

DEAR ABBY

Husband's secret life as a serial cheater revealed

Dear Abby: I have been married for 23 years. About a year ago, our 22-year-old daughter became suspicious that her dad might be having an affair. She found out it was true through his text messages. When we sat down as a family and discussed it, at first he denied it. He got upset to the point that he told our daughter to leave the house, which she did for two weeks. We asked her to come back after my husband and I talked to work things out and I took him to confession. We later all went away for a vacation together.

Some time has passed, and I looked at his phone and saw he's been at it again, this time with a 30-year-old woman who lives here, and another one in another state. When I told him I knew, he denied it. Recently, I've been going to counseling. I need advice. — Suspicious In New Jersey

Dear Suspicious: By now it should be apparent that your husband cannot or will not stop womanizing and lying to you. I'm glad you are seeing a licensed therapist, because you need to decide rationally whether the situation you're living with is one you are willing to tolerate. You should also schedule an appointment with your doctor to be tested for STDs, and one with an attorney to find out what your rights are as a wife of 23 years in New Jersey. After that, you will have a clearer idea of what to do.

Dear Abby: I met this guy online three months ago. He's the greatest guy I have ever met. He respects me in ways no other man has respected me, and I appreciate that about him so much. I feel like I may be in love with him, but I don't know if that's the case or if it's because I'm alone and vulnerable and want someone to love me back. I was never close with my biological father or my adoptive father, so some of this may be "daddy issues." Should I tell him how I feel about him, or is it way too soon? — Taken By Him In Michigan

Dear Taken: It would be more prudent to wait until you are sure about your feelings for this guy before declaring your love. Slow down. Let the relationship evolve until you are sure about your motivations. If you do, he may beat you to the punch.

Dear Abby: I have a problem. I'm 8 and I want a dog, but my parents won't let me have one. The last time we had a dog, I left the door open and it got run over. I feel really sad and bad about it, but I want another dog. Even though it was an accident, my parents don't trust me. How can I show them I'm responsible enough and I won't forget to close the door again? — Really Wants A Dog In Sacramento

Dear Really Wants: Please accept my sympathy for your loss. Because you didn't mention how long ago your dog was lost, I will assume it is fairly recent. You might be able to regain your parents' trust if you begin accepting responsibilities at home. Do they want you to make your bed, keep your room neat, help in the kitchen or the yard? Shouldering these kinds of responsibilities can show parents you are ready for more ... like caring for a pet, for instance. I wish you luck.

Opie Read, novelist, story-teller and lecturer, proved one of the most pleasing entertainers on the present course of the Ellison-White Chautauqua when he addressed his Pendleton audience last night. The personality of this witty son of the Old South made its appeal to the audience in no uncertain way. The Watteau girls, a duo of fun makers, were on the bill this afternoon. Tonight, one of the red-letter events of the year's program will be offered when the Percival Vivian players present Peter B. Kyne's great American play, "Cappy Ricks."

A Boise, Idaho man was in satisfactory condition at St. Anthony Hospital today after suffering extensive injuries in a car-truck collision Friday. According to state police, a truck with a tank trailer, driven by Frank Joe Lewis, 55, Portland, was eastbound on Interstate 80-N and pulling the grade near the Indian Hills exit near Pendleton. The truck was moving about 40 miles per hour up the grade when the car, driven by Charles O. Daniel, 56, approached from the rear at a high rate of speed and struck the rear of the truck. Daniel was taken to the hospital by Pendleton Fire Department's community ambulance service. Lewis was not hurt. The accident occurred at 11:50 a.m. Friday. The truck trailer is registered to Asbury Transportation Company of Portland.

A musical extravaganza, celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Mormon migration west, is scheduled at the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints at Highland Avenue and 11th Street. "Faith in Every Footstep" will include music from hymns to county-western to hoe-down music. "The show covers the whole 150 years since the migration took place, including Hermiston pioneers, said Phyllis Peterson, a Hermiston piano teacher. Peterson arranged the music and is conducting the 40-voice choir and orchestra. Orchestra members include students from all the local high schools. They've been rehearsing two months. All the west end Mormon ward involved in the production. The show starts at 7 p.m.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

In 1958, Britain's Queen Elizabeth II named the first four women to peerage in the House of Lords.

In 1967, five days of deadly rioting erupted in Detroit as an early morning police raid on an unlicensed bar resulted in a confrontation with local residents, escalating into violence that spread into other parts of the city; 43 people, mostly Blacks, were killed.

In 1982, actor Vic Morrow and two child actors, 7-year-old Myca Dinh Le and 6-year-old Renee Shin-Yi Chen, were killed when a helicopter crashed on top of them during filming of a Vietnam War scene for "Twilight Zone: The Movie." (Director John Landis and four associates were later acquitted of manslaughter charges.)

In 1983, an Air Canada Boeing 767 ran out of fuel while flying from Montreal to Edmonton; the pilots were able to glide the jetliner to a safe emergency landing in Gimli, Manitoba. (The near-disaster occurred because the fuel had been erroneously measured in pounds instead of kilograms at a time when Canada was converting to the metric system.)

In 1990, President George

H.W. Bush announced his choice of Judge David Souter of New Hampshire to succeed the retiring Justice William J. Brennan on the U.S. Supreme Court.

In 1996, at the Atlanta Olympics, Kerri Strug made a heroic final vault despite torn ligaments in her left ankle as the U.S. women gymnasts clinched their first-ever Olympic team gold medal.

In 1997, the search for Andrew Cunanan, the suspected killer of designer Gianni Versace and others, ended as police found his body on a houseboat in Miami Beach, an apparent suicide.

In 1999, space shuttle Columbia blasted off with the world's most powerful X-ray telescope and Eileen Collins, the first woman to command a U.S. space flight.

In 2003, Massachusetts' attorney general issued a report saying clergy members and others in the Boston Archdiocese probably had sexually abused more than 1,000 people over a period of six decades.

In 2011, singer Amy Winehouse, 27, was found dead in her London home from accidental alcohol poisoning.

Ten years ago: His hair dyed a shocking comic-book shade of orange-red, James Holmes, the former doctoral student accused of killing 12 moviegoers at a showing of the new Batman movie in Aurora, Colorado, appeared in court for the first time. (Holmes was convicted of murder and attempted murder and sentenced to life in prison without parole.) Penn State's football program was all but leveled by penalties for its handling of the Jerry Sandusky child sex abuse scandal as the NCAA imposed an unprecedented $60 million fine, a four-year ban from post-season play and a cut in the number of football scholarships it could award. Sally Ride, 61, the first American woman in space, died in La Jolla, California.

Five years ago: A tractor trailer was found in a Walmart parking lot in San Antonio, Texas, crammed with dozens of immigrants; ten died and many more were treated at a hospital for dehydration and heat stroke. (The driver, James Bradley Jr., was sentenced to life in prison after pleading guilty to transporting the immigrants resulting in death.) President Donald Trump tweeted that he had "complete power" to issue pardons. Jordan Spieth won the British Open for his third career major championship.

One year ago: The Tokyo Olympics, delayed for a year by the pandemic, were officially declared open by Japan's Emperor Naruhito; tennis star Naomi Osaka lit the cauldron at the opening ceremony. Cleveland's Major League Baseball team, known as the Indians since 1915, announced that it would get a new name, the Guardians, at the end of the 2021 season; the change came amid a push for institutions and teams to drop logos and names that were considered racist.

Today's birthdays: Retired Supreme Court Justice Anthony M. Kennedy is 86. Actor Belinda Montgomery is 72. Actor-writer Lydia Cornell is 69. Actor Woody Harrelson is 61. Rock musician Martin Gore (Depeche Mode) is 61. Rock musician Slash is 57. Model-actor Stephanie Seymour is 54. Actor Charisma Carpenter is 52. Country singer Alison Krauss is 51. Actor-comedian Marlon Wayans is 50. Former White House intern Monica Lewinsky is 49. R&B singer Michelle Williams is 42. Actor Krysta Rodriguez is 38. Actor Daniel Radcliffe is 33.
