SOX BELIEVE THAT PENNANT IS AHEAD
Squad Faces Hard Drill in Texas in Few Weeks—Rookies Have Only a Slight Chance.

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
CHICAGO, Feb. 21.—The Chicago White Sox, 35 strong, led by Manager Clarence (Pants) Rowland, and accompanied by a bunch of notables, will leave two weeks from Friday for their spring training camp at Mineral Wells, Texas. The squad will stay at this resort for two weeks where they will be given a hard drill under Rowland and his assistant, "Kid" Gleason.
"The White Sox will win the American league pennant, barring accidents," said President Charles Comiskey today. "They would have copped it last season if they had not lost several stars at crucial periods. Clarence Rowland is one of the greatest leaders in baseball and with such a batting army as Eddie Collins, Joe Jackson, Harry Felsch and Ray Schalk, they can't stop us, that's all. The race will be very close."
"There will be few new faces in the White Sox camp. Ten rookies will go, but few of them hope to stick," Ray Schalk, premier American league catcher, will be Rowland's "first string." He will have as assistants, "Jack" Lapp, Mayes, Linn and Gray, a youngster. The latter comes from Wichita.
At first base Rowland has his problem. This was the stumbling block last year. There are five candidates for the job—Ness, Fournier, Hasbrooke, Henry and Jourdan. Ness filled the place during the latter part of last season and Rowland announces that the man who gets the job will have to beat him. Fournier, a heavy batter, is weak as a fielder. Jourdan, Henry and Hasbrooke are youngsters. Jourdan comes from St. Joseph, Missouri, where he hit over .300 and stole more than 30 bases.
Eddie Collins will be found at second base. Last year Eddie was field captain, but there is a possibility that Rowland will relieve him of this as he believes Collins hitting was impaired by the worries.
On the other side of the diamond, Buck Weaver will play either short or third base. He can deliver in either. Candidates for the other job are Terry, McMullin, old timers—"Swede" Risberg and Bruce Hartford.

250 MILES OF FRUIT ARE AT ORANGE SHOW

(By United Press to The Daily Bulletin)
SAN BARNARDINO, Cal., Feb. 21.—One of those demon statisticians attacked the National Orange Show at the beginning of its second day here today and figured that if every orange in the show were lined up they would reach 250 miles. He also figured that the canvas in the tents would clothe 3400 women in duck dresses. And just by way of diversion he totaled up the feet of twine used to weave the canvas—only 192 million feet.

FIRE FIFTY SHOTS TO AVENGE ONE SOLDIER

Commanding Officers Directs Heavy Shell Fire at Germans When Miner Loses Legs.
WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES AT VERDUN, Feb. 21.—Artilleryman Pierre Chevallier, who was awarded the coveted military medal for the loss of his legs before Verdun, declared that the decoration did not give him half the pleasure he gets from the knowledge that 50 shots were fired by his battery at the enemy in revenge for the shell that mangled his legs.

Chevallier, who was a miner before the war, was attached to a battery near Souville for the purpose of constructing the bombproof dugouts and shelters that alone protect the artilleryman and his munitions when the enemy's gun happens to get their range. Because of his expert knowledge as a miner, his companions declare, he never constructed a single dugout that failed to resist the most terrible bombardment; that the enemy could direct against it.
Unfortunately Chevallier in the course of time won his six days of leave and while he was away another bombproof had to be dug by less experienced hands. Upon his return he expressed lack of confidence in the dugout and was engaged in fixing it right when a German shell pierced the roof and smashed both his legs.
An instant later the Captain of the battery leaped into the dugout and cried:
"Ah, my poor Chevallier, if it had only been you who had built the dugout there is not a shell in the world that could have come through it and you would never have been hurt like this. But you shall have the military medal for it. I shall propose you at once."
Then as the captain gazed into the eyes of his wounded soldier, a sudden inspiration came to him.
"But I'll do more than that," he cried, "I'll make them pay for your legs, and I'll make them pay dearly, too. Every gun in the battery shall fire 50 shots on the enemy for your right leg and 50 for your left."
"If you'll do that for me 'Mon Capitaine!' Chevallier replied, "I won't care about the medal."
Two Red Cross men whom the captain had summoned, entered the dugout and lifted Chevallier with his bleeding legs onto their stretcher. Just as they emerged, carrying Chevallier between them, the captain leaped before them, and his voice rang out:
"Battery attention! For Artilleryman Chevallier, wounded on the field of honor, 50 shots on the enemy; gun No. 1 fire."
As the first shell from gun No. 1 went screeching forth the captain's voice again rang out.
"Gun No. 2 fire."
Chevallier, who was fast losing consciousness, declares he heard gun No. 2 fire its first shot, and then again the captain's voice.
"Gun No. 3, fire."
The shell from No. 3 whizzed forth.

and Chevallier insists that before he forgot everything, he remembers faintly hearing again.
"Gun No. 4, fire," and then all four of the guns belched away together, but ever fainter and fainter until he remembered nothing more until he awoke in the hospital with both legs gone and the "Medaille Militaire" pinned on his breast.
