RUCKLES QUARTZ LODES AND MILL.
The lodes formerly known as Rock-fellow's quartz discovery, on the waters of Powder River, have lately been worked with renewed energy by Col. J. S. Ruckle, the present owner of the mines, with very flattering results. In a run of thirty-six consecutive days in November and December, the extraordinary yield of $36,500, in round numbers was realized—the quartz running from $45 to $85 a ton.

On account of the mill being driven by water-power, crushing is suspended until spring breaks, when ten stamps will be added to the ten already in operation. The mill is located on Powder River, about seven miles from the lodes where the quartz is obtained; and is a very complete establishment, in perfect running order.

The original discovery of Rock-fellow and party and includes five lodes, viz: the Union, Rocky, Eureka, Ophir and Hoosier; Of these, the Union is best developed, and the location of the ground is such that it is first reached by the same adits intended to work all the lodes. A shaft has been sunk one hundred and forty feet on the Union, and an adit has been run in something over a hundred feet to the bottom of the shaft. Another is four hundred feet in, which will strike the Union two hundred and fifty feet from the surface. The mines are expected daily to strike the Union in this adit. Galleries have been run sixty or seventy feet each way from the deep shaft, and work is still progressing upon them. The average width of the Union is about three feet, with a dip to the north. The rock is remarkably clear of all combinations calculated to impede amalgamation, and in general improves as it is sunk upon. The other lodes are of about the same average proportions, running parallel to this at short distances from it, and will be all worked from the same adits.

The gold from these lodes averages about $19 40 an ounce, and contrary to the general belief in regard to quartz carrying gold of great fineness, it is evenly distributed, and promises to run with as much regularity as in any silver lode discovered in the Columbia Basin. It is, however, met occasionally in very considerable quantities of the same purity as that taken from the batteries.

IMPORTANT DECISION IN RELATION TO THE LOCATION OF ROADS—We learn that, in a case reserved from Umatilla County, Judge Wilson has decided some questions, which may be of great moment to the public:

1. In the viewing and locating of roads, it is necessary, that the whole number of viewers, appointed by the County Court, should be present at such view and location. A majority of the viewers may make and sign the report of their proceedings, but all must join in the acts of location.

2. A plaintiff, having sued for damages for trespass, recovered a judgment for twenty-five dollars, held, that defendant must recover costs and all proper disbursements from the plaintiff. Doubtless, many of our roads are liable to this defect in their establishment; and our County Courts cannot be too careful in that branch of their business.
