

SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. 17, 1866.

The pork-packing business of Chicago has reached the enormous aggregate of $30,000,000 a year.

An English doctor says beef steaks from cattle having the plague, are good.

A PRUSSIAN traveling in Egypt lately, and out of money, got some twenty-five coupons cashed by a Boston man, and so was in funds.

For the first time since the Crimean war the Poles are being called upon to contribute their quota to the armies of Russia by conscription.

A PART of the Louisiana State library, 23,000 volumes, has been saved from the general destruction and wreck at Baton Rouge.

A PARIS doctor cured a man almost dead of the cholera by giving him a sound thrashing. The fellow got mad, chased the doctor and lived.

The first trial for treason in East Tennessee, that of the rebel enrolling officer, Gamble, has resulted in a verdict of acquittal.

LITHOGRAPHIC stone has been discovered near St. Louis. It is found nowhere else in this country, and the quality of this is said to be equal to that which comes from Bavaria.

A HUNGRY friend said at Brummel's table, after the beau had fallen in fortune, that nothing was better than cold beef. "I beg your pardon," returned Brummel, "cold beef is better than nothing."

But for the grasshopper plague, Colorado would this year have produced its own supply of breadstuff, vegetables and feed for stock. They destroyed the crop totally in many places, and injured it in all.

THE U. S. Circuit Court, for Massachusetts, has ordered all the numerous prosecutions, under State laws, for liquor selling, to be stopped and sent up to its own jurisdiction, a question of U. S. revenue being involved.

OFFICIAL documents at Washington show that it costs $500,000 to kill a male Indian on the western plains, and $2,000,000 to kill a squaw. Extermination will be expensive at that rate.

THE Richmond Times invites immigration to Virginia, and says, "there is no danger of Yankees being tomahawked, scalped or roasted here," in view of the terrible stories circulated about southern barbarity.

PENNY trains are now fully established in London, England. They will take a person to his neighborhood for two cents in ten minutes, while if he took a "bus," an hour would be consumed in reaching his destination, and have to pay twelve cents.

A Miss Garret has graduated in London at Apothecaries Hall, being the first female medical practitioner in England. Her examination, previous to admission, exhibited a wonderful degree of knowledge, and the old-fashioned physicians manifest great jealousy of her superior merits.

THE conflict between the Czar and his revolutionary nobles at Moscow is attracting the attention of Western Europe, and a London journalist declares that the Emperor of Russia is at the present time the most care-laden man in the world.

A CARD.

To THE CITIZENS OF THE DALLES—Ladies and Gentlemen: Please accept the thanks of myself and family for your kindness and liberality at the donation party given for my benefit, on the evening of the 10th inst. The receipts were three ($300) hundred dollars in coin, besides sundry articles, the value of which I am not now prepared to state. Feb. 15. 1866. Yours obliged, J. D. DRIVER.
