STATEMENT OF CHANGES IN ACTIVITIES and SOURCES OF FINANCING *

After a year with COVID, we are faced with very unusual circumstances. Many revenue sources have declined substantially, but as a result of our adaptations to the budget, we have set the course to recovery. We are also managing unprecedented federal grants into the city. The budgets last year were adopted at the same levels as the previous year because we had no understanding of the impacts the pandemic would have. After several months we were able to identify trends and responded by reducing our budget to offset impacts. These impacts included the closure of the pool, reduced recreational programming, and the elimination of business at the convention center. Water and sewer funds remain healthy thanks to a 5-year rate increase which has enabled us to begin to appropriately maintain these systems. Last year the airport received a $16M grant from the federal stimulus legislation. We continue to use these funds to make upgrades to the airport with the goal of having sustainable funding for the long-term health of the department. Early in the pandemic, the City was able to take advantage of very favorable pricing to get significant infrastructure work done. We completed the shovel ready industrial park at the airport to target the growing UAS presence. Street repairs in the City have been jump started by the same good bid prices and a commitment by the Pendleton Development Commission. Several million in urban renewal dollars will go toward street repairs, reducing the overall cost estimate we have to restore the condition of our roads.
