CROC gears up for one-day supported ride

Popular bike event returns after one-year hiatus

After a one-year hiatus, Pendleton On Wheels is getting back in the saddle to offer a one-day supported ride. The Mini CROC is a trimmed-down version of the Century Ride of the Centuries that the small group of bicyclists offered for 15 years.

"Hosting a multi-day ride is a heavy lift for our small club but we're excited to offer a Mini CROC in beautiful Eastern Oregon," said Debbie Davis.

CROC organizers received numerous compliments about the ride and how much it would be missed when they announced there wouldn't be a 2018 event. As they've geared up for the mini-version, CROC enthusiasts embraced the return — even with the shortened format.

"Our group is glad to hear you will put on a one-day CROC, it is a great event and entertaining stops, food is always great too," said Carl Swantek of Boise.

The classic one-day event features 44-mile, 78-mile or 100-mile options up Cabbage Hill and beyond. Amazing scenery awaits riders as they hit the road during the Mini CROC. "The views are worth the climb and you will be rewarded with one of CROC's themed rest stops and SAG support," Davis said.

The event is Saturday, May 25 — during Memorial Day weekend. It begins at 8 a.m. at Tamastlikt Cultural Institute, located near Wildhorse Resort & Casino, Mission. Limited to 125 riders, the fee is $60. It includes full SAG support, themed refreshment stops, and a burger bar dinner and evening social event at OMG! Burgers & Brews, Pendleton. Also, non-riders are invited to enjoy the evening meal and social gathering for $20.

Registered participants can pick up packets Friday, May 24 from 4-7 p.m. at Echo Bike and Board, 253 S. Main St., Pendleton; or late packet pickup is May 25 from 7-8 a.m. at Tamastlikt.

Proceeds from the event help fund the POW grant program. Money is disbursed to organizations that promote youth activities in and around Pendleton.
