BIRTH INCREASE IS PROBLEM IN GERMANY

Reichstag Will Sift From Many Radical Plans to Replenish Population Swept Away by War.

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)
BERLIN, March 20.—One of the biggest problems confronting the Reichstag, which reconvened here today is that of increasing the birth rate in Germany. Many radical proposals have been made and the government will sift them all.

The committee of 23, appointed to investigate this matter is expected to report. The more conservative proposals include economic steps to make earlier marriages possible; higher wages, regulation of vice and the limitation of disease, making marriage easier.

Other proposals include heavy bachelor taxes, plural voting rights for men with large families and money premiums for mothers bearing many children.

Another plan is to make professional education courses shorter, so young lawyers, doctors and professional men can get established and married before their 25th or 30th year.

FIGHTS FOR RIGHTS OF GIRLS OF LONDON

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)

LONDON, March 20.—A. Conan Doyle, creator of Sherlock Holmes, has convinced London that there are too many flappers on the streets for the entertainment of soldiers, and he has engineered the establishment of a number of "Bring-Your-Girl" clubs, where the soldiers and their flappers can go and have a good time.

Lady Betty Balfour conceived the plan and a number of clubs have been organized. Lady Emmett was first to respond, equipping two club houses. Each has a girl's club room, a men's smoking room, a billiard room and two recreation rooms.

Hunter Liggett to Be New Major General of United States Army

GEN. HUNTER LIGGETT

Hunter Liggett, nominated by President Wilson for advancement to the rank of major general in the United States army, in succession to the late Frederick Funston, has been a brigadier general since 1912. He commands the department of the Philippines. General Liggett is a Pennsylvania man, sixty years old, and was graduated from the Military Academy in 1875. When the Spanish war began he was a captain in the regular army, but became a major of volunteers with the office of assistant adjutant general. He was graduated from the Army War College in 1910 and was a member of the general staff in 1910-12.

JAPANESE STRATEGY.

The Clever Way a Willy Old Warrior Deceived the Enemy.

Many a man has failed to guess an easy riddle because the simple solution looked like a trap to him. Here is an instance in which this trait of human nature was cleverly played upon by a Japanese nobleman.

The old lord had been forced to flee with only 300 men before an enemy with 10,000 and barely had time to reach his castle ahead of his foes. There were no re-enforcements near at hand, and he knew that if an attempt was made to storm his defenses he and his men would be dead before help could come.

The enemy's forces advanced rapidly, and scouts rode up near the castle to reconnoiter. To their amazement, they found the gates, doors and windows open and all the appearance of a holiday celebration. They rode hastily back to inform their master that the foe was dancing and that bands were playing music in the castle.

The powerful enemy was too wise a man to put his head into any such trap as that. The defenders of the castle must have some plan to slaughter his forces by wholesale or they would never invite him in that way. He drew back to a safe distance and encamped to await developments. Soon the re-enforcements for the castle came up behind, attacked him suddenly and defeated him, while the garrison, which had risked all on its stratagem, charged him on the other side.

HER HUSBAND'S CLOSET.

And What the Grateful Wife Said and Did When She Saw It.

There was once a husband who dreamed of having a closet all his own. He dreamed of a place where he could go at night and find things just the same as they were in the morning. He dreamed of a place in which he did not occupy with his timid little two suits a remote hook, while all the rest of the circumambient space was filled with—well, what every husband knows. He dreamed, and he said, "I will take advantage of my wife's absence and hire a carpenter and a locksmith and fix that closet up to suit myself and put on it an impregnable lock and key, and then I shall laugh softly and say, 'At last the great day has come!'"

And he did it. And when that night his wife came home and saw the work that he had done, she said:

"Where is that key?" And the husband, trembling—for he was no Bluebeard—produced it forthwith. And when she saw the ample space within she fell on his neck and said:

"My darling, the four new frocks I have bought this day, and the crepe de chine party wrap, and the fur lined Mother Hubbard, and the others—your thoughtfulness has provided for."

And the man went out in the garage and banged his dress suit there—as he had been wont to do—and sighed to himself, saying, "Good night!"—Life.

Pronunciation in Ireland.

Many persons seem to see, or to hear, rather, something to be amused at in the soft Irish brogue. As a matter of fact, most of the words of the Irish "dialect" are not Irish at all, but the purest of English—English a trifle antiquated, it is true, but nevertheless the real thing. The ears of Milton, Dryden, Spenser and Chaucer would not have been surprised to hear an Irishman speak of "a rough say" or "a clane shirt." At the court of good Queen Bess the cultured Englishman carefully garnished his conversation with "goalde" rings and brave "swoordes" and lured his friends with accounts of the smart sayings of the "chilidre" at "boom." This was the English originally imported into Ireland by the cultured Irish, and the Irish have found it good enough to preserve.—Chicago Tribune.

Chinese Names.

"We may all be pardoned for giving up the puzzle of Chinese names," says a writer, "and yet this little vocabulary may help the newspaper reader through dispatches that come from China. King means metropolis; Fu, provincial capital; Chu, a second class city; Kien, a third class city; Kiang, a river; Ho, a stream; Hai, a lake or sea; Tao, island; Chan, a mountain; Ling, a pass; Ta, big; Siao, little; Kouan, fortress; Wei, camp; Men, carrier; Pei, north; Nan, south; Si, west; Chang, upper; Pai, white; Hei, black; Yang, blue. Nanking therefore is southern metropolis; Peking northern metropolis.

COSTLY THEATER SEATS.

New Yorkers Forced to Pay Fancy Prices This Winter.

It is not alone in the charges of restaurants and cabarets that the roistering thousands have raised havoc this winter in New York. Theater tickets, for example, have become a prohibitive luxury for the average man and in New York may cost almost anything.

Upon one occasion after the season had got well under way an attempt was made on a Friday to buy orchestra seats for the next Saturday night for any one of the ten best drawing attractions in the city. To begin with, it seemed that all tickets had got into the hands of speculators; also that the speculators had already disposed of the bulk of their supplies and, thirdly, that such left over, none too good seats as they still had could not be obtained for less than $5 apiece.

There was a particular rush at the time this attempt was made, but nevertheless under conditions normal to this year the good seats for successful

Grand Theatre.

For artistic effect and realism, the Pathe Red Rooster films have no equal. So popular have these films become, and so clear are they that Manager Rudow expects to use them regularly for his Tuesday-Wednesday shows. Tonight and Wednesday will be featured William Courtney and Mollie King, popular Pathe stars in "Kick In," a play which had a big run on the legitimate stage.

On Thursday and Friday will be shown the petite Peggy Hyland, in "The Rose of the South."

This story tells of the strife between the North and the South in the days of '64 when the women of the country quietly played such important parts in the victories of the armies.

Peggy Hyland plays the role of Mr. Moreno's sweetheart and when he is held captive by the Northern soldiers in her own home, she is frantic for fear that she will not be able to save him.

Gaining permission of the guard in charge of the room, to take the captain some food, she enters with her slave carrying the luncheon on a covered tray.

The next scene shows her leaving the room with the man carrying the empty dishes, but something in the walk suggests to the mind that it is not the same man.

The surmise is correct as the soldiers afterwards find, much to their dismay, for the crafty little flower of the South has forced her slave to change clothes with the hero, in order that he might make his getaway from the room and ride back to his army not far distant.

Miss Hyland plays this role in the sweet natural way which has won her so many friends.

productions cannot prevailingly be secured for less than $5 apiece, and the best seats are usually half as much again, mounting higher toward the end of any week.—Cameron Mackenzie in Saturday Evening Post.

FIGHTER IS HONORED

Fans Present Billy George With a Handsome Gold Mounted Belt.

Representing the esteem in which he is held by the followers of the fighting game in Bend, is a belt, with heavy gold mounting, presented last night to Billy George, middleweight coast champion. As a further evidence of admiration, funds are being procured to purchase a diamond to be placed in the center of the mounting.

The belt is the work of Myron A. Symons, of this city.

BARBER SHOP MOVES

The George barber shop will be moved this week to a temporary location on Wall street, just north of Oregon, to permit construction to proceed on the new building adjoining the First National Bank. It shall occupy the same space in the new building as soon as completed. In the meantime customers will find the shop just around the corner of Oregon, on Wall street. Adv. 80-91c

AN ANNOUNCEMENT.

Mrs. Nettie Stevenson wishes to announce that the Cozy Restaurant will occupy the entire building erected by A. G. Brook on Greenwood avenue. It is to be called the Hotel Cozy. I wish to thank the ex-mayor, Mr. Eastes, and the councilmen under his regime, who made it possible for me to continue in business while waiting for the new building. Also to thank my friends and patrons who have so generously patronized me while camping on Greenwood avenue. My place has been cold and unattractive, yet business has been fine. Since Christmas I have opened late and closed early, thus affording me much needed rest, but the new place will be open during the usual hours, from 6 o'clock a. m. until midnight.
