LIMEY PASTOR

The United State of Oregon

I look forward to my next visit to the Our Lady of Guadalupe monastery in Lafayette to visit the contemplative members of the group of lay folk who sit with the monks in contemplation on the first Saturday of every month. It's been a little while since I visited this place where one of my major spiritual directors lived — Father Bernard, who was the abbot here.

COLIN BROWN

sorts, with a group of fine volunteer citizens. I hope to work and counsel leaders of every stripe — and help educate people as to the vast need we have in our population.

As a pastor, I hope I can serve the need of people who need to know that they are both loved by a living God and are inherently lovable. People need to know that they are created and belong to the creator, to whom all people and created things belong. They are not chattels of their government like in an authoritarian government.

I know that our budget is going to face some difficult choices and I want us to be an advocate for generosity to the poor and elderly. I want the wealth of Oregon to belong to the people of Oregon, and be invested for their safety, health and peace. I believe, with God's help, that this can be done.

I heard that the new Farm Bill legislation might cut SNAP/food assistance to roughly 2 million people across the nation. This will be evil in the light of the shower of largesse to the obscenely rich going on now.

The budget being readied for Oregon may have some shrinkage this time, and for whichever governor heads our state, there must be concern for the poor above all. I do believe that either governor candidate who wins have good hearts and concern for the poor and the well-being of the powerless. I want them to listen to each other.

I believe that our state is a shining light, a sentinel of decency on a green hill, and I hope that all of you will shine the great light of Oregon on the rest of our country. Amen.

Colin Brown is the former pastor of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church in Boardman.

OBITUARIES

Meredith Pearl (Hoover) DeHaven

Hermiston

November 17, 1935 - October 2, 2018

Meredith Pearl (Hoover) DeHaven was born on November 17, 1935. She passed on October 2, 2018, in Hermiston, Oregon, at the age of 82 years.

She was born to Fred (Ted) Hoover and Eunice Bolin in Portland, Ore. She was the middle of five children: AnnaLee, Fred Jr., Rosemary and Rex. As a child, her family moved around quite a lot picking fruit and nuts along the I-5 corridor. She remembered her first job at around four years old picking hazelnuts.

Her senior year, she moved to Irrigon, Ore., to live with her uncle and aunt, Porter and Lela Ross. After starting school in Irrigon, she met and began dating Harry "Jack" Smith. They got married when Meredith was 18, in 1954. The had five children, Jack, Harry, Mary, Meredith and Jennifer. After living with Jack and the children in Portland, Irrigon, Bend, Klamath Falls and Portland again where they stayed for several years, they all moved back to Irrigon in 1976 where Meredith and Jack divorced in 1978.

Up until this time Meredith was a stay at home mom; after the divorce she worked as a waitress and bartender in several different establishments. Her patrons fondly referred to her as "Marty." She also worked at U and I Potato (Lamb Weston in Boardman) in several different job titles throughout her time there.

In the mid-1980s she was cooking at the Nomad in Boardman when a tall, handsome man named Bruce DeHaven came into the restaurant one night for dinner after working at his construction job. Soon after meeting, they began dating and they were married April 25, 1987. In this marriage Meredith gained three stepchildren: Tina, Tami and Mike. Throughout the beginning of their marriage they moved around to different jobs all over Washington, Oregon, California and Nevada. They made many photo albums that document their travels together.

They began building a house in Irrigon in 1996 where she renewed her love for gardening by planting beautiful intricate gardens, growing bountiful vegetable gardens and spending the majority of her time outside. They raised chickens, had cows, donkeys, a llama, dogs and cats. Meredith always commented that she would have had a dog sanctuary if Bruce had let her. He thought that the three dogs they had at the most was more than enough, especially in combination with all of their other critters and the beautiful yard they had to keep up.

She also watched her grandchildren, taking the scenic route to school, having parking lot picnics, doing arts and crafts, watching movies, telling stories and everything else that goes along with being a wonderful Granny.

After the grandchildren were a little older Meredith began getting involved in the city council in Irrigon and then the school board for Morrow County. Meredith began petitioning to get Irrigon its high school back as it had closed and moved to Boardman in the late 1950s. She was one of the last gradu-uating classes from the original high school in Irrigon and wanted her grandchildren, who were approaching the age for high school, to be able to go to school in their own town and have the same pride she did. It took seven and a half years but the goal was achieved and Irrigon had its first year of high school students in 2004.

She took up other causes as well, cultivating and selling flowers to fundraise for any cause that was in need and just because she enjoyed sharing her garden so much, and helping to found the Irrigon Multicultural Arts Center, among other smaller projects. Anyone that knew Meredith will tell you that she was a strong-willed, stubborn, passionate, ornery, sassy person who loved the life she had built with the love of her life. One of her favorite things to do was take pictures, mostly of Bruce, the critters, flowers and her grandchildren.

She is survived by her children Jack (Tina) Smith, Tillamook, Ore., Harry Smith, Gresham, Ore., Mary (David) Lorence, Umatilla, Ore., Meredith (Danny) Young, Irrigon, Ore., and Jennifer Smith, Irrigon, Ore.; her stepchildren Tina (Roger) Shaw, Veneta, Ore., Tami DeHaven Stebbeds, Eugene, Ore., and Mike (Karen) DeHaven, Eugene, Ore.; sister Rosemary Mitchell, Gresham, Ore.; and many nieces, nephews, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and friends.

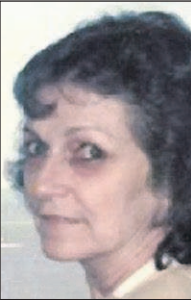

She is preceded in death by her parents, her siblings AnnaLee, Fred Jr. and Rex, and her husbands Bruce and Jack.

In lieu of flowers, remembrances may be made to Vange John Memorial Hospice Education Fund, 645 W. Orchard Ave. #300, Hermiston, OR 97838, or the Knights Pride Booster Club at Irrigon Junior Senior High School, 315 S.E. Wyoming Ave. Irrigon, OR 97844.

A private family gathering will be held.
