

EPITOME OF THE DOINGS OF THE BLOODY FOURTEENTH. One of the boys from this noted regiment is to be sent to the penitentiary from San Francisco, for robbery. The press congratulates him upon his social advancement. Mark Twain calls on the government to prevent the boys of the Bloody Fourteenth from pocketing the parallels of latitude and the meridians of longitude in Arizona, as it will be impossible to map that country after these soldiers have had a few weeks run in that section. One of the men from the regiment deserted from Fort Vancouver a few days since. The Oregonian thinks that the act of desertion entitled the man to his freedom from military restraint, as any man who has pluck enough to desert from such associations must have some elements of good in him. The regiment has been in twenty-eight battles, and all attempts to exterminate it have so far failed.

ARTEMUS WARD NOT DEAD.—The Territorial Enterprise thinks that the story about the death of Artemus Ward and his wife at Worcester, does not apply to the humorist of that name, but to some one of the numerous family of Wards living in that part of Massachusetts. The reasons are thus stated: First, Artemus Ward does not live in Worcester; second, his wife never travels with him, for the reason that Artemus is not a married man, and third, if he had actually died in the way stated in the dispatch, it would have been reported with his true name, Chas. F. Browne. The probabilities are that we shall often enjoy the pleasure of laughing at new compositions of the renowned showman for years to come.

At the time of the robbery of the stage, and murder of several passengers, in Port Neuf Canon last July, suspicion fell upon Frank Williams, the driver, and circumstances have since proved that he was an accessory of the bandits. His motions were watched, and he was lately arrested near Julesburg, Colorado, when he confessed his complicity in the crime and was hung.

The Albany Journal, of a late date, says: "The Mountaineer urges the necessity for the establishment of a stage line through from California to the eastern portion of this State."

The statement is incorrect, and consequently the remarks of the Journal based upon it, need no further answer at our hands.
