

DEAR ABBY

Couple clashes over time spent with sons

Dear Abby: My wife and I have been married five years and are raising four children. One is from my previous relationship, one is from her previous relationship and two are ours. We both have joint custody. My son goes to school near his mom. My wife's son goes to school where we live. They are 9 and 8.

There's a lot of tension between us because my stepson's father isn't the greatest parent. He never comes to school events or sporting events, so he misses half of everything. I regularly attend my son's events, which are a couple of hours away and take time away from my stepson. I put my 9-year-old first because he's my firstborn, and I have him less. My wife disagrees with this, and we fight about it constantly. I believe I am doing the right thing. Advice, please. — Wondering

in Wisconsin

Dear Wondering: I'm sorry your wife's son's father hasn't stepped up to the plate. But please do not allow your wife to interfere with your relationship with your son. You are doing the right thing by showing an interest in what he's doing and supporting him emotionally.

Dear Abby: I have been married nine years. My husband doesn't allow me to leave the house without him. He makes sure I don't have a car or access to the one we have. He tells me he doesn't mean anything by it, but if I try to take a walk alone, he is right on my heels.

If I go anywhere with my sister or a friend, I must wait until he is gone. If he gets home before I do, he's sitting on the porch waiting for me. He is not physically abusive, but I feel like a prisoner. I have told him several times how it makes me feel, but he doesn't seem to get it. I really need some advice. — Trapped in Georgia

Dear Trapped: Your husband doesn't get it because he doesn't want to. What he is doing is not a demonstration of love or concern for your safety. It's an example of his own insecurity and need to control you. This is a big red flag, and my advice is to call the National Domestic Violence Hotline and discuss this with someone there because what's happening could escalate into abuse. The toll-free phone number is 800-799-7233.

DAYS GONE BY

From the East Oregonian

100 Years Ago May 1, 1921

Comedy and thrills were experienced by two deputy sheriffs and some innocent bystanders when a raid was conducted near Freewater last night and Jack Harkness, a farmer, living six miles west of that place was arrested after the search had resulted in the discovery of some "moonshine" and a complete still outfit for the manufacture of the product. Nothing could be found in any of the living rooms of the hose, but three trap doors leading into a dugout under the house were discovered, and when these places were investigated, a complete still outfit, about two barrels of mash and other paraphernalia common to the profession were found. At Freewater, Harkness got a start on Deputy Sheriff Turner and attempted to make his getaway. The chase lasted while about 100 yards of distance were covered by the pair. Turner fired three times, gained on Harkness, and finally he won the dash when the prisoner stumbled over a barrel and spilled in a heap.

50 Years Ago May 1, 1971

Businessmen and other residents of Umatilla rolled up their sleeves last night and plunged head-first into battle against a proposed freeway route that will bypass their community. The route, for long-sought Interstate 82, was endorsed a few days ago by the Washington Highway Commission and comes before the Oregon Highway Commission Tuesday in Salem. A delegation from Umatilla, armed with petitions that they hope will bear hundreds of signatures, will be on hand to protest the route. The best route for I-82 is one that was suggested long ago, Umatilla businessman A.W. Easton says. It would enter Oregon over the Umatilla Bridge. Umatilla's fears of losing tourist traffic are just one reason for its opposition.

25 Years Ago May 1, 1996

Damon Petrie was sentenced — again — to 35 years and two months in prison for his February 1994 attack on Stanfield police officer Butch Parrish. Umatilla County Circuit Court Judge Jack Olson delivered a sentence identical to the original penalty meted out by his counterpart on the court, Judge Robert Abrams, a year and a half ago, but "with a little more precision," said Robert Hill, deputy district attorney for Umatilla County. Petrie was found guilty of attempted aggravated murder, first-degree assault, first-degree burglary, and a litany of other theft, escape, and firearms charges in connection with his attack on Parrish.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

On May 1, 2011, President Barack Obama announced the death of Osama bin Laden during a U.S. commando operation (because of the time difference, it was early May 2 in Pakistan, where the al-Qaida leader met his end).

In 1707, the Kingdom of Great Britain was created as a treaty merging England and Scotland took effect.

In 1915, the RMS Lusitania set sail from New York, headed for Liverpool, England (it was torpedoed and sunk by Germany off the coast of Ireland six days later).

In 1941, the Orson Welles motion picture "Citizen Kane" premiered in New York.

In 1945, a day after Adolf

Hitler took his own life, Admiral Karl Doenitz effectively became sole leader of the Third Reich with the suicide of Hitler's propaganda minister, Josef Goebbels.

In 1960, the Soviet Union shot down an American U-2 reconnaissance plane over Sverdlovsk and captured its pilot, Francis Gary Powers.

In 1963, James W. Whitaker became the first American to conquer Mount Everest as he and Sherpa guide Nawang Gombu reached the summit.

In 1971, the inter-city passenger rail service Amtrak went into operation.

In 1975, Hank Aaron of the Milwaukee Brewers broke baseball's all-time RBI record previously held by Babe Ruth during a game against the Detroit Tigers (Milwaukee won, 17-3).

In 1992, on the third day of the Los Angeles riots, a visibly shaken Rodney King appeared in public to appeal for calm, pleading, "Can we all get along?"

In 1998, Eldridge Cleaver, the fiery Black Panther leader who later renounced his past and became a Republican, died in Pomona, California, at age 62.

In 2009, Supreme Court Justice David Souter announced his retirement effective at the end of the court's term in late June. (President Barack Obama chose federal judge Sonia Sotomayor to succeed him.)

In 2015, Baltimore's top prosecutor charged six police officers with felonies ranging from assault to murder in the death of Freddie Gray, who'd suffered a spinal injury while riding in a police van.

Today's Birthdays: Singer Judy Collins is 82. Singer Rita Coolidge is 76. Singer-songwriter Ray Parker Jr. is 67. Actor Byron Stewart is 65. Actor Maia Morgenstern is 59. Country singer Wayne Hancock is 56. Actor Charlie Schlatter is 55. Movie director Wes Anderson is 52. Actor Julie Benz is 49. Actor Bailey Chase is 49. Country singer Cory Morrow is 49. Gospel/rhythm-and-blues singer Tina Campbell (Mary Mary) is 47. Actor Darius McCrary is 45. Actor Jamie Dornan is 39. TV personality Abby Huntsman is 35.
