

THE WEEK IN PHOTOS

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan
Pendleton Fire Department Lt. Jeff Perry removes unburned items from a Ford Ranger pickup truck that caught fire at The Shop, located at 238 S.W. Court Ave. The fire broke out Thursday afternoon after the driver pulled into The Shop's parking lot with concerns that the vehicle was overheating.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney
A competitor in last Saturday's Caledonian Games in Athena prepares to launch a small boulder in the stone put event.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan
The Lodge co-owner Lance Leonnig flips through an old magazine at the Stag Bar at The Lodge. Leonnig and his business partners are working to renovate the building at 14 S.E. Third St. in Pendleton to turn it into a full-scale bar and event venue. The building is currently only open for the monthly "Live form the Leslie" concert series.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney
A young "Biker in Training" stands with his dad during speeches at the Pendleton Convention Center preceding Wednesday's "Ride with the Raiders" event that was part of Pendleton Bike Week.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney
Two Pendleton Whisky servers dance to the music between customers during Pendleton Whisky Music Fest. The music fest drew about 17,000 people to Pendleton Round-Up Arena to watch Post Malone and 50 Cent headline Saturday night's concert.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan
Members of the Blue Mountain Community College volleyball team work to dry off a 2018 Honda Africa Twin during a bike wash at the Pendleton Convention Center Thursday afternoon. The event, a part of Pendleton Bike Week, raised funds for the volleyball team and gave bikers a chance to clean their rides.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan
Mariah Moulton rinses off a 2018 Honda Africa Twin during a bike wash fundraiser at the Pendleton Convention Center Thursday afternoon. The event, a part of Pendleton Bike Week, raised money for the Blue Mountain Community College volleyball team.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan
Motorcycle enthusiasts form a flag line during the "Ride with the Raiders" event at Eastern Oregon Regional Airport Wednesday afternoon. The event, a part of Pendleton Bike Week, honored Oregon's deceased veterans and the Doolittle Raiders with a memorial ride and B-25 flyover.