Chad Joseph Goodrider

Haneka Wancha (One Elk)

Pendleton

December 3, 1977 - September 10, 2018

Chad Joseph Goodrider, Haneka Wancha (One Elk), died Monday, September 10, 2018, at his home in Pendleton. He was born December 3, 1977, in Yorkton, South Dakota, to Joyce Welch and Ferlin W. Goodrider. Ferlynn Goodrider is Chad's only sister, and she currently resides in Fort Hall, Idaho.

Goodrider

Chad, an enrolled member of Blood Tribe, Standoff, Alberta, Canada, lived his childhood in Pendleton, Ore., Browning, Mont., and Inchelium, Wash. His teenage years were spent in Red Lake, Minn., where he met Michelle Reynolds. Chad and Michelle had five beautiful children together: Breanna, Ashlyn, Wade, Brenton, and Chasity. Chad's youngest daughter Johnny currently resides in Bellingham, Wash. All meant the world to Chad, especially his three amazing grandchildren, Navennder, Chaslynn and Aeryn.

Chad was an extremely proud father, wonderful storyteller, and our own personal archive for any memory of the family she-nanigans. You couldn't help but laugh when you were with him because he had some embarrassing story or jokes to brighten your day. Chad was full of laughter and love, which his mother Joyce personally saw every day as he resided with her and cared for her dearly. He loved to sing, and send prayers to the four winds a well as go to the sweat house.

Chad Joseph Goodrider will be missed by all the lives he touched.

Chad was proceeded in death by his grandparents Marie Welch and Raymond Welch, and cousin Jason Broncheau.

Survived by his mother in Pendleton, Ore.; sister in Fort Hall, Idaho; children and grandchildren in Red Lake, Minn.; daughter in Bellingham, Wash.; as well as numerous aunts, uncles, cousins, nieces and nephews.

Services were held Monday, September 17, 2018.

Haitian to discuss hunger, poverty

PENDLETON — Nearly three-quarters of Haitians live on less than two dollars a day.

Hunger and poverty are daily challenges, as are political turmoil and violence. Despite these obstacles, Fabienne Jean, coordinator of the Hands Together Foundation of Haiti, works diligently to fight for the most vulnerable of those living in her homeland. People are invited to hear about the efforts as part of the Presbyterian Peacemaking Program's International Peacemakers initiative.

Jean will speak at a free event Saturday, Sept. 29, at 1 p.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 201 S.W. Dorion Ave., Pendleton. Donations will be accepted.

Accompanying Jean is Cindy Corell, who works as a facilitator for the foundation. She will serve as Jean's interpreter.

"I hope people will hear from Fabienne the strength and power of the Haitian people," Corell said. "She is strong, and you will hear stories from the heart. And for every Fabienne there are millions more with the same spirit; it's an honor to talk about our dreams and prayers for peace."
