SATURDAY MORNING, APRIL 14, 1866.

THE CANYON CITY ROAD.

We publish below the proceedings of a meeting of the citizens of the Dalles, held at the Court House, on Thursday evening, for the purpose of taking action as to the best manner of ridding the road hence to Canyon City of the thieving bands of Snake Indians that now infest it. The meeting was largely attended, and the utmost interest was felt among those in attendance, that something should be done, and that speedily, to render this great artery of our trade secure from a repetition of such wholesale murders and robberies as has been perpetrated on the line of the road for the past two years. The committee appointed to wait on Gen. Steele and represent to him the condition of the country, and the insecurity of trade and travel on the road, will visit Vancouver today to discharge the duties assigned them, and it is earnestly hoped that the Commanding General will readily see the necessity of immediately sending more troops in that direction.—

Than the John Day country there is no richer mineral region on the Pacific slope, and thus far its treasure lies dormant for the reason that small parties dare not venture out to prospect, from the fact that their lives are endangered thereby. We know of one instance where a gentleman living in Canyon City, employed a man to go about ten miles from the town, to prospect a quartz ledge, and at the same time hired three men to guard him while prospecting. It was at this time that the rich cinnabar lead was discovered by one of the guard while ascending a peak to look out for Indians.

The troops stationed at Camp Watson during the past two years have done good service, considering their limited number, and it only needs a few such camps at other points of the road to give all the protection necessary for the safety of travel hence to Canyon City. The expedition which is to leave Fort Boise under Major Marshall, this summer, for the Harney Lake country, will, no doubt, do good service; but past experience has demonstrated that the appearance of troops in the Lake country tends to exasperate the savages, and they more than double their depredations on unguarded points of the Canyon City road. We have no fears but that Gen. Steele, after properly understanding the situation, will do what in his judgment he deems best for the protection of our people, and therefore we leave the matter entirely to the committee to give him the necessary information.

At a meeting of the citizens of Dalles City, for the purpose of considering and devising measures for the protection of the road from Dalles City to Boise, via Canyon City, from the hostile Indians, held April 12th, 1866, Col. Jas. K. Kelly was chosen Chairman, and E. E. Haft Secretary.

On motion of O. N. Denny, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to wait on Gen. Steele, the commanding officer of this military department, and represent to him the unprotected condition of the country through which the road leading from Dalles City to Fort Boise and Owyhee by way of Canyon City passes, and urge military protection against the hostile Indians for the same.

The Chair appointed J. E. Robbins, Henry Catley and Robert Pentland on that com-

On motion, the proceedings of this meeting were directed to be furnished the Mountaineer, with a request to publish.

On motion adjourned.

E. E. HAFT, Sec'y.

ANOTHER CHAPTER OF CRIME.—

We are compelled this morning to add another to the long list of fatal tragedies, that have shocked the community for the past two years. Reuben Raymond and John O. Clark were both members of the company of Ada county volunteers, recently returned from a scout against the Indians.— Last Monday there was a suit had in Justice's court, growing out of a contract with the man who furnished transportation for the company on the campaign. Raymond was one of the witnesses in the suit. About nine o'clock Tuesday morning Raymond and another man had a dispute in regard to the testimony given by Raymond. After some words had passed, Clark took a hand in the conversation, which by this time grew to be a quarrel, and the lie passed between Clark and Raymond. Clark then made a rush at Raymond and struck him or at him, Raymond dodging and drawing his pistol. Clark then drew his pistol. Some person now came out of the Bank Exchange saloon near by, and was about to take the pistol from Clark who refused to give it up.— Raymond said, "don't be afraid, I'm not going to shoot." Clark now told Raymond to shoot. Raymond replied "I don't want to shoot; I'll give you the first shot," at which Clark snapped his revolver, some of the witnesses say once, and some twice. The third time, taking deliberate aim, he shot Raymond through the abdomen.— Raymond did not attempt to shoot at all. He lingered until about dark of the same day and died. An examination was held before Justice Kline, which resulted last night in Clark being committed to appear at the District Court for murder.—Idaho Statesman.

BLACKFOOT EXPRESS.—

Messrs. Edgar, Buchanan & Waldron have started an express line from Walla Walla to Helena, Montana. Mr. Edgar leaves this morning for Walla Walla, from which place he will start on Thursday with the first express. It is the intention of these gentlemen to make the trip in the shortest time possible, and their known ability will be a guarantee for the performance of whatever they undertake in the express line. The time to Helena will be five days at present, but when their arrangements are perfected will be considerably reduced. We wish them success in their undertaking, as we know the company is composed of the right material to run an express.

Owing to the Indian hostilities on the road between the Dalles and Canyon City, Wells, Fargo & Co. refuse to carry treasure over the route. The letter express left here yesterday with a guard of three men. A sad state of affairs, and one that calls for immediate action on the part of the military authorities.

MAJOR FRANCIS, Paymaster, U. S. A., and Capt Williams, Mastering Officer, arrived from below yesterday. Capt. Williams will muster out Capt. Berland's company to-day; and the Major will give the "boys" some greenbacks to go out with.

The steamer Sierra Nevada, which arrived at Portland yesterday morning, brought 180 soldiers to Fort Vancouver. These men will be mounted as soon as horses can be purchased and sent into the Indian country.

We are indebted to Mr. West, of Wells, Fargo & Co., for files of California papers, received by the last
