

Award-winning playwright is Fishtrap's writer-in-residence

E.M. Lewis will teach local students about playwriting this spring

ENTERPRISE — Fishtrap brings the art of playwriting and theater to Wallowa County this spring by inviting playwright E.M. (Ellen) Lewis as the spring 2022 writer-in-residence.

Lewis is an award-winning dramatist, teacher and opera librettist. As part of Fishtrap's Writer-in-Residence program, Lewis will be in local schools, teaching students about the craft of playwriting. During her five weeks in the county, she will be a guest at the April 1 Fishtrap Fireside, lead an adult playwriting workshop on April 16, and give a public reading of one of her recent plays with actors from Wallowa County's MidValley Theatre Company.

"We look for a special combination of both creative and teaching experience when we offer a writer the opportunity to spend time with our community as a Fishtrap Writer-in-Residence," said Fishtrap Executive Director Shannon McNerney. "Ellen provides those skills in spades, along with an understanding of life in rural Oregon. We couldn't be happier to have her join us this spring."

Fishtrap's Writer-in-Residence program invites experienced writers and educators to spend four to six weeks in Wallowa County and includes a stipend, travel allowance and lodging.

During their time here, the Writer-in-Residence devotes up to eight hours a week teaching in Wallowa County schools, leads an adult writing workshop and gives a public reading.

The program also provides a writer an opportunity to write, explore and enjoy Wallowa County.

Schools interested in participating can contact McNerney at shannon@fishtrap.org or 541-426-3623.
