

Daily Mountaineer.

Owyhee News.—From the Avalanche we take the following:

In most all the gulches mining has been vigorously commenced and is remuneratively carried on. Claimholders generally hiring all the hands they can advantageously work. In the main creek, men have rightly got to work, the stream having been so high as to completely wash away all dams and fill up claims. They expect to get at it soon now, and we may look for a few months of lively mining. It will be necessary to have creek claims represented by the 1st of June, as on that day the time for which they were "laid over" expires, and every claim unrepresented will then be subject to jumpers. All gulch claims have to be represented on and after the 15th instant.

Rumor has it that Capt. Collins, with a detachment of men, have had a four days' fight with the Malheur Indians, and come off second best. The Malheur has always been a favorite Indian country and we have never heard of any punishment being inflicted upon its inhabitants. In 1860, a party of one hundred and forty-three men, from Oregon, got driven back from there with a loss of their stock; and in 1863-64 several parties of forty and fifty met with the same treatment, these latter we personally know to be true. In 1865 (about one year ago) Lieut. Hobart, with a detachment of Oregon Cavalry, pursued some Indian thieves from Reynolds' Creek overtook them and had a spirited fight, but had to "fall back," &c., and before he could get ready to go at them again was mustered out. It is represented as being a fine locality for Indian life; also, has indications of a good placer mining region. Soldiers or others can always get a fight there, and a small squad will mostly get whipped. It is asserted by many that the Malheur is the retreat of the Indians who plunder and murder along the Owyhee river.

The material for the Democratic paper in Silver arrived last Saturday and Monday.—Col. T. Vault says it will be a week or ten days before it will appear, owing to much of the type being "piled" in freighting.

We notice a number of claims being worked by hydraulic process. Since our last, two have been put in operation up in Long Gulch. Notwithstanding it has been reported that only China placer diggings exist in Owyhee, there are hundreds of white men working them very contentedly.

The Cosmos Company are putting one more pan into their mill. This will make six pans to ten stamps which is a proper proportion for Owyhee.

Several weeks ago we announced the existence of immense bodies of chalk along the foothills east of here bordering on Snake Valley. We are informed that for many purposes it is a good substitute, though not the genuine article. It is as good for billiard cues as chalk. It is, however, said to have been proved pure clay by chemical analysis. It is white as snow, with less grit than chalk, and has been used to good advantage in white-washing.

Major Marshall came over to Owyhee a few days ago and took a survey of matters and things. Is disposed to move on the works of the enemy. Is trying to find out the haunts and is willing to go after male and female.—Has gone to the Owyhee via Flint District. Expects to establish a station or two in that direction. Will do all he can to protect the workmen while they bridge the Owyhee and make the road passable. We are informed that with this understanding, Col. Fogus is bound to open the route immediately. It will shorten the road to California by fifty miles. Have not seen the Major but are told that he is "on it"—that is, the Indian business.

READ THIS.

THE GRAND SECRETARY OF THE "OLD GUARD" CONFESSES HIS GUILT.

Tom Caton, for a long time the leading Democratic lawyer in Marion county, told the editor of this paper, in the presence of the Clerk of the Court and others, that he (Caton) was the man that organized the "Old Guard" society in Polk county; that the object of that society was to resist the arrest of persons by the United States authorities; or, in other words, that they, the Old Guard, would not allow their men to be arrested by the military for hauling down the American flag, rejoicing over the murder of President Lincoln, etc. Caton further said that they were prepared to resist the United States authorities in this matter, and that if another such an arrest as that of Fulkerson had been made, they would have resisted.—Oregon Statesman.

Voters of Oregon, the proof of Democratic conspiracy in Oregon, in behalf of treason, is full, conclusive and overwhelming.

If you are not ready yet to be represented in Congress and in the Executive and Legislative branches of the State Government, by convicted traitors, you must not vote for the Democratic candidates, for they were implicated in the treason confessed by Tom Caton, the Grand Secretary of the "Old Guard."—Oregonian.
