the game that we ended up losing to them was a two-point game so it was a close, close game," Reeser said. "If anyone can go represent Oregon and do it well, it's them."

The regional tournament will be streamed live on gamechanger.com. Search "Columbia Little League (OR)" to follow play-by-play, game statistics and more.

face his former team and the right-hander retired Trout (fly ball) and Pujols (grounder) before giving up a two-run single to Kinsler, who had three hits.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Mariners: LHP Marco Gonzales (bruised left calf) was getting treatment after he was hit by a comebacker Wednesday, and manager Scott Servais said the 10-game winner will be pushed to the back half of the rotation after next week's All-Star break. ... RHP Felix Hernandez (lower back stiffness) will come off the disabled list next week and pitch at the front of the rotation when the second half of the season begins.

Angels: RHP Garrett Richards has elected Tommy John surgery over a conservative treatment option for his damaged ulnar collateral ligament and will miss the remainder of the season ... OF Chris Young (left hamstring strain) was given a platelet rich plasma (PRP) injection but has not started baseball activity after he was placed on the 10-day disabled list July 4.

UP NEXT

Mariners: RHP Christian Bergman will be recalled from Triple-A Tacoma Friday to start the series opener at Colorado.
