Last Assembly Held—The last assembly of the school semester was held at the senior high Thursday morning, when Mrs. Bernice Duncan, coach of the student body play, "The Road to Yesterday" which is to be produced next Friday, presented a brief skit from the play.

Permits Light—Building permits issued in Salem in January amounted to only about one-fifth of the values represented in permits issued the same month a year ago. The month's total was $22,975, as compared to $118,650 in the corresponding month. Unfavorable weather during most of the month just ended was believed responsible.

Bus in Near-Accident—One of the city busses traveling the Highland avenue route narrowly escaped a serious accident Thursday afternoon about 1:40 o'clock when it skidded on the icy pavement by the Hollywood theatre on the Fairgrounds road and plunged into a pole at the side of the road. The steering gear of the bus was crippled to such an extent another bus had to be called to bring the passengers, none of whom were injured, into town.

Hall Funeral Held—Funeral services for the late Ira Hall, who died here early Wednesday morning, were held Thursday afternoon. The Rev. C. E. Ward of the First Congregational church and the Rev. W. N. Coffee of the Free Methodist church officiated. Mr. Hall was 66 years of age at the time of his death, and was well known in Salem.

Graduate at Mid-Year—Seventeen Salem high school seniors will finish their high school course at the end of the first semester, Principal J. C. Nelson announced Thursday. The students are Clarence Krechter, Oliver Smith, Helmut Newman, Harold Arnett, Keith Jones, Grace Pearsall, Nola Heller, Wynifred Dyer, Paul Lewis, Heath Hall, Hall Todd, John George, Raymond Busick, Leland Medler, Leo Poppe and Irma Scholes. The mid-year class is five larger than last year and one of the largest in the history of the high school.

Weather Knocks Debates—Because of weather conditions, all debates for the middle Willamette section of the state high school league which were to have been held Thursday night, were called off by order of Robert Goetz of Silverton, district director. Principal J. C. Nelson said Thursday afternoon he did not know when the debate with Albany here could be held, however it is likely it will be sometime during the coming week. Judges from the normal school will be held over for the debate. They are to be Delmer R. Dewey, director of the training school, and J. F. Santee and Merl E. Bonney, both of the department of education.

Costs Objected To—Objection to the cost bill filed against Martin F. Ferrey by St. Benedicts Abbey was filed in circuit court here Thursday. A plea in abatement was sustained by Circuit Judge Kelly recently after litigation had been pending for more than a year between Ferrey, who had been appointed administrator de bonis non of the estate of the late John Rosenbaum, and the abbey, which was accused of having failed to return funds borrowed from Rosenbaum during his lifetime. The objections to the cost bill argue that in view of that fact that granting the plea in abatement established the fact that Ferrey had no legal existence as administrator, costs could not be assesse dagainst hi mas such. They further argue that Judge Kelly did not purport to adjudge costs.

G. A. R. Meet Postponed—Sedgwick Post, G. A. R., will not meet Saturday, February 2, on account of the weather conditions, it is announced by Commander Fisher.

COUNTY CLUBS AWARD HONORS

Hubbard Woman and Student of O. S. C. Win in Essay Contest Tie

Mrs. J. L. Strickland of Hubbard and Kenneth Morris of Salem, now a student at O. S. C., tied for first honors in the essay contest sponsored by the Federated Community clubs of Marion county. Awards were announced at the first federated clubs meeting of the year, held Wednesday night at the Mt. Angel school auditorium and attended by nearly 700 persons.

Mrs. Strickland wrote on "Community Spirit" and Morris' subject was "Salem—the Community of Community Builders." Between 25 and 30 essays were entered in the contest.

Speakers for the general program included Marshall Dana of the Oregon Journal; W. G. Ide, manager of the state chamber of commerce of Portland; and J. W. Brewer, executive secretary of the East Side chamber of commerce of Portland. Music was furnished by the Mt. Angel boys' band of 63 pieces. An exceptionally pleasing part of the program was songs by Mt. Angel young ladies as follows: Clara Keber, "Valley of Dreams" and "By the Bend of the River;" Grace Smith, "Sunshine of Your Soul," and "Desert Song;" Pauline Saalfeld, "Bells of the Sea" and "Waitin' in the Shadow." Dr. David Bennett Hill of Salem showed pictures of the flax industry.

Nearly 650 persons were entertained at the banquet served at the school house. J. L. Stafford of the Stafford Pickle company of Aurora and Father Dominick of Mt. Angel were the banquet speakers.

Stayton is Meeting Place

The next meeting the community clubs will be held sometime in February at Stayton.

Standing committees for the new year were announced Wednesday night as follow:

Angel, C. A. Kells, C. P. Bishop, Lena Belle Tartar, the Rev. Norman K. Tully, Rev. Father Keenan of Mt. Angel, L. A. Beckman and Mrs. J. Dunlavy of Hubbard.

Advertising and publicity—Dr. Henry E. Morris of Salem, A. L. Strickland of Hubbard, A. N. Smith of Mt. Angel, Mayor Eastman of Silverton and U. G. Boyer of Salem.

Joint meeting Marion and Clackamas counties in July—George Hubbs and Mayor Eastman of Silverton Percy Caufield of Oregon City; and M. E. Havler of Milwaukie.

MEMORIAL WOULD ESTABLISH RIGHTS

Appropriate legislation on the part of congress which will permit the state of Oregon and the Klamath Falls Irrigation district to institute suits against the United States and the California-Oregon Power company, and which will set aside the sale of the so-called Ankeny and Keno canals and the Leavitt Power site, is asked in house joint memorial number 5, introduced Thursday morning.

The measure claims that the United States was granted rights t othe beds of Upper Klamath Lake, Lower Klamath Lake, and Tule Lake the use of water of the lakes, and to use the bed of the lakes for storage in legislation passed in 1905, but that in 1917 and 1920 the United States entered into contracts with the California-Oregon Power company granting rights to construct a dam on Link river near the outlet of Upper Klamath Lake, and that the United States has since sold to the power company the Keno and Ankeny canals and the Leavitt Power site.

More than 100,000 acres in different irrigation projects are directly concerned, it is said. These are as follows: Klamath, 40,000 acres; Langell Valley, 20,000; Horsefly, 10,000; Shasta View, 4,000; Malin, 4,000; Enterprise, 3,000; Klamath Drainage, 20,000.

The resolution has the support of reclamation congress, the railway trainment and engineers and firemen organizations, the Oregon State Grange and the Oregon Federation of Labor. The resolution was submitted by Representatives LaFollett, Weatherspoon, Tompkins, Johnson of Union county and Swift. It was referred to the committee on resolutions.

Philomath School Head Will Speak

Sanford MacDonald, Ph. D., D. D., president of Philomath college, will address the first open meeting of the year of the Salem Teachers' association, to be held in the high school auditorium next Wednesday, February 6, at 4:15 o'clock. Dr. MacDonald's subject will be "The Peptomist." In addition to guiding the college Dr. MacDonald finds time to lecture and write, and is also known as an able lawyer.

West Salem News

By LOU THOMPSON Phone 417-W

Miss Bernice Sloper and Miss Grace Williams of West Salem left Wednesday for a few days' visit with Miss Margaret Bidshadler in Lebanon.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy England of Doreno were week end guests of Mrs. England's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Benton. Ralph Benton, a brother of Mrs. England, returned with them. Ralph has been living with the Englands and attending school at Doreno, where Mrs. England is a teacher. Ralph will remain home with his parents and attend school in West Salem.

The Relief society held its pot luck affair Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Bud Greens. There were fifteen guests present. The afternoon was spent in playing games. It being Mrs. Frank Wilhelm's "lucky day" she departed with two of the prizes.

Mrs. Del Lemon's guest, Miss Jennie Campbell who is supervisary field worker for the primary children's organization of the Latter Day Saints church, returned to Portland Wednesday.

Ford Memorial Community church sermon subjects for Sunday include in the morning, "The Ephesian Revival" and at night "Conviction". There will be a vocal duet by Sarah Bridgeman and Mrs. M. A. Groves, entitled "Ready." The Rev. Groves will preach at both services.

The Sunday school board will hold its regular monthly session Monday night. Several important items will be considered so all members have been urged to be present.

There will be a special called meeting of the official board following the church services Sunday evening. An important item of business demands immediate attention and all members of the board have been requested to attend.

Prayer meetings in preparation for the coming revival were held Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Gosser and Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd DeLapp. Announcements will be made soon of the places for prayer meetings next week. The meetings begin Sunday February 10, and continue through February 24. The Rev. J. R. Benton will be the evangelist and Erwin G. Ranton will have charge.

INTEREST ROUSED BY ALTERING BILL

Local interest in Salem, as well as in other communities in counties of between 25,000 and 100,000 population was aroused Thursday when amendments to H. B. 154, which provides for payment of tax funds for rural roads by cities heretofore exempt, were incorporated into the bill upon motion of Briggs of Jackson county.

The bill has already attracted attention, and has been actively opposed by The Dalles in Wasco county, a city tht, its residents claim, will be particularly hard hit. Under the amendemnt it is said Salem, Ashland and communities in Lane and Clackamas counties will also come under the measure.

The bill now lies in the constitutional law committee, where it landed after considerable bouncing about Thursday afternoon. In order to get his amendments adopted, which increased the county sizes affected as a whole. With Representative Lonergan of Multnomah in the chair, the amendment was made. Mr. Briggs fought for this concession, however, and had to bring his amendment up a second time before it secured enough votes to pass.

Further hearings on he measure will be allowed before it is brought back into the house by the committee in charge of it.

Patrons Again To Get Time Service From Phone Girls

The Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co., has succumbed to the demands of patrons, after holding out for several years, and has resumed the practice of giving the time of day over the phone. This announcement was made here Thursday by C. C. Aller, the company's local manager, and the change in practice is effmade for the service.

Telephone patrons may, as they used to do, simply take down the receiver and, in answer to central's response, ask for the time.

Bill Seeks Large Sum For Oregon State University

House bill 302, providing for an annual appropriation of $60,000 for the support of extension and correspondence classes by the University of Oregon was introduced Thursday morning. The bill carried the names of Representatives Robison, McCready, Potter, Howard, Kubli, Anderson, Gust and Bronough.

At present the extension work and correspondence is supported from general university funds, although it is pointed out htat the extension is 52 per cent self-supporting. Passage of the measure is held to be necessary if the work is to be continued, since growth of the university with no appreciable increase in amount of funds will necessitate taking much of the present extension allotment for regular university work.

AERATION LACKED IN SALEM WATERS

One of the troubles with the water supply in Salem is a lack of aeration more than anything else, L. D. Marr, sanitary engineer who is designing the Salem system of sewerage under the $500,000 bond isue, told the Salem Realty Board at its luncheon meeting Thursday. Mr. Marr spoke on "Water Supply and Sewage Disposal" as improtant phases of proper sanitation.

The engineer pointed out that Salem sewer system was first designed to carry sewage only, but that the sewer had also had to take care of ground waters. The burden has been lessened under the new sewerage plan with construction of a storm sewer in North Salem which is proving adequate. A storm sewer in South Salem is not yet complete and largely because of incompletion is still giving some trouble.

It is only a matter of time before Salem will have to consider opening another sewerage street leading to a sewage disposal plant, Mr. Marr said, adding that under present arrangements, the only possible site for such a plant would be a mile and a half or two miles north of the city limits.

Stating that industrial waste makes impure water or the sewage problem, Mr. Marr said several questions were to be considered in selecting a water supply, including: adequacy; sufficiency for fire protection; quality or free from all diseases and therefore colorless, odorless, tasteless and clear; and the sources whether surface or ground. Surface waters are good for industrial purposes, but pollution dangers are great.

Methods of purification were briefly described, including filtration, chemical application and sterilization. Chemical methods of purification include use of aluminum sulphate and lime and soda ash. Sterilization, usually employed to comply with state laws in instance where the water is perfectly safe anyway, is done chiefly with chloride of lime and liquid chlorine in this country. In some foreign countries, ultra violet rays are used with success, although in the latter instance water must be perfectly clear.

Slow sand and rapid sand filtration, which differ mainly in that chemicals are added in the instance of rapid to aid coagulation, are the two outstanding methods of filtration.

A group of Salem Girl Reserves were guests of the Board and sang several songs as a preliminary to the campaign for funds to be conducted from February 4 to 9. A communication from Congressman W. C. Hawley, in response to the Board's approval of a dredge for the Willamette, was read.

Open Hearing On Collection Topic Fixed For Today

Public hearing on the measure introducing the attorney general to proceed with efforts to collect from sand and gravel operators amounts due the state for materials removed from navigable streams of Oregon, will be held before the public lands committee of the house of representatives this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock, it has been announced.

This measure, H. B. 183, introduced by Representative Lee McAllister of Salem, has already resulted in negotiations which are expected to terminate in the collection of $5000 from one of the sand and gravel companies concerned, officials of the land department have its author, even though the bill has not yet appeared on the floor of the house.

The attorney general and other state officials will attend the public hearing, in addition probably 10 representatives of the firms held to be indebted to the state.

COMPLICATIONS SLOW UP WORK

Only Six Bills Pass House While One is Definitely Put to Sleep

Complications arising on various bills in the house Thursday slowed up action considerably, and out of a total of 12 house bills presented for third reading, only six were passed. Only one bill of the lot, that which would abolish Washington's birthday as a school holiday, was lost, although H. B. 143, which would give sheriffs authority to issue license plates for autos, was sunk once, and later brought to the surface again for reconsideration.

Bills passed were as follows:

H. B. 193, relating to circuit fees in counties of not more than 100,000.

H. B. 216, amending section 1192, relating to inheritance tax, so that a stepchild may be considered a lineal descendant.

H. B. 218, amending certain sections relating to levying of assessment on irrigation districts.

H. B. 222, amending certain sections relating to organizations of irrigation district boards.

H. B. 186, relating to tender of bill of exceptions in civil causes.

H. B. 228, to amend section 572, Oregon laws, providing that the fees of the referee in court shall be fixed by the court.

Other action on measures was taken as follows:

H. B. 247, providing for the supervision of all municipally owned utilities by public service commission, withdrawn by Representative Russell.

H. J. R. 5, providing for an investigation of the Waverly Baby home, passed on third reading.

H. B. 134, relating to fences, postponed to Friday.

H. B. 143, abolishing Washington's birthday as school holiday, failed on vote, but later ordered to calendar for reconsideration.

H. B. 191, relating to recorders' fees in counties of less than 100,000, referred to commnttee on revision of laws.

H. B. 242, providing that all taxes must be paid before sherlevies, re-referred to committee.

H. J. R. 1, regarding guarantee of interest payments on irrigation and drainage district bonds for the state, adopted.

H. C. R. 6, providing for session of legislature every 4 years, withdrawn.

Senate C. R. 10, providing for a chief clerk to serve committee on insurance in senate and house, adopted.

S. B. 15, relating to teachers' retirement fund, postponed and made special order of business Monday at 2:30.

S. B. 11, to provide for the cancellation of interest and penalties on delinquent taxes on property.

H. B. 168, to repeal section 3423, relating to evidence of surveyors.

CAR LICENSE BILL SAVED FROM DEATH

Saved from seeming death when it lost by majority vote Thursday morning, H. B. 143, calling for legislation that would permit sheriffs of the various counties to issue license plates for automobiles, will again be up for consideration in the house, it was decided Thursday afternoon.

The bill when brought up for third reading, caused a lively debate, with its sponsors claiming that as much as $10,000 a year could be saved in issuing license plates, that the motorists would be saved much time and trouble, and that the present unsatisfactory system of issuing temporary tags would be done away with. Opponents of the bill were afraid that the load would be too heavy for some sheriffs offices, that ample provisions for determining ownership of cars was not made by the bill, and that much confusion is likely to result.

A warmer reception for the measure is predicted at its next appearance, since the motion to reconsider is understood to have had backing of some of those who assisted in voting it down Thursday.

Insurance Office For District Is Established Here

A. B. Evans, agency supervisor of the Oregon Life Insurance company for Oregon, Washington and Idaho since July, 1924, has been appointed general agent for the company in western and central Oregon. Headquarters for the general agency, a new policy of the company effective February 1, will be in Salem. Mr. Evans has worked out of here as supervisor also. He is opening a branch office in the Masonic building, rooms 315-316. The new general agent was for several years district manager at Medford.

Charles S. McElhinny, district manager at Roseburg since 1918, will move to Salem to act as assistant general manager. A. A. Flynn, who has had the local office of the company for the last eight years, will continue his office in the Masonic building.

2 CREAMERIES HERE FORM BIG MERGER

The Capital City Co-operative creamery, organized here in 1916, has been taken over by the Greenwood Dairy, formed here a year ago, and the two institutions will be conducted as one from the Greenwood location at 1230 State street, it was announced Thursday by D. B. McKenzie, manager of the co-operative for the past two years. He will be general manager of the new plant.

F. W. Winkel, who has been manager of the Greenwood dairy, will remain in Salem a couple of months until the joint industry gets well under way, after which he will leave to conduct another plant.

Mr. McKenzie stated that farmers who desire to may take the's stock from the co-operative and transfer it to the Greenwood. The manager characterized the consolidation as a good move for both the city and farmers and as a step in the direction being taken in all industries to bring production costs down. Additional equipment will be added as business increases and expansion becomes necessary. The co-operative produced 300,000 pounds of butter last year.

The co-operative has been conducted in the Buchner building on South Commercial street. With the removal of the creamery and of the Kinzer Earl barber shop which has occupied a portion of the building, Walter Buchner announced Thursday the building would be practically rebuilt, with the interior to be renovated, a new fire proof roof, ceiling and concrete floor to be constructed, and the front remodeled. Remodeling will begin sometime next week. The Buchner building is one of the older business structures, having been built 50 or 55 years ago for John Newsome, from whom Mrs. Buchner inherited it. Some creamery business has occupied the building for upwards of 40 years, Mr. Buchner recalls.

MILK PRODUCT BILL OFFERED

Standards and Regulations For Sale of Milk and Cream Are Set

A measure providing for the regulation, production, sale and distribution of milk and cream and products from these was introduced into the house Thursday by the food and dairy products committee. Standards, rules and regulations for this traffic are provided in the act, which places the enforcement under the dairy and food commissioner.

The measure closely defines all the milk products with which it is concerned. In the definition of milk it is stipulated that bacteria count in the raw product shall not exceed 75,000 per cubic centimeter, that it shall contain not less than 8.5 per cent of solids and not less than 3.2 per cent of butter fat. Market milk, market cream, milkfat, butterfat, skimmilk, standardized milk, pasteurized milk, buttermilk, cream, adulterated milk, are defined. Butterfat is defined as having a Reichert-Meissel number of not less than 24, and a specific gravity of not less than .904 at 104 degrees fahrenheit.

Standard Set Up

The act that states that no "person shall within the state of Oregon sell or have in his possession any milk, skimmilk, buttermilk, standardized milk, crea mor fluid milk products which are adulterated within the meaning of this act, or does not conform to the standards or rules and regulations established by the commissioner under authority of this act."

The measure sets up standards for cleanliness of dairy barns, milk houses, milk utensils, cows, and for milking and care of milk.

The act also gives the commissioner authority to have examined any person engaged in this traffic who is suspected of having contagious or communicable diseases. Penalties for not obeying the provisions of the act are provided.
