Gunners take on Gunnar: Solskjær's United looks to repeat against Arsenal

By Ryan Guebert
TV Media

Gameweek 30 of the 2018-19 English Premier League is set to wrap up with the Arsenal-Manchester United rivalry on Sunday, March 10. Tune in to NBC for live coverage from Emirates Stadium as Arsenal hosts Manchester United for the 231st time in the clubs' history. In January, United beat Arsenal 3-1 in the fourth round of the FA Cup, eliminat- ing the Gunners from the tournament. To Arsenal's dismay, it was former Gunner Alexis Sánchez's goal in the 31st minute from which it could not recover. United then defeated Chelsea 2-0 in the fifth round to move into the quarter-finals, where it is set to face an underrated Wolverhampton Wanderers side managed by Nuno Santo. Having spent 11 seasons in Manchester as a forward, newly appointed manager Ole Gunnar Solskjær has had plenty of firsthand experience in the rivalry between Arsenal and Manchester United. During his playing career with United, Solskjær won six league titles, two FA Cups and a Cham- pions League title. His goal in extra time of the 1998-99 UEFA Champions League final against Bayern Munich proved to be the winner and helped United secure its second European title in club history.

As a player, Solskjær did not have the most success against Arsenal, scoring only twice in his career against the Gunners. His last result against Arsenal came in the form of a league defeat at Old Trafford in 2006, but he has since responded as manager with a victory in the FA Cup. In the latter stage of his soccer career, Solskjær looks to add more success in his new chapter within the long-standing rivalry between Arsenal and Manchester United. Solskjær and the Red Devils look for another win over Arsenal at Emirate Stadium in their final meeting of this season. Tune in Sunday, March 10, to find out how Man- chester United lines up against Arsenal with live coverage on NBC.
