Bus barn project in planning phase

By JOHN TILLMAN
East Oregonian

PENDLETON — The city of Pendleton reported it has met its funding goals for the $3 million Bus Barn Facility, receiving more than $2.5 million in grants.

The Oregon Department of Transportation in May provided more than $2 million to the city for the project through the Statewide Transportation Improvement Fund. The grant funds are set aside for the construction phase of the project and will allow the city to move into the design phase this year.

The city announced the $2.01 million grant on June 2 during the second Public Transit Open House, an opportunity for the public to learn more about designs for the bus barn.

"We're still in the planning phase," Pendleton Public Works Superintendent Jeff Brown said. "We have not yet put it out to bid."

The city is building the facility on city land south of Northwest H Avenue, between Northwest 48th Drive and Northwest 48th Street, near the Eastern Oregon Regional Airport.

The city wants a secure facility to house and protect its public transportation fleet. The city operates four Americans with Disabilities Act-compliant buses and six ADA minivans. The bus barn facility is to feature exterior parking, a wash station, office and storage space and a break room.

In addition to the $2.01 million grant, funding for the Bus Barn Facility project is coming from:

- The city's previous receipt of a $90,000 grant last year from ODOT through the STIF program to cover planning and engineering. The planning efforts for the bus barn facility were expected to be completed by summer of 2022.

- Umatilla County's grant of $504,966 through STIF funding.

- The city's set aside of $500,000 in transportation funds.

With the new funding, the city plans to begin the construction design phase in the fall. Bus Barn Facility construction is anticipated to be complete by the spring of 2024. Bob Patterson, Pendleton public works director, serves as project manager.

After several moves as a child, the family settled in Weston where she graduated from Weston High School in 1950. One evening as she walked home from her job as a telephone operator, she met Linus (Swede) Anderson Jr. They married on Nov. 9, 1950, and settled on the Anderson Family Ranch where they welcomed three daughters over the next 13 years. They later divorced.

Over the years, she supported her girls by working as an accountant and as a side gig she enjoyed tending bar. In her later years, she became a caregiver, retiring in 2001. She is a lifetime member of the Rebecca Lodge No. 175.

She had no trouble filling her retirement years. She could be found all hours of the day and night in her "factory" filled with many styles of sewing machines, knitting machines, a quilting machine and various embroidery machines. Her favorite pastime was to fill a bin with her craft creations and called the bin "Grandma's Grab Bag." When family or friends visited, they did not go home empty-handed. She also loved to sing and dance, even at 90 years of age!

She is survived by her daughters and their spouses, Christine and Dan Hill of Salem; Cheryl and Skip York, Milton-Freewater; Chrystal and Greg Gay of College Place, Washington; two sisters, Darlene Hart of Hawaii and Sharon Knarr of Florida; grandchildren, Sharlyne Paget, Trae (Sherry) Robertson, Taridy (Michael) Murray, Ranzy (Jacob Anthis) York, Nathaniel (Stephanie) Gay; great-grandchildren, Cody (Rayanne) and Casey Paget, Bryce, Khai and Sterling Robertson, Tad Robertson, Samantha and Nickolas Baker, Aiden and Alyssa Catlow, Knox and Keaton Anthis, Callie and Liam Gay; great-great-grandchildren, Nevaeh, Landon, Liam and Linkin Paget, Atlas Robertson and Romeo Escobedo; and numerous nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents, her brother, Corky; and longtime companion, Darrell Ovens.

A celebration of life will be held on Saturday, August 27 at 1 p.m. at 908 S. Main St. (next door to Munselle-Rhodes Funeral Home), in Milton-Freewater.
