FACTS AND FANCIES.

A lawyer, who prided himself upon his skill in cross-examining a witness, had once an odd-looking genius on whom to operate. "You say that the prisoner is a thief?" "Yes, Sir, because she confessed it." "And do you swear that she bound shoes for you subsequent to the confession?" "I do, Sir." "Then," giving a sagacious look to the Court, "are we to understand that you employ dishonest persons to work for you, even after their rascalities are known?" "Of course; how else, pray, could I get assistance from a lawyer!" The witness was preemptorily ordered to stand down.

ABD-El Kader, while recently passing through Blois, received a deputation of the Freemasons of that city, joined by one of Tours and one of Nantes. The Freemasons complimented him on his acts of humanity and charity during the massacres in Syria. The amir thus replied: "I thank the present Committee for freemasonry in general. I regard freemasonry as the first institution of the world; and, in my opinion, any man who does not prefer to be a Freemason is an incomplete man. I hope the day will come when the principles of the order shall prevail in all the world, and then all its people will be at peace."

We hear that West point engineering has come to grief. The labor of fifty soldiers has been employed for a year past in building a dock of stone, some two hundred yards further down the river than the old one. Along the water's edge, too, with great labor a road of cut stone has been built, and the whole undertaking wanted only a few weeks of completion. It has been the abhorrence of the soldiers, for it has been a kind of "galley work," imposed upon them as punishment. It has been the superintendent, Gen. Cullom, as "the apple of his eye," and he has personally superintended it. Having finished the stone wall, earth was put behind it, and the foundation was shelving rock, when the earth became moist, it acted like a wedge, and every one was amazed and not a little pleased, one day recently, to find the whole affair non est, gone down the river, and scarcely a trace left of a year's labor and twenty thousand dollars.—[Hartfirt Press.]
