

Daily Mountaineer.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 21, 1866.

The Umatilla Advertiser has resumed publication.

The Pacific is advertised to leave on this evening at 6 o'clock; the Montana will also sail this evening at 8 o'clock.

OREGON HERALD "please X;" we have been sending the MOUNTAINEER to your address for some time, but do not get the Herald.

THE Walla Walla Statesman complains that teams, which had come to that town with facility, stall in the main street.

BROKE JAIL.—Frank Williams and Daniels, alias "Hoosier Dan," confined at Umatilla, on the charge of being the Orleans Hotel robbers, broke jail, by cutting through the floor, on Monday last, and effected their escape.

THE Oregonian is of the opinion that the opposition on the Willamette river is probably over. The facts have not come to light as yet, but a change of some kind has evidently taken place in affairs, by which the companies have compromised, or the Willamette Company have sold out to the People's Line.

YESTERDAY two of the Bloody Fourteenth first became drunk, and afterwards so noisy and disorderly that Marshal Keeler thought best to remove them from the streets to the city lock-up. To this they so strongly objected that a volunteer posse became necessary, and they were taken by main force to strong quarters, where, afterwards, one of them had to be handcuffed.

THE RUSH.—The steamer Oneonta brought up, yesterday, 273 passengers, the most of them miners. Advices from California give assurance that we may calculate upon a large immigration from that quarter. From the northern part of that State large numbers will pour in overland, and taking all these into consideration, we may expect a large accession to our population east of the mountains the coming summer. Of all the miners that come up east of the mountains it is estimated that fully two-thirds of them are on their way to Montana; while the remainder is distributed among the John Day and Idaho mines.

A COMPLICATION.—The last Legislature of Washington Territory passed a more stringent marriage law than the one formerly on their statute book, with the intention of arresting if possible, the frequent marriages taking place in that Territory, without law or license, and among the rest, the numerous runaway matches from this State. Under the apprehension that this law did not go into effect until sometime hence, Vancouver has of late become a perfect "Gretchen Green," and everybody was getting married there who could not do so elsewhere. It now turns out that the law took effect "from and after its passage," hence all of these marriages are null and void, in law. This reminds us of the two old maids who worked late one Saturday night, until one of them looking up at the clock, saw it was Sunday morning, and exclaimed, "La, me! we have committed adultery."

FROM THE HARNEY LAKE COUNTRY. We have been kindly permitted to make the following extracts from a private letter to a gentleman of this place from Mr. John Darragh, dated Camp Curry, March 5th:

The Indians have been carrying on a lively campaign this winter, having captured from Camp Wright eight head of beef cattle, the same number of cavalry horses and one tent with a few articles of little value. To accomplish all of which, they made three different visits to the camp. Capt. Williams has been scouting around the most of the winter, but has not been able to get a fight out of the Indians. On one scout, made in February, he had a man by the name of Jas. McKay shot and killed by the Indians, on the south side of Harney Lake. The circumstances were these: On a dark night, he was going out to relieve the guard placed over the animals, he received an arrow in his arm, from an Indian but a few feet from him, and when he turned to fire, which he did, he received another arrow his side, which caused his death in a few hours.

The First Sergeant of Major Perry's company was frozen to death while returning from a scout during the most severe weather of the winter. The command at this post has been very energetic in scouting for Indians; but like that of Camp Wright, has met with little success. While the Major was on a scout to Stein's Mountain, a few days ago, with a party of fifty-five men of his command, a party of Indians came to within twelve miles of camp, and attacked and drove in the guard that was placed over the hay. The expressman, Mr. Reed, was attacked and chased for about five miles, and narrowly escaped with his hair, when on his way to Camp Wright. Lieut. Hobart immediately sent out a small detachment, but they were unable to overtake the rascals.

It has been a mild winter in this country; snow about Harney Lake was not more than a few inches deep, and lay on the ground but a short time. About this camp the snow was deeper; but the weather through the month of February has been really delightful.

We find the following note from Lieut. Pepoon, dated at Camp Lyon, March 2d, to Capt. Walker, commanding Fort Boise, in the Idaho Statesman of the 2d inst.:

I have the honor to report that information reached here at 10 o'clock a. m., yesterday, that Indians to the number of thirty or forty had made their appearance on Jordan creek, twenty-five miles from this camp. An attack was made on the house of Dr. Inskip, his bay burned, and all his stock driven off. Capt. White, with twenty-eight men, started immediately for the scene of depredation, and intends to follow the marauders to their hiding place. The attack was made on the 28th ult.

HABEAS CORPUS CASES.—On Wednesday last Hon. J. G. Wilson, Judge of the Circuit Court, refused to allow a writ of habeas corpus to issue in the case of Jasper Smith, Wm. Redford, George Greer, William J. Jones, and James Evans, who were held to appear as witnesses in the sum of $5,000 each, in the case of the State of Oregon vs. Dr. Eli Alderman, charged with participating in the hanging of William Stoughton. On the question of onerous bail, the Judge decided that the magistrates had the power to place them under any bonds which they thought would insure their attendance as witnesses. He, however, reduced the bonds to $1,000.—Umatilla Advertiser.

THE BROWNSVILLE MURDER.—The most horrid murder in the annals of crime on this coast, was committed near Brownsville, in this county, on last Friday. The first report circulated regarding the inhuman crime was that Mr. Sidney Smith, an old resident of this county, had killed his wife and then committed suicide. An inquest was held over the bodies and evidence there elicited charging the crime upon Thomas Smith, a brother of the murdered man. Thos. Smith was immediately arrested, and, upon a preliminary examination, committed to await trial before the District Court. He is now in irons and closely guarded in a room in the Court House, in this place.—Albany Journal.

GOONS AT COST.—We would call the attention of our readers to the fact, that Messrs. Abrahamson & Kohlberg are selling goods at San Francisco cost. Parties desiring to buy clothing, will do well to examine their stock before purchasing elsewhere. ml8tf
