

Willamette Freshman Swamp Benson Tech by 27-8 Score

CARPENTER IS STAR OF FRAY

Lengthy Center Excels in Close Shots; Frosh to Play Salem High

The Willamette university freshman basketball team added one more lopsided victory to its long string Thursday night by defeating Benson Polytechnic of Portland 27 to 8 in the Willamette gymnasium.

The visitors were fairly fast on the floor but lacked a system for getting down the floor before the freshman defense formed; so that between inaccurate shooting and close guarding on the part of the Bearkittens, they were held to one field goal in the first half and one in the second half.

Coach Leslie Sparks' promising youngsters displayed even more accuracy in passing and shooting than they had exhibited in previous games, and had possession of the ball three-fourths of the time.

Carpenter Shines
Carpenter, extended and hard fighting center who has been suspected of being a trifle awkward, showed no indications of this in handling of the ball nor in his spectacular close in shots when supposedly covered. He topped the scoring list with 11 points. While Faber and Marr, the forwards, have had their turns at starring in many of the games, Carpenter and the guards, McBee and Hartley, shone particularly in this game.

Both of the guards checked persistently, and McBee also formed an important cog in the offensive machine.

Much discussion has arisen locally over the relative strength of the Willamette freshmen and the Salem high team, and fans were delighted to hear Thursday that they have been matched for a game February 15.

'K. O.' FAVORED TO LOSE FIGHT

Betting Odds Reported Three to One in Favor of Boston Slugger

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—(AP)—Ring goings, playing a $100,000 tune, will sound in Madison Square Garden for Jack Sharkey tomorrow night and for "K. O." Christner, the Akron vulcanizer.

For the Boston slugger, if he wins, the song of the goings will be the last until he faces Young Stribling in Miami Beach, Fla., on the night of Feb. 27. Christner, by dosing the silent sailor with the same knockout medicine he forced on Knute Hansen almost two months ago, can belt his way into the battle under the palms, the last heavyweight show Tex Rickard scheduled before his death.

Betting odds were 3 to 1 in favor of Sharkey, tonight, despite a desultory ting campaign in the past year. Christner was considered an even money chance to avoid a knockout. The barrel-chested rubber worker, who started boxing two years ago at the age of 32, never has been knocked out. He won 37 of his 44 battles by the knockout route.

BEARCATS TO PLAY BADGERS TONIGHT

Unless the Willamette university basketball show better form than they did against Linfield college last week, they are due for another close battle against Pacific university tonight at Forest Grove.

Pacific held Linfield to a 32 to 28 score and Willamette defeated Linfield by only one point. On that basis there isn't any safe margin between the Bearcats and the Badgers.

Most of the players have recovered from the cold, but are not yet in condition to withstand 40 minutes of fast basketball, and the coach may find it necessary to use a couple of teams in order to keep a fighting crew on the floor.
