

OUR RESERVED RESOURCES.

It often happens that young men, in setting out in life, encounter a "streak of luck" such as to make strenuous efforts after prosperity, unnecessary; so, too, with towns; and it often happens that towns, like men, are spoiled by prosperity which comes unearned.

If left to its present scope our trade will steadily diminish; for the merchants of the towns above us are gaining increased ability to obtain supplies by railroad and steamer without troubling the Dalles; and furthermore, the farm produce that now forms so large a part of this trade material is rapidly increasing throughout the interior.

OUR PROSPECTIVE WOOL MARKET.

We have around the Dalles a sheep range unsurpassed in any part of the Pacific Slope—a semi-circle of 290 miles' radius, north, east and south, of which this place is now, and prospectively the natural market.

INDIAN NEWS.—The Owyhee Avalanche, of the 11th inst., contains some account of recent Indian affairs in the neighborhood of the mines, which we condense:

Jack Clark, or "Champagne Jack," a packer in the employ of Frank Drake, was killed last week, near the mouth of the Owyhee River, on Sucker Creek.

About the same time five Government mules were stolen from McWilliams' ranch on Jordan Creek. On the 6th inst., seven soldiers went in pursuit; followed down the Owyhee twenty miles, crossed over, and about five miles south of the river, came upon two Indians with the mules.

All the stock on Baxter's ranch on Jordan Creek was run off, consisting of seven or eight head.

Since our last issue, the re-lskins fired on a man twice near the summit this side of Snake River, in the vicinity where Mr. Cox was killed. Seven of the red devils were seen. They seemed to form two parties. As things now stand, an army of seven Indians could well be separated into two corps—and operate easily with success.

A report, apparently reliable, has been received of a fight in Paradise Valley, Nevada, in which seventy Indians were slain by the Nevada Cavalry.
