Meatless Wednesday: Flavortown Market goes to the greens and beans

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

In the first round of the competition, host Guy Fieri gives the competing chefs a list of ingredients that their dishes must feature. Then, in the second round, the chefs sign a check that randomly gives each of them a meat dish that they must create. Finally, Guy gets tricky in the final round and takes away the remaining competitors' shopping carts before sending them out to shop for the ingredients needed to make their guilty pleasure dishes.

"Guy's Grocery Games" is similar to other cooking competition shows, with a chef getting the six after each round since the judges have had a chance to taste and evaluate all of the dishes. The contest is held twice of a year.

partner, and the competitors are required to "shop" for their own ingredients from the store's shelves, and all sorts of twists tie into the unique milieu.

The judges that Guy has brought in to taste this week's contestants mostly are a who's who of Food Network celebrity chefs. There's a pair of "Food Network Star" winners in Dan Serrano and "Southern at Heart" and "Aunt Susie's" winner Richard Blais, and vegans don't have to be buying, and with those three discerning judges ready to taste everything on the plate, the contestants in this week's "Guy's Grocery Games" have to pack as much punch into their dishes as they can.
