

Car show cruises into downtown Echo on Saturday

All-day event features evening concert

Echo is gearing up for a full day of activities during the A.C.E. Automobile Club of Echo High School's annual event.

There's still time to wash and wax your car for the ACE Car Show on Saturday.

Registration ($20 per vehicle or $5 for students with identification) begins at 9 a.m. in downtown Echo. The car show runs from noon to 4 p.m. There are nearly two dozen divisions to enter.

"There are classification for bicycle, pedal car all the way to 2010 and newer and project car," said Raymon Smith. "So, it is really open to whatever you have."

The show has evolved over the years, Smith said. It began several years after the car club was established when a handful of students parked their vehicles along the school's sidewalk. As interest increased, it moved to the football field. As other activities were added throughout the day, the car show moved to downtown Echo.

Smith said the Echo Parent-Teacher Organization is now the driving force behind the event. About 45 students are involved in helping with activities — including creating the trophies and assisting with sports team and club fundraisers.

Money raised, Smith said, provides scholarships for seniors, enhances educational opportunities and supports various clubs in their activities.

Exhibit showcases student printmaking

MISSION — The Nixyaawii Community School Printmaking Exhibition opens Friday at Crow's Shadow Institute of the Arts.

The public is invited to a reception from 5-7 p.m. at 48004 Saint Andrew's Road, Mission. The exhibit features the work of Ermia Butler, Isabelle LeCornu, Elle Marsh, Cloe McMichael, Kylie Mountainchief, Latis Nowland, Eva Oatman and Tyanna Van Pelt. The group has been working under the direction of Crow's Shadow master printer Judith Baumann.

Over the course of the school year, the students have practiced several printmaking processes, with a focus on silkscreen and linocut prints. While working in the studio, they've also had the opportunity to meet several artist-in-residence participants.

Most recently, during Yatika Fields' residency, they began a collaborative project with each student drawing a regional wildflower to combine into one large drawing for a lithograph plate. Each student added layers of color to their individual versions of the print, resulting in unique monoprints. The collaborative prints and individual projects will be on display. Prints will be available for purchase, with 100% of the proceeds going directly to the student artists.

The exhibit runs through June 28. The gallery is open Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Capital mall in Salem reels in family fun with family fishing day Saturday

SALEM — People planning on traveling during the Memorial Day weekend might be lured by an event at the Oregon State Capitol.

A family fishing day is planned Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon at the State Capitol Mall, 900 Court St. N.E., Salem. All ages are welcome, and kids age 17 and under fish for free.

The Oregon Legislative Sportsmen's Caucus and Oregon Department of Fish & Wildlife are teaming up with other outdoor organizations to host the family event.

A "pond" set up at the mall will be stocked with rainbow trout. Rods, reels, bait and other gear will be available for use. In addition, volunteers will be on hand to teach casting, fish anatomy, knot tying and to answer fishing-related questions. And, if you catch a fish, Outdoor Chef Kurt will cook it for you.

For more information, contact Michelle Dennehy of ODFW at 503-947-6022, michelle.n.dennehy@state.or.us. For information about other 2019 fishing and outdoor events offered across the state, visit www.myodfw.com/workshops-and-events.
