Manderbach also earns gold glove honor as an infielder

By ANNIE FOWLER
East Oregonian

Five Blue Mountain baseball players earned NWAC East Region honors when the teams were announced Friday.

Manderbach hit .303 with a team-leading 54 hits (11 doubles), 17 RBIs and 11 stolen bases, while O'Donnell hit .333 with seven doubles, 21 RBIs and 13 stolen bases.

Manderbach also earned a gold glove as an infielder, recording 128 assists and had a hand in 12 double plays.

Salsman had a .287 average with a team-high 43 RBIs and six home runs, while Young hit .318 with 21 RBIs.

Grogan had a 3.21 ERA over 61½ innings of work. Grogan struck out 84 and boasted a 6-1 record in 10 starts.

Matt James of Yakima Valley was named East Region MVP, while Spokane's Bryan Winston was named Coach of the Year.

The NWAC East Region softball team was announced Thursday.

No BMCC players were chosen.

Stahl, Haguewood earn top IMC baseball honors

By BRETT KANE
East Oregonian

The Pendleton Buckaroos have made their presence known on this year's Intermountain Conference all-league teams.

The Bucks have placed four players in the first team, two in the second team, and four in the honorable mentions.

Senior pitcher Chris Large, sophomore infielder

Kyle Field, senior outfielder Matt Demianew, and senior designated hitter Quinn Doherty were all selected as honorable mentions.

Stahl was named the IMC Pitcher of the Year. Bucks head coach TJ Haguewood received the Coach of the Year honor.

Player of the Year was awarded to Hood River Valley senior infielder Caden Leiblein.

The Bucks finished the IMC with a 12-3 record to take the top spot in the standings. They currently hold a 15-8 overall record, and are ranked at No. 9 in the OSAA's 5A division. They'll start their play-off run today with a home game against the 5A's No. 7 seed Wilsonville.

Raptors rout Bucks to even East finals

By IAN HARRISON
Associated Press

TORONTO — Kyle Lowry scored 25 points, Kawhi Leonard had 19 and the Toronto Raptors beat the Milwaukee Bucks 120-102 on Tuesday to even the Eastern Conference finals at two games apiece.

Serge Ibaka had 17 points and 13 rebounds for the Raptors, who improved to 7-2 at home this postseason.

Reserve Norm Powell scored 18 points, and Marc Gasol had 17 points and a team-high seven assists.

The home team has won all four games in the series so far. Game 5 is Thursday night in Milwaukee.

Giannis Antetokounmpo had 25 points and 10 rebounds for the top-seeded Bucks. Khris Middleton scored 30 points.

Milwaukee lost its second straight following a six-game winning streak. It dropped consecutive games just once during the regular season, at Utah on March 2 and at Phoenix on March 4.

Toronto's Fred VanVleet, who missed 16 of 20 shot attempts through the first three games of the series, went 5 for 6 from the field in Game 4. He made each of his three 3-point tries and finished with 13 points.

Ahead 94-81 to start the fourth, the Raptors extended their lead with a 10-3 spurt, including seven points from VanVleet. Powell's fast-break layup with 8:35 left put Toronto up 104-84.

Antetokounmpo shot 5 for 8 in the opening frame but went 4 for 9 the rest of the way.

Leonard missed three of his four attempts in the first but Lowry scored 12 points for the Raptors, who rallied from an early seven-point deficit to lead 32-31 after one.

After scoring the final four points of the first quarter, the Raptors widened their lead with a 9-0 run to begin the second.

Leonard and Pascal Siakam, who both played more than 50 minutes in Game 3, looked sluggish in the opening half. Leonard missed the only shot he took in the second, while Siakam played fewer than three minutes in the second after picking up his third foul. Siakam had two points at halftime.

Leonard came up limping after dunking early in the third, but remained in the game. Siakam completed a three-point play that put Toronto up 73-60 with 8:43 left.

Ilyasova missed a 3 with 3:50 remaining in the third that could have cut the deficit to four points. Powell replied with a 3 and, following miss by Malcolm Brogdon, Leonard drained a jumper to push Toronto's lead to 86-74.

Mariners tailspin continues in Texas

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Lance Lynn allowed two runs over seven innings and Shawn Kelley earned the save hours after learning that two lumps removed from his throat last week were benign as the Texas Rangers beat the Seattle Mariners 5-3 on Tuesday night.

Lynn (6-3) gave up five singles and one walk and had a season-high 11 strikeouts and one walk in his 200th career start. Kelley, who was activated from the 10-day injured list on Tuesday, allowed a ninth-inning homer to Omar Narváez, who had three hits, in earning his third save of the season.

The loss continued a tailspin for Seattle, which is 10-26 since a 13-2 start.

Nomar Mazara had three hits, an RBI and scored one of two runs on a sacrifice fly after initially being ruled out at the plate before a successful Texas challenge. Joey Gallo hit a two-run home run, his 15th of the season, in the eighth inning.

Lynn had a shutout going into the seventh and, with the tying run at second base and one out, struck out Tim Beckham and J.P. Crawford to hold the lead.

season, they were at .500 once en route to finishing last in the American League West at 67-95.

Left-hander Tommy Milone (0-1) allowed two runs on three hits in five innings in his first major league start of the season. Milone's contract was selected from Triple-A Tacoma earlier in the day.

Mazara scored on a fly to hit centerfielder Mitch Haniger by Asdrúbal Cabrera in the fourth inning after a video review showed

The Mariners played without second baseman Dee Gordon and third baseman Ryon Healy, each placed on the 10-day injured list before the game. Gordon has a right wrist contusion, and Healy has lower back inflammation.

Rookie Shed Long, recalled from Tacoma, replaced Gordon and singled in the sixth inning for his first major league hit in his 11th big league at-bat.

Up next

Mariners: In the series finale on Wednesday afternoon, LHP Marco Gonzales (5-3, 3.65 ERA) will seek to end a three-game losing streak during which he has a 5.93 ERA.

Rangers: RHP Adrian Sampson (1-3, 4.79 ERA) earned his first major league win last Friday, limiting the St. Louis Cardinals to one earned run in 5 1/3 innings.

Wagner not participating in Seahawks activities

By TIM BOOTH
Associated Press

RENTON, Wash. — Bobby Wagner will be present for the Seattle Seahawks' optional offseason activities.

Just don't expect him to take part.

That was the message delivered by the All-Pro middle linebacker on Tuesday as Seattle continued the first week of organized team activities. Wagner's contract is up after next season and he indicated there had been preliminary talks regarding a new deal. But until one is in place, he will be a spectator during the optional workouts.

"I will be here. That will be my participation," Wagner said. "I will be here helping the young guys, doing whatever I can."

Wagner's contract situation is one of Seattle's remaining loose ends this offseason. Defensive tackle Jarran Reed is still also playing under a deal that's up after the upcoming season. The Seahawks took care of quarterback Russell Wilson with a massive new deal and traded Frank Clark to Kansas City to obtain more draft picks.

For now, Wagner has to prepare as though this is his final year in Seattle.

"I am honoring the contract. I am here, participating, helping the young guys to be the best they can be," Wagner said. "So I am here and that's what I want to do. This is my decision. So as of right now there is no other years for me left here so that was just a very honest opinion that if I don't get a deal done, that's it. But I believe there is something that can happen."

Wagner's position doesn't create the distraction of a contract holdout but it does make it clear he doesn't intend to take any risks. He saw both sides of what can happen in his own locker room with two players entering the final year of their deals.

Earl Thomas held out last year, appeared to create friction with the front office and left in free agency following an injury that ended his season early. Meanwhile, K.J. Wright showed up for the offseason program, missed significant time with a knee injury, but was still rewarded with a new deal.

Wagner said balancing all those different scenarios is playing into his decision now.

"It's a tricky situation and this is a business. You get hurt, they don't pay you, so you've got to be mindful of that," he said. "You all know I'm a professional, I'm going to be in shape, I work out every single day so you all don't have to worry about me being in shape and my mind is going to always be sharp."

The 28-year-old is representing himself in negotiations, bypassing an agent for the first time in his career. He does have a target for the kind of contract he's seeking after C.J. Mosley signed with the New York Jets this offseason for an average of $17 million per season.

"I mean, the number is the number, the market is the market," Wagner said. "That's the top linebacker market. That is the standard and so that is the plan to break that."
