Riot Danger Less as Mexicans Consent to Wash.

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
EL PASO, Jan. 30.—To protect settlers unable to escape from the Colonia Dublin district, two cavalry units of the Pershing expedition are remaining behind, to remain until the last settler leaves. As soon as all who are in any danger have departed, the cavalry will hurry northward.
Several cavalry detachments are already nearing Palomas, near the border. Refugees stated that a wagon train a mile long, composed of Mormon settlers, left Colonia Dublin yesterday.
Passengers from Columbus said that a big review of the entire American expedition is scheduled for Palomas Lake, five miles over the border, Sunday.
One hundred cavalrymen of the de facto government, are guarding the international bridge to prevent fresh riots. Mexicans have agreed to submit to being bathed before entering the United States.

IMPROVEMENT IN FOREST PLANNED

GREATER DEGREE OF SANITA- TION AND COMFORT AT CAMP- ING PLACES TO BE OBJECT OF LOCAL FORESTRY OFFICE.

To introduce a greater degree of comfort and sanitation at the camping places on the Deschutes national forest, visited each year by thousands, will be the endeavor of the forest service, Supervisor W. G. Hastings announced this morning. Mr. Hastings has filed a report with the district office in Portland, asking for funds with which to carry out these improvements.
While there are approximately 100 such camping grounds on the forest, the work will have to be done gradually, and Mrs. Hastings plans for the coming season embrace only seven of the most frequented spots, the outlets of Odell and Crescent lakes, and points along the Motollus. In addition to general sanitation, camps (fireplaces will be built, tables and seats constructed, and signs giving instructions to campers posted.
The forestry department's policy in this regard was put into action last year, but Mr. Hastings feels that the work can now be done much more efficiently.

BEND QUINTET WILL PLAY PRINEVILLE

Local Five Shows Up Strong Against High School Team, Winning
59 to 17, Last Night.

Bend Prineville basketball teams will clash in the first game of the season in Bend next Thursday evening at the Hippodrome at 8:15 o'clock. The Bend five is now going in fair shape, and with two more stiff games this week to tune up on, the local quintet should be in the best shape for Thursday's performance against the Crook county five.
The local five has two weaknesses. The guarding is the weakest department of its tactics, although the prospects in this department look better than they did a week ago. Nelson is fast, but needs another man with equal speed to cover the guarding as it should be. The team is slow on foot as a whole, as was evidenced in its game last night with the high school, in which the town five defeated the high school 59 to 17. The school team, although midgets, played fast ball.

Reed and Foster seem to make up the backbone of the Bend team. Reed is about 90 per cent sure on baskets from the field, and Foster, towering no less than eight feet with his arms stretched skyward, handles the ball in passes and shooting in such a way that a center of ordinary height has little chance to tip the ball.

It is understood here that Prineville has a fast and aggressive team, that has been working for several weeks and is ready for Bend Thursday evening.

A nominal admission of 25 cents will be charged for the game.

COUNTY BILL GIVEN FAVORABLE REPORT.

SEATTLE BANK FAILS

Slow Return on German Loan is the Cause of Insolvency.

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)

Slow returns on loans constitute the cause of the failure. Many loans had been made to German interests some of them before the war.

CHARGE SCHOOL HEAD WITH DRUNKENNESS

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
SACRAMENTO, Cal., Jan. 30.—Charged with "drunkenness and immoral and unprofessional conduct," John A. McIver, principal of the Porta Costa, Cal., schools appeared before the state board of education today for a "fight to the finish." McIver stoutly denies all these charges which are made by the district trustees and has hired two prominent attorneys to defend him. The direct matter before the board is whether or not to revoke McIver's diploma.
The specific charge against McIver is that on October 7, last, he became intoxicated when he visited Martinez, Cal., to attend a board meeting. It is alleged that he spent considerable time in a saloon on Ferry street in that city, accompanied by his wife. The trustees also charge that he visited other saloons and imbibed so freely that he was plainly intoxicated.

to Qualify for Foster Company, Thinks Walter McCredie.

Clow pitched for Bend during most of last season. He hails from La Pine, is only 18 years old and has good prospects, with a little more bush experience.

JOY IS BROUGHT TO RUNAWAY BOY

LAD IS PROTEGE OF FOUR SALESMEN.

Ten-Year-Old Tom Madoc Decides Awarding of Contract, Then is Purchased Complete New Outfit of Clothes.

Great joy was brought yesterday afternoon to the heart of a small boy and almost as much to four representatives of Portland stationery houses, who played the part of good Samaritans to the youngster. The boy was 10-year-old Tom Madoc, who ran away from his home in Bend, two weeks ago and was brought back yesterday and his benefactors were A. C. Barnekoff, A. V. Wells, A. W. Miles and N. B. Chapman.

The party started when the boy, sitting in the county court room was asked to decide which of the four salesmen should receive the contract for furnishing supplies of a certain kind to the county, their bids having been identical. Drawing names out of a hat, Tom awarded the contract to Mr. Wells, the Irwin-Hodson man.

It was then that the attention of the four was drawn to the boy's shoes, nearly worn out and at least three sizes too large for him. With the permission of Sheriff Roberts, they took the youngster through the Bend stores and not only fitted him out with shoes, but with a complete new supply of clothes, including changes. Then they decided that his hair needed trimming, but their money was no good when it came to buying a haircut. The Metropolitan barber shop donated that.

A bath at the Pilot Butte hotel, in which the four took turns in scrubbing their protege until he was positively spotless, completed the celebration.
To say that Tom was highly elated, would be putting it mildly and this morning, he insisted on displaying his new finery before he was taken by Mr. Roberts to be returned to his foster parents.

COLLINS-HOWELL ARE ACQUITTED

JUDGE T. E. J. DUFFY IS REVERSED.

Opinion Holds Defendants Took No
Part in Action of E. Rea Norris
Against Elda Bell, on Ill-
Fated Auto Excursion.

SALEM, Or., Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The supreme court this morning sustained the appeal of the defendants in the case of the State of Oregon vs. Ethel Howell and John Collins, indicted September 14, 1915, by the grand jury of Crook county, and charged with having been party to the crime against Elda Bell, for which E. Rea Norris was later convicted at The Dalles, in September, 1915.

Judge T. E. J. Duffy is reversed, according to the opinion of the court, for not having sustained the motion of the defendants' attorneys to direct the jury to return a verdict of acquittal.

Resume of Case Given.

The court, in giving its opinion, recites the history of the indictment, indicating that while Howell and Collins participated in the ill-fated auto excursion to The Dalles, nothing is in the evidence to show that they ever influenced Elda Bell in any way which could be interpreted as criminal solicitation, within the meaning of the statute.

Dates Back to 1915.

The charge of which Mrs. Howell and John Collins have been acquitted dates back to July 9, 1915, when, according to a statement in the brief of the appellants, Rea Norris, one of the defendants convicted on a separate statutory charge, invited Ethel Howell to take a trip to The Dalles and engaged Collins to take them on the trip. On their way to The Dalles, they stopped at Tumalo, and Norris directed Collins to go to the home of Elda Bell, the prosecuting witness in the case, stating that he wanted to collect some money. The girl, it is stated, was not known by either Mrs. Howell or Collins. Miss Bell paid Norris $25 and asked him where he was going. Norris said he was going to The Dalles, whereupon the girl asked to be permitted to accompany them. The girl's father was present and made no objection to her taking the trip. When only a short way from Tumalo, Norris directed Collins, who was driving the car, to turn back as the girl wanted to return home, whereupon Collins did as directed, but after turning the car about and starting to return, the girl stated that she had changed her mind and would go on, and Collins was advised to proceed toward The Dalles.

Girl Cared For.

They stayed over night in Shaniko and went to The Dalles the following day, where the crime for which Norris was convicted at The Dalles was committed. During the trial of the case, both parents of the Bell girl died and she was later taken in charge by a Portland home-finding institution.

In this action the defendants, Collins and Howell were represented by Vernon A. Forbes and H. H. DeArmond, of Bend, and Jay H. Upton, of Prineville. The State was represented by Willard Wirtz and W. P. Myers.

The British counsel intimated that the fleet may operate about 200 miles off Sandy Hook.
Several steamship captains reported seeing mysterious vessels, and wireless messages reported that the sailing of allied ships is embargoed. The fleet from Halifax is steaming toward the patrol squadron, helping in the endeavor to trap the raider.

$500,000 MADE ON PEACE NEWS

RUCH TO VON BERNSTORFF, BUT DEFINITE EVIDENCE IS FOUND LACKING.

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Bernard Baruch, Wall Street operator, today told the members of the House rules committee, conducting the investigation as to the source of the leak of information on President Wilson's peace note, that he had cleared nearly $500,000 playing "peace hunches" in December. He said he sold 28,000 shares of steel, short, on December 19, when Lloyd George addressed the House of Commons, leaving the door of peace open.
The investigators apparently tried to trace the leak to von Bernstorff. The questioned Archibald White, a friend of von Bernstorff, but he denied flatly any advance information having been received. He denied trading during the period covered by the leak.

BEND IS FREE FROM DISEASE

HEALTH SURVEY HERE COMPLETED.

Better Disposition of Sewage is Ideal of Department—Ready Cooperation in Sanitation Program is Given by Mill Companies.

That Bend is entirely free from contagious or infectious diseases, is the report of Health Officer Dwight L. Miller, who with Chief of Police L. A. W. Nixon, acting health officer, has just completed a survey of local sanitary conditions. "As soon as the new county organization is absolutely complete, we will establish means of taking care of cases of the kind, should any arise," Dr. Miller says, "but in the meantime we must ask for the cooperation of residents, not only of Bend, but of the surrounding country as well." One of the ideals of the health department is to have proper means provided for the disposal of sewage, and thus eliminate all sources of danger.

Prevention Sought.

Bend industries, Dr. Miller and Mr. Nixon found, are more than ready to act on any suggestions given them. The survey was started on the complaint of residents along the river, that the waters of the stream were being contaminated by sewage and refuse. The two big mill plants were visited, and ready cooperation was offered.

At the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co. plant, men are now at work repairing the septic tank, and constructing a new one, while The Shelvin-Hixon Company is taking similar steps. Carl A. Johnson, of the latter company, went over the works in person, with the inspectors, and declared that the company is not only glad to have suggestions, but is ready to spend any amount of money needed to make health conditions ideal.

Particular attention is being paid by the health authorities to the sewage problem to insure the prevention of such diseases as cholera and typhoid fever, where the chief carrier of infection is water.

TRIES TO ENTER LOCAL HOSPITAL

UNKNOWN MAN TERRORIZES NURSES, BUT FLEES WHEN HELP COMES—ATTEMPT SEC-OND WITHIN WEEK.

A hurried telephone call from Miss Annette Blodgett, nurse at the Bend Surgical Hospital, at 9:15 o'clock last night, brought Dr. J. C. Vandeventer, Chief of Police Nixon and Night Officer Frank Kulp to the scene, but nothing could be found of the man who Miss Blodgett claimed had attempted to break into the place. The description she gave is that the man was tall, wore a black slouch hat and long overcoat, and tallies with that given by Miss Buelah Bennett, another nurse, and Joe Young, a patient at the hospital.

The two nurses were in a back room in the building when they saw the man rattling the window, apparently trying to force his way in. Young, still using crutches, necessitated by an injured foot, came to their relief, but found that the only revolver in the building was without shells. After they had used the telephone, they saw the man in front of the hospital, and this time he menaced Miss Blodgett and Young with a revolver. The nurses ran up stairs and locked themselves in until help came.

All three, who were down stairs at the time the man first appeared, caught a full look at his face, and believe they would be able to identify him.
Dr. Vandeventer states that the attempt is the second within a week's time, the first having been made last Thursday night. He does not believe that robbery was the object.
