She looks nervous, Chip! That's a signature trait of the species, Biff!

New kids are often very anxious about transitioning into a new habitat! Ah-ha! Look at this!

One of the natives is about to greet her! Fascinating! Let's see how she responds!

HEL-LO!

CENSORED.

She appears to be gaining confidence, Chip. In safari-speak, Biff, that's what we call a "burn."

I NEED A REPAIR ON SOME EQUIPMENT WE BOUGHT FROM YOU.

OH, TOO BAD. IT LOOKS AS IF YOUR WARRANTY RAN OUT YESTERDAY.

THAT'S KIND OF SUSPICIOUS.

A PROGRAMMABLE MACHINE STOPPED WORKING EXACTLY WHEN IT IS MOST PROFITABLE FOR THE MANUFACTURER?

IT'S ALMOST AS IF YOUR PROPRIETARY OPERATING SYSTEM IS DESIGNED TO MANIPULATE ME INTO UPGRADING.

DO YOU HEAR HOW CRAZY THAT SOUNDS? IT ISN'T DESIGNED TO MANIPULATE YOU.

IT'S DESIGNED TO MANIPULATE EVERYONE.

THAT ISN'T BETTER! SHEESH! I'M JUST SAYING STOP MAKING EVERYTHING ABOUT YOU.

According to your father, he's leaving you with what would have been $3 billion if you, as kids, had remembered to turn off the lights when you left a room and closed the windows when the heat was on. What's left is $47.20 after taxes ...
