BOATING GUIDE | TRAVEL

Amazing Boating Destinations

The waterways in America can provide boaters with incredible wildlife encounters, monumental views and the chance to create lifelong memories. If you're in the beginning stages of planning an epic vacation, consider ditching the road trip and setting sail to one of the top spots in the country.

Whether you plan to haul your own boat or take advantage of a professional charter service, consider traveling to one of these breathtaking destinations, as recommended by the Travel Channel.

MARINA DEL REY, CALIFORNIA

This incredible location is located just outside of Santa Monica and is a short drive away from Los Angeles. It is the country's largest man-made small craft harbor. For those traveling cross-country, hauling your vessel may not be in the cards. However, you can easily hire a certified skipper to show you around the area or rent a Duffy boat and be your own captain. Don't be surprised if you share the water with the yachts of your favorite celebrities.

NEWPORT, RHODE ISLAND

Taking a trip to this seaside town means visiting a piece of history in water sports. Newport was the home of America's Cup, a historic sailboat race, for more than 50 years. Whether you bring your own rig or tag along on an incredible tour of the area, plan to witness seaside estates, famous yachts and a picture-perfect backdrop provided by the rocky shoreline.

KEY WEST, FLORIDA

Of course, no list of extraordinary boating adventures would be complete without this setting in the Sunshine State. Key West is the pinnacle island of the Florida Keys and proudly receives praise for some of the most spectacular sunsets on Earth. The popular Conch Harbor Marina is large enough to allow vessels up to 195 feet. Bring along your favorite boat or book a ride with a professional charter service to see the country with a new perspective.

SEATTLE

Sometimes considered a hidden gem in boating experiences, Seattle is known for hundreds of miles of protected saltwater and gorgeous views of mountains. The city has more pleasure boats per capita than anywhere else in the United States and hosts sailing as one of the most popular recreational activities in the nation.
