No void in Lloyd: USWNT kick off their 2019 World Cup campaign against Thailand

By Ryan Guebert
TV Media

The eighth FIFA Women's World Cup is underway in France with the first round of group stage matches. Tune in Tuesday, June 11, to catch the defending champion United States take on Thailand in its first matchup of the tournament. Catch live coverage of the action at Stade Auguste-Delaune in Reims on Fox.

Entering the tournament as defending champion, the United States was drawn to Group F along with Thailand, Chile and Sweden. Thailand qualified for the World Cup by placing fourth at the AFC Women's Asian Cup. Chile (which is making its first finals appearance at this tournament) was runner-up at the Copa América Femenina. Sweden won Group 4 in the European qualification tournament. Ranked No. 1 in the world, the United States is the favorite to win this year's World Cup and should advance from Group F with relative ease.

The United States won its third World Cup in 2015 when it defeated Japan in the final at B.C. Place Stadium in Vancouver, Canada. Captain Carli Lloyd scored a hat trick in the first 16 minutes of the final and leads the USWNT in France, along with Alex Morgan and Megan Rapinoe. The United States enters the tournament strong — the Americans have not lost a game since January and are riding a six-game winning streak after Lloyd scored five goals in the last four games. Look for Samantha Mewis, making her World Cup debut for the United States, to have a big tournament. At 26 years of age, Mewis is in top form and has the potential to fill Lloyd's position in the midfield following the 2020 Olympics in Tokyo when Lloyd plans to retire.

Get an early look at the USWNT at the 2019 FIFA Women's World Cup when the Americans take on Thailand in their first group-stage match. Catch the defending champions in action on Tuesday, June 11, at Stade Auguste-Delaune with live coverage on Fox.
