

WEDNESDAY EVENING, MAY 16, 1866.

PARTIES who arrived here from Portland yesterday, represent that city as unusually dull.

The report that the British steamer Grandian was destroyed by nitro-glycerine is emphatically contradicted.

The old frigate Macedonian is at Norfolk navy yard, to be fitted up as a cruising vessel for the Midshipmen of the Annapolis Naval School.

The steamer that left Celilo for White Bluffs, last Friday, we are informed on good authority, had upwards of fifty tons of freight for that point.

JUDGES Woods and Col. Kelly, candidates for Governor, will be here on Friday and will address the citizens on the political issues of the day.

No News.—The Portland papers of this morning contain no news, the wire having "become demoralized" immediately after the operator commenced sending his dispatch.

Texas will be an informal meeting of the members of Columbia Lodge, No. 5, I. O. O. F., at the hall of Jackson Engine House, this evening at 8 o'clock.

Prominent members of Congress have received letters from the Honorable John P. Hale, Minister at Madrid, asking for more salary. He has only twelve thousand dollars in gold.

The Oregon City paper mills will be in operation early next fall, and will want tons of paper rags. Everybody should save their linen and cotton rags, for they will be wanted, and probably will bring a good price.

We learn from a reliable source that Company H, 1st Cavalry, will be ordered to Camp Watson, on the return of Gen. Steele to Fort Vancouver. The General is now on a tour of inspection to Puget Sound.

GENS. HALLOCK and Steele, it is understood are to meet at Camp Lyon, I. T., on the 10th of June, and from there they will travel through this department, making a critical inspection of all the military posts in it.

ABOUT a week since the Indians visited the ranch of Mr. Cozard, on the Canyon City road, and stole five beautiful American mares and colts, valued at about $2,000. A party went in pursuit, but were unable to recover the stolen stock.

The stampede from Canyon City to Olive Creek mines still continues. A gentleman writing us from Canyon City says that "Olive Creek is now the liveliest camp this side of Blackfoot. Miners are pouring in from all sides, but I would advise no one to go before June."

PERSONAL.—Quite a number of gentlemen arrived from below last evening, to attend the session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows now in session in this city, among whom are Hon. S. E. May, Secretary of State, E. N. Cooke, State Treasurer, Mr. A. L. Stinson and Mr. Denlinger.

ELK AND MOOSE'S CREEKS are booming with the muddy tide. Viewed from East Hill on a sunny day the two streams glitter in the distance like two silver lines, and slide away southward in a united volume, which, if constant, would entitle the creek to the more honorable designation of a river.

MILITARY ROAD.—The Washington correspondent of the Oregonian says: In closing my letter let me state that the Committee on Military Affairs have agreed to report favorably upon the bill introduced by Mr. Henderson to build a military wagon road from the Dalles by way of Camp Watson, Canyon City and Humboldt Basin to Fort Boise.

HORRIBLE.—The Arizona Miner, alluding to the killing of Major Miller and some of his party by the Apaches, says that one of the soldiers with Major Miller was shot in the head with an arrow. His companions tried to remove it, when it was broke off, leaving the point in his brain. He was soon crazed and uncontrollable, and died a horrible death, literally beating himself to pieces on the rocks by the roadside.

TAXATION.—The Idaho Statesman, in its issue of May 8th, has an article on Internal Revenue which we heartily endorse. It says that instead of a reduction of the present tax, the bill now before Congress will increase the revenue some sixty millions.—That is of course all wrong; and it is to be hoped will be materially modified. The country is already paying too much Internal Revenue. There is no need of the present generation paying off the National debt in ten or fifteen years. It is enough that it has borne the shock of the battle, and besides the interest pays annually a fair part of the principal. President Johnson is heavy on the exercise of the veto power—it is even threatened by his organs that he will veto some more. We most heartily hope that he will veto any measure tending to increase the present rate of taxation, and announce ourselves in favor of the veto in advance.—There is another feature of the bill that ought to be held up to ridicule, and that is the reduction of tax on incomes over ten thousand dollars. That is the most unjust feature of the bill. In fact it is so outrageous that it appears there must be an error in the report. For instance, incomes under five thousand dollars, pay five per cent.; and five thousand and over, ten per cent. Now it will not be denied that as a general thing, the man whose income is largest can pay his taxes easiest, even though he has to pay a higher rate than the man of small income.—But if this report be correct, there is a discrimination in favor of those incomes over ten thousand dollars, leaving those between five thousand and ten thousand dollars to pay the highest taxes of any. Certainly no such proposition can be entertained in Congress.

LANE AND THE MINT.—When Lafayette Lane, Democratic candidate for Secretary of State, was here soliciting the support of our people, he had the impudence to attempt to convey the idea that he favored the location of the Branch Mint at the Dalles. As Mr. Lane resides east of the mountains, having his home at Umatilla, one would naturally suppose that he would be true to the interests of Eastern Oregon; but alas for the frailty of his assertions, and what one would naturally suppose: his record proves the contrary.—On the 20th day of October, 1864, the memorial asking Congress to change the location of the mint from the Dalles to Portland was passed in the Oregon Legislature, our friend Lane, being then a member from Umatilla county, voting for it. The voters of Eastern Oregon will remember this against the dear little fellow in June.

STRANGE.—The Louisville Democrat says that on the 5th of February last, Michael King, about 17 years of age, was killed at Oakland, Kentucky, by being struck on the head with a stake which was drawn from the ground by an unruly horse. Two days after the fatal accident, and when the body was about to be buried the relatives of King thought they noticed evident signs of life, and the body was removed to the house, where he was kept several days. A report got into circulation at the time, to the effect that the boy had come to life. After keeping the body several days it was removed to the lower graveyard and placed in a vault, where it is now, and it has been visited by hundreds of our citizens. The body retains its natural appearance, is limber and warm, after being dead in the graveyard one month. We have heard no reason assigned for this strange phenomenon.

GRAND LODGE I. O. O. F.—The Right Worthy Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows of Oregon, met this morning, in Odd Fellows' Hall, in this city. The attendance was large. The report of the Grand Officers show a large increase in the order during the past year. The whole number of Lodges under the jurisdiction is 16; whole number of members, 679, the amount of receipts of the Lodges, $13,985. The Grand Lodge will remain in session about three days. By invitation of Columbia Lodge, of this city, the members of the Grand Lodge will accompany them on an excursion to Celilo, to-morrow, at one o'clock p. m.

DALLE'S MOUNTAINEER.—This paper came to us yesterday greatly reduced in size, but changed from a weekly to a daily.—Nevada Gazette.

A mistake. The change from a weekly to a daily took place some four years ago. You now receive the daily instead of the weekly exchange.

A CARD.

This is to caution parties having stock to transport from Portland to the Dalles, that the officers of the O. S. N. Company served as the following trick, on the trip of the boat on Saturday last: We went to the President of the Company, in Portland, and he agreed to carry my horses for $3 per head, and said the Clerk would issue tickets for that price: when we came on board the Steamer, they charged me $5, and refused to carry them for less. So the public can judge for themselves.
