

Daily Mountaineer.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 7, 1866.

THE total expenditure of the U. S. Treasury for the quarter ending December, 1865, was $286,898,249 14.

QUITE a number of animals, pack and riding, arrived by the boat last evening en route to the mines.

A SINGLE township in Los Angeles county last year, produced eighty-five thousand bushels of corn, which sold at forty cents per bushel.

FIFTEEN hundred dwelling houses were erected in Philadelphia the past season, but the demand for tenements is now as great as ever.

THIRTY-SEVEN years ago the amount of corn exported from Chicago was 70 bushels. In 1865, the shipments reached 40,000,000 bushels.

THE eight hour labor system is creating quite an excitement in San Francisco. Politicians have got hold of it, and as usual will make it an "issue."

A YOUNG lady in San Francisco, with a prayer-book in her hand, was knocked down by a misguided sled. When she got up she swore, much to the horror of a passing editor.

THE Oregonian states that a private dispatch has been received in Portland from Sacramento, which says that the man taken through this city, as Wells, the murderer, proved to be the right man.

THE Legislators of the State of Nevada, must be social fellows, if we judge from the fact that they never carry less than two pistols while at the capitol. A short time since while a debate was going on in reference to appropriating sixty dollars for stationery for the use of each member, a Mr. Ingham, of Storey county, drew a pistol and fired at the Speaker, but fortunately missed him. That body must be far more interesting than the Oregon Legislature.

MR. G. A. LIEBE yesterday shipped to Umatilla, for Mr. Fred Hafendorfer, two very fine wagons, of the capacity of five tons each, intended for the trade between Umatilla and Boise.— We have in the Dalles some of the best manufacturers on the coast, and during the last year have turned out as fine work as can be found in the country. The necessity of sending below for articles of this kind no longer exists, and teamsters and freighters in the upper country will consult their own interests by ordering their means of transportation at the Dalles.

THE Bloody Fourteenth still keep up their record in San Francisco. Our Bay City exchanges come to us daily with items of depredations committed by these war-worn veterans. Not long since a party of them, armed and equipped, entered some of the dens on Pacific streets, and after helping themselves to whatever they wanted, smashed up everything they could find in the shape of furniture. Upon the appearance of the police, they made a "stand," but were soon compelled to surrender unconditionally. We next hear of them entering a house in the neighborhood of the Presido, during the absence of the family, and helping themselves to a lot of linen and female apparel. Truly such men ought to pass through a thousand battles.

PUBLIC SCHOOL.

We yesterday paid a visit to the Public School, and are proud to bear testimony to the good order and efficiency of that institution. It is always wise to encourage movements that have for their object the education of the youth. The facilities for educating the rising generation cannot be too great, and with all that we may do, the chances are that some children will grow up in ignorance for the lack of educational facilities. At present we have an excellent school, under the care of experienced teachers, but we need not say it is over crowded, and that the teachers are taxed to their utmost capacity to impart instruction. There is at present a daily average attendance of 186 scholars under the care of five teachers, or an average of 37 pupils to each teacher. Any person acquainted with the subject knows that it is impossible for any teacher, it matters not how industrious they are, to do justice to so large a number of pupils. The school house is too small and is poorly managed in the matter of seats for the pupils, and especially is this the case in the grammar department, under charge of Mr. Robb, the Principal.

In the matter of finances, our school is behind hand, the teachers not having received any pay since September last. In the fall, a school meeting was held for the purposes of levying a special tax to defray the expenses of the institution during the winter, but was voted down, and rather than suspend the school, and allow the children to run at large on the streets, the teachers agreed to continue and await the collection of the school tax. The school tax, fines, &c., for the year amount to $4,537 61, which, after deducting the amount now due the teachers, rents, etc., will only leave a balance $2,400 to carry on the school for the remainder of the year. It is evident that this sum will not be able to meet the demands for the year; and therefore we think that it would have been a wise policy had the tax been voted at the last school meeting, and liquidate the debt that has been laying over the school for the past three years.

Truly the people of the Dalles have cause to be proud of their Public School, which, we venture to say, is as ably conducted under the present teachers as any like institution in the State.

THE STREETS.—There is at the corner of Union and Third streets a perfect man trap, which ought to have the special attention of our city authorities. In grading the street a jump off of about three feet was made, and if not attended to will result in the breaking of some person's limbs, and a consequent suit for damages against the city. We are informed on good authority that on Monday night, a lady while crossing Union at the intersection of Third street, got mired, and in extricating herself left one of her gaiters in the mud, compelling her to go to a neighboring house and procure assistance to find the missing article. Union street is one of the principal thoroughfares in the city, and should have good crossings at every street. On Third street, between Court and Union, there is a large pond of water, which, should warm weather set in, will inevitably produce sickness in that locality. Yesterday, on our visit to the public school, we found it necessary to wade ankle deep in mud at the intersection of Third and C streets, in order to reach the school. A great many children are kept from school owing to the want of crossings at the streets leading to the school house. There should be a sidewalk laid from the school house to Third street, and crossings at the intersections of streets in order that children may be able to go to and from the school. These matters should have the immediate attention of the city authorities.
