

THE WEEK IN PHOTOS

A string of utility poles is silhouetted against the evening sky in the fields outside of Pendleton on Thursday night.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan

Two chairs meant for tired golfers sit near a fairway on March 15, 2020, at the Wildhorse Golf Course.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney

Snowfall last weekend accentuates the rows in this stubble field north of Pendleton.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney

Robbie Young stands in front of an open freezer at the Pilot Rock Market while shopping on Thursday afternoon.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan

Ice wraps around a killdeer's legs and drips from his tail on March 15, 2020, near the clubhouse at the Wildhorse Golf Course.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney

A sign along Southgate in Pendleton advertises takeout and delivery only following Gov. Kate Brown's ban on dine-in restaurants earlier this week.

Staff photo by Ben Lonergan

The Irish flag ripples in the wind on Tuesday morning in front of the Rainbow Cafe in downtown Pendleton. Though the cafe's annual St. Patrick's Day bash didn't happen on Tuesday, the eatery served green beer and Irish whiskey to those who dared come in.

Staff photo by Kathy Aney