

A BIG GOLD STORY! MONTANA AGAINST THE WORLD!—The Montana Post puts in circulation a story about a recent gold discovery which has only to be read to be properly appreciated. The following is copied from that journal:

Upon the arrival of the Helena stage, the people of Virginia City were thrown into a gold excitement, before which all former excitements must pale. The facts as we get them from apparently well-authenticated sources are briefly as follows:

Mr. Brown, a German, or Norwegian, and one of the original discoverers of the celebrated Gould & Curry lode, of Nevada, and afterwards of the Brown lode in Nelson's Gulch, in this Territory, was engaged in sinking a shaft on the "Uncle Sam" lode, about the head of Dry Gulch, some four miles from Helena. He had sunk near twenty feet, when, the indications not suiting him, he concluded to change his course by drifting up hill from the bottom of his shaft. He had advanced in this direction about ten feet, when he reached a gold deposit which, in richness and extent, has, perhaps no parallel in the history of gold mining. Gold, in almost solid masses, glittered before his bewildered vision. For two weeks longer, unknown to others, he tunneled in the golden wall. Secreted about him, he had accumulated several gunny-sacks, literally filled with the precious metal, when longer secrecy became impracticable, from the very extent of his unexpected wealth, and Mr. Brown proceeded to record and secure his property, when the public were informed of the great discovery. It is said that he now keeps a strong guard night and day, over his seeming incomputable wealth, while he himself, unassisted, delves into the golden walls around him, and continues multiplying his sacks of precious ore.

One person who was admitted into Mr. Brown's drift, states that it presented a scene of wealth more akin to a picture of the imagination than actuality. Gold! gold! gold! met the view on every side—above, below and all around—and reflected back its rich hues in the glare of the candle, as if this subterranean vault had been hewn out of a solid ledge of the yellow metal.

The gold is found in a well defined ledge five feet in width. The gold vein is three feet wide—three-fourths of the entire substance therein being pure gold; the remainder being bismuth. On each side of this vein, there is a casing of one foot of quartz, which will assay from $500 to $2,000 to the ton. The very wall-rock is rich. Specimens can be seen at the City Book Store.

Whether this is, to use familiar mining terms, a "blowout" or a "pocket," we are not prepared to admit or deny. But be it either, millions are "lygg around loose." We can scarcely realize that this is a distinct, continuous ledge, as, in that case, so vast an amount of gold would effect the standard of gold valuation through out the commercial world. But our informant, whom we know to be a man of reliability, assures us that a distinct ledge has been traced fully seventy-five feet. Further and more positive information will be given in our next.

A CAVE IN NEVADA COUNTY.—Some time since, it will be remembered, says the Grass Valley Union, that we published a statement of a large body of water, having been struck in the Pike tunnel, on Union Hill. After the water had sufficiently escaped to permit of working, the men employed in the mine discovered a large cave, natural in its formation and running back a considerable distance in the tunnel. In fact, so extensive is this cave that no one has yet been enabled to trace its termination. It is quite a curiosity, and is daily visited by large numbers of novelty-seekers.
