Saturday festival features local craft brews, live music

MILTON-FREEWATER — Local craft beers are on tap this weekend during the fifth annual Brews by the Blues Festival.

The event also features cider tasting, local food vendors (skōSH, named Best of the Best Food Truck, and La Familiar, which features El Salvadoran cuisine), live entertainment and a corn hole tournament. The festival is Saturday from 1-9 p.m. at Orchard Park, 1410 Highway 11, Milton-Freewater.

Pre-sale passes are $20 or $25 at the gate. Also, it's only $5 for designated drivers. Admission includes an event tasting glass and five drink tokens. For a $3 upgrade, people can receive a pounder glass. Additional drink tokens are available for $1 each or six for $5. Event T-shirts also are available for $20.

Live music includes Debra Arlyn & The Goodness from 2-4 p.m. Arlyn's voice has been described as "both tenderly soft and deliciously sensual." The Walla Walla-based band performs a soulful pop sound that is said to be energetic and breezy.

Finishing out the evening will be the Whiskey Creek Band from 6-9 p.m. Referred to as "Walla Walla's favorite party band," the group sizzled when they first performed for the Washington State Firefighters Convention held in Walla Walla in 2011. The make-shift group — which included three firefighters and one of their wives — hadn't planned on routinely playing, however, family and friends urged them to continue. Over the years they blasted off from a four-piece acoustic ensemble to a plugged-in five-piece band — playing mostly country music at area festivals, class reunions, wineries and private events.

Those planning to attend are encouraged to bring lawn chairs or blankets as well as sunglasses and sunscreen. For more information or to purchase tickets, visit www.mfchamber.com/brews-by-the-blues-festival. For questions, call 541-938-5563.

Veteran EXPO comes to Pendleton

PENDLETON — The state of Oregon's largest veteran resource event is being held in Eastern Oregon for the first time. Veteran Benefit EXPO19 is Saturday, July 27 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Pendleton Convention Center, 1601 Westgate. There is no admission charge.

Sponsored by the Oregon Department of Veterans Affairs, the event offers a sort of one-stop "shopping" experience. It will provide access to information about veterans benefits, including health care, disability compensation pension, business, burial, transportation, education, recreation, long-term care, records, identification, home loans and more. It's designed for Oregon veterans of all eras and walks of life.

"One thing we hear from veterans year after year with this event is that they're blown away by all the benefits and resources they never knew existed," said ODVA director Kelly Fitzpatrick.

Lady golfers earn King's and Queen's scholarships

UMATILLA — Four 2019 scholarship winners have been selected by the King's and Queen's scholarship committee and for the first time, all are golfers from Umatilla and Morrow county girls' teams.

McKenzie McLeod and Rylee Harris from Pendleton High School, Claire Grieb from Heppner High School and Mykah Krumwiede from Hermiston High School were each awarded $750. In the past, awards have been granted to two boys and two girls.

There are now 18 scholarship recipients in the past six years from high schools in Umatilla and Morrow counties. They are given to graduating members of a golf team who plan to attend a college, university or trade school after graduation.

The event started in 2011 as a fun tournament for couples. In 2014, enough money had been generated for the first two scholarship winners.

Scholarships are based on the idea that supporting players from high school golf teams is also supporting a sport with many important life lessons. "Golf is a game of honor," said Don Obrist, chairman of the event. "Young golfers learn that golf is a game of respect, integrity and sportsmanship."

"It's also a game of honesty where players not only keep track of their own scores, but they are responsible for calling their own penalties," Obrist added. "We believe the values learned playing golf are carried on to other life pursuits."

The tournament will be played this weekend, July 20-21, at Big River Golf Course in Umatilla.

For more information on the scholarship, call Craig Lockwood at 541-701-5070.
