Swing for the fences: MLB London Series features Red Sox and Yankees

By Ryan Guebert
TV Media

For the first time in Major League Baseball history, regular-season games will be played in the United Kingdom under the MLB London Series title. The inaugural series is set to feature two games between the Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees. Catch the first game of the MLB London Series on Saturday, June 29, with live action from London Stadium on Fox.

Despite losing slugging outfielders Aaron Judge and Giancarlo Stanton to injury early in the season, the Yankees have managed to stay on top of the American League East. Their success is a testament to the depth that general manager Brian Cashman has built for the team. After receiving criticism for his poor performance last season, Gary Sanchez has stepped up.

The 26-year-old catcher is rebounding from a 2018 season that was marred by a groin injury, and he appears to have returned to his 2017 Silver Slugger form that saw him hit 33 home runs, drive in 90 runs and score 79 runs.

After losing to the eventual World Series champion Boston Red Sox in last year's American League Division Series, the Yankees have come out ahead of the Red Sox so far this season, going 4-1 against their longtime divisional rivals. If the Yankees maintain their current form, the Red Sox can only hope to play for a Wild Card playoff position and make a run at defending their title as World Series champions. The Red Sox started the season slowly but found their winning ways once last year's AL MVP Mookie Betts hit his stride in May.

The MLB London Series is set to feature one of the greatest sports rivalries in its inaugural year. Tune in Saturday, June 29, as the Red Sox take on the Yankees.
