

COMMUNITY BRIEFING

Adams Day winds up for April 9 return

ADAMS — After a two-year hiatus, a new community group is organizing Adams Day.

The Adams Friends Association is excited to revive the popular event. A celebration of the opening of the Triangle Little League season, the event also pitches family fun in the park, with a new play structure, food vendors and live music.

The event gets rolling Saturday, April 9, 10 a.m. with a parade down Main Street, ending at the ball field, where games will continue throughout the afternoon. But that's not all — a book sale will be held in the Friendship Center and vendors will offer their wares in the old Adams School. Also, be sure to cruise around town for city-wide yard sales — maps will be available at the book sale.

"We are starting small as this is our first year but we are so excited to bring the fun to Adams again," Macy Rawlins said.

For more information, email adamsfriendsassociation@gmail.com or search www.facebook.com/adamsoregon.

Lions Club seeks scholarship applicants

HERMISTON — The Hermiston Lions Club is accepting scholarship applications from high school seniors from Boardman, Echo, Hermiston, Ione, Irri-gon, Stanfield or Umatilla.

In addition, local students returning to college/university in the fall of 2022 are eligible to apply.

The group will award four $2,000 Hermiston Lions Club Service Scholarships. In addition to the completed application, those applying must submit two letters of recommendation (at least one must be from a high school teacher or college professor), academic transcripts and a one-page essay about their efforts in community service, the importance of giving service and the applicant's plans for utilizing the scholarship funds.

Preference will be given to children or grandchildren of Lions International members. The scholarship money will be issued directly to the student's college or university to assist with tuition costs for the 2022-23 school year.

The application deadline is April 15. For more information, email neely.mckay@hermistonso.org or putman-west@gmail.com.

Candace Corleone Colbert
July 1, 1945 - March 21, 2022

Candi was preceded in death by her husband, Charles Monroe Colbert; her mother, Phylliss Patricia Ormandy; and her father, Walter Ingvold Pearson. She is survived by her son, Cameron Campbell, his wife, Melissa, and five grandchildren; brothers, Duke Christian Pearson, Volney Patrick Gay; and sisters, Victoria Caravello and Liss Gay.

Candi was born in Portland, Oregon, and was educated in Portland Public Schools. She worked for many years as a nurse assistant in Portland hospitals.

As "Second Mom" for her three younger siblings, Candi came to nursing with ready-made kindness and skill. Candi was an eccentric, artistic, passionate woman whose sense of humor gave her almost invincible powers. She deeply appreciated beauty and art, and her home was like an art museum. She was an avid reader who enjoyed philosophical, mystical and metaphysical books. She found joy in criminal justice and advocacy work, and she cared for those who were less fortunate. She loved to give presents, and she was famous for her care packages. Candi also loved Elvis. Her younger brother regrets that his unkind imitation of Elvis almost spoiled the moment when she saw him on "The Ed Sullivan Show" on Sept. 9, 1956.

Candi had been married only a brief time in 1970 when her husband was killed in a car accident. She had to cope with young widowhood while being a single parent to her young son, Cameron.

In that circumstance and many others, Candi showed courage in the face of great obstacles. From one of her poems:

I would like to live willingly without bonus.
Using gratitude to remember mercy. Without self-pity.

Becoming lenient with forgiveness. With a heart to nurture.

Leaving the road less traveled. With my footprints.
Replenishing my tapestry. As a living epistle for my heirs.

While holding the pieces of the heart. Reconciliation can occur.

The significance of the unvarnished glimpses
Becomes transparent over God's victory.
Remembrance events are still in planning.

Judith 'Judy' Lynn Masters Rew

September 8, 1936 - March 31, 2022

Judith "Judy" Lynn Masters Rew passed away peacefully at her daughter's home March 31, 2022, in Pendleton, Oregon.

Judy was born Sept. 8, 1936, in Portland, Oregon. She was the only child of Archie and Phyllis Masters. She lived with her parents in Portland until 1945 when she moved with her mother to Horseshoe Bay, British Columbia, Canada. While living in Portland, Judy was named a 1945 Portland Rose Festival Junior Princess.

In 1947, Judy moved with her parents to Pendleton, Oregon. She graduated from Pendleton High School in 1954 and went on to attend Oregon State University where she was a member of the Delta Gamma sorority. Judy married Larry Rew in June 1957. In 1958, Larry and Judy moved to Walla Walla, Washington, to attend Whitman College.

Thereafter, they moved to Salem, Oregon, to live while Larry attended Willamette Law School. Upon Larry's graduation from law school in 1961, they returned home to Pendleton to live and raise their children. Judy lived in Walla Walla, Washington, for a few years and moved back to Pendleton to be closer to family and friends.

Judy was an avid reader, a great cook, loved playing bridge and golfing with friends. She loved to entertain, travel, and spend time with family and her many dogs. She was a member of the Episcopal Church, as well as many local social and cultural clubs including PEO, Current Literature Club, Kill Kare, Dinner Dance and the Christmas Cotillion. Judy was known for her humor, wit, and kindness and beloved by family and friends.

Judy is survived by her son, Robin Rew of Taos, New Mexico; her daughter, Shawna Rew-Blanc (David) of Pendleton; her grandchildren, Sage Rew of San Antonio, Texas, Jessa Rew O'Reilly (Brendan) of Boerne, Texas, Nick Blanc (Shannon) of Pendleton, and Zack Blanc of San Diego, California; and great-grandchildren, Wyatt Rew, Boerne, Texas, and Brooks Blanc, Pendleton.

Judy was preceded in death by her husband, Larry Rew; and her parents, Archie and Phyllis Masters; and her many dogs.

A funeral service will be held at 11 a.m., Friday, April 8 at the Episcopal Church of the Redeemer, Pendleton, Oregon, with a luncheon immediately following the service. Memorial donations in Judy's honor may be made to Pendleton Foundation Trust or the local charity of your choice.

Online condolences may be sent to www.pioneerchapel.com.
