CONNIE MACK'S TEAM ENIGMA OF MAJORS

Infield of Promising Youngsters, With Veteran Outfield, Has Possibilities For Next Season.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 27.—The enigma of the baseball world is Connie Mack's team of Athletics. Whether it will begin to show something of the form predicted for it by 1917 by Mack when he began his historic dismemberment of the famous old Athletics is a puzzle that many baseball followers are trying to fathom today.

Mack has the basis for a good baseball club. Unless he deliberately wrecks what he has accomplished since Eddie Collins and his collaborators departed from Philadelphia he undoubtedly will have a better chance to finish out of eight places this year than was the case in 1916.

Mack has pieced together a very fair team of college baseball players. He has tinkered here and there, adding some minor leaguers and retaining some eggs in the old machine until he has a club that cannot be counted the easy victim of every other club by any means.

The feat of the Athletics in twice humbling the Yankees in a single day last summer was considered a huge joke by a great many, but there is more than one critic of the game who saw in that a foreboding of things to come, a return to power that once rested in the silent brain of Mack.

Mack has an infield that lacks a great deal of being a flivver. Almost any manager in the American league would be willing to part with many dollars to have Stuffy McInnis holding down first base. At second a youngster, Grover, is destined to perform and he has built up something of a reputation.

In young Lawton Witt, the 20-year-old youth picked up more than a year ago by Mack, the elongated leader has one of the most promising infielders who has broken into the American league in years. He is aggressive, can hit and field like a fiend and uses his head.

On third base Mack promises to place a minor league recruit named Bates. Advance notices speak very highly of him.

The outfield will be composed of Bodie, Thrasher and Strunk have been holdouts and, while Mack has promised the veteran Strunk a raise, he has promised Bodie a long vacation unless he signs. Thrasher is a recruit, but is said to be a powerful hitter and a clean, fast fielder. It is a hard hitting trio, with experience in two of the garages.

The pitching staff undoubtedly will see no new faces. Joe Bush and Elmer Myers undoubtedly will bear the brunt of the burden, with several promising colts to fall back upon. Two more pitchers who could perform consistently would make the Athletics a greatly feared club. Johnson and Nabors are the most promising other members of the staff.

Wally Schang, Meyers, Pielnich and Haley will fight for catching berths.

The Athletics present one of the strongest hitting combinations in baseball. They'll score plenty of runs against almost any kind of a baseball club. If they can get reasonable pitching it is fair to assume they will not finish in last place.

KLAMATH TERMINAL FUND LACKS $10,000

(Klamath Herald.)
There is yet to be raised for the Strahorn railroad terminal fund approximately $10,000 clear, according to Captain J. W. Slements, who is in charge of the raising of this money.

"That is the way the fund stands now if one or two parties who have promised to contribute large amounts do not fall to give them," said Captain Slements.

"We are getting a little along daily, but the progress is not entirely satisfactory, to insure the starting of work on March 1. Of course, right now the weather is hindering us slightly, as it is difficult to get into the country. I understand, however, that a committee is working in the country and is getting results."

"I received today a contribution of $10, which came totally unsolicited, from Winnick Bros., general merchants, of Port Klamath."

W. J. Long, representative of the Spitzer-Rorick bonding house of Toledo, Ohio, is here in the interests of his company, whose bid for the $300,000 construction bonds was accepted by the city some time ago.

He is meeting with the city council while here, and the details for the completion of the sale of the bonds are being worked out. The city officials hope to wind up this phase of the railroad work in the near future.
