WATCHMAN FIRES ON TRESPASSERS AT DAM

C. S. Tigard Exchanges Shots With Men Who Emerge From Under Bridge—Escape in Auto.

Foiled in what is believed to have been an attempt to blow up the log pond dam at The Shevlin-Hixon Company and the Brooks-Scanlon Lumber Co. mills, a party of three men emerged from under the north end of the bridge connecting the two plants at 4 o'clock this morning, exchanged shots with the night watchman, C. S. Tigard, and escaped in an auto standing nearby in the road. Pursuit is being headed by Deputy Sheriff Earl Houston and Chief of Police L. A. W. Nixon, and it was intimated that clues had been secured which might lead to the capture of the persons implicated. Some doubt was felt by the authorities as to whether the affair might be the result of a German plot, or the manifestation of I. W. W. activities.

Night Watchman Tigard was at the south end of the bridge when he first became aware of the presence of the men at the other end. Running down the bridge, his footsteps frightened the intruders, and they left their hiding place, firing two shots at him as they neared their car. Neither shot took effect, and no harm was done by the two shots which Tigard fired in return, as far as could be learned.

As the car whirred away, an alarm was turned in, and the authorities have been busy ever since in their endeavor to apprehend the men.

It was noted by the night watchman as the plotters retreated from under the bridge that one of them carried a suitcase. It is believed that explosives, intended to destroy the dam and bridge were contained in the receptacle.

One man was arrested this afternoon by Deputy Houston, on suspicion, and it was believed that another arrest would follow before evening. The name of the prisoner was not divulged, nor the nature of the evidence against him.

BANK TO TAKE SUBSCRIPTIONS

The First National Bank has been authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to receive subscriptions for the two billion dollar war loan recently passed by Congress. Subscriptions are receivable up to June 17 and are redeemable July 17 at 3 1/2 per cent. The First National Bank will subscribe $5000 to the war bonds.

At the Central Oregon Bank, Cashier H. M. Stephens reported that the bank is co-operating fully with the Treasury Department in placing the loan.

on the future prosperity of Bend! Does not that sound good to the owners and prospective owners of property in Bend? And furthermore, the parties willing to do this are fully acquainted and satisfied as to the future development and prosperity of Bend. Otherwise such a proposition could not be obtained, and the parties of small means would be obliged to continue to pay the landlord the high rentals, which soon pay for a home, but of which you have nothing to show but a bundle of rent receipts. You can make these receipts equal a deed. I will build you a home on most desirable property close to mills and heart of town. Draw the plans to your order, for only 10 per cent down, balance two and one-half per cent per month. You will have to act quickly as this proposition can not last always. There are other reasons why you should see W. H. Ray, builder. Phone Black 1351. Leave address and I will call. 120-26p

DECLINE OF TUBERCULOSIS.

Only Poverty and Insanitation Will Prevent its Extermination.

If tuberculosis shall continue to decrease in this country at the same rate as in the past half century it will be obliterated in another decade. This is the opinion of Dr. Cleveland Floyd, expressed at the Harvard Medical school. There are two conditions, however, which will prevent the complete obliteration of this lung disease at present, and these are poverty and lack of hygienic surroundings.

Dr. Floyd said that almost everybody has the germs of this disease in his system, but that he is able to resist their attack through living a healthy life and through the protection of nature. Inhalation and infection are the two common ways by which a person contracts tuberculosis. Children may get the germs in impure milk, but outdoor play prevents the spread. It often happens, however, that when people go to work in shops or insanitary offices or live in crowded rooms the disease shows itself and gains a foothold. That is why so many persons between the ages of nineteen and thirty-two acquire tuberculosis. Massachusetts, however, is making a determined resistance against the disease, and good food, fresh air and a good blood circulation form a sure preventive. These should be guaranteed to every child.—Boston Transcript.

MANAGING A SNAKE.

How to Capture and Control Any Reptile Without Danger.

If you are quick and fearless you may manage any snake so long as you are armed with a cane or a piece of wood like a cane.

Push the snake around in any way that you can in order to prevent him from coiling. When you have him in just the right position make a very quick move and place your cane across his neck just behind his head. Then you have him. He cannot get out of control.

Now bend down and grasp the snake in the place where your cane rests, just behind his head. With your right hand put his body under your right arm. No matter how enraged the reptile may be he can do no harm as long as you hold him in this position. His body is held by your arm against your side so he cannot coil around you or around any convenient object.

In handling snakes in the house it is essential to keep away from furniture or anything which the snake could coil about. They are very strong, and once they get themselves wrapped around any object it is exceedingly difficult to pry them loose.—Popular Science Monthly.

Mock Suns of the Arctic.

The mock suns of the arctic regions are somewhat similar to the mirages of the desert. As the long winter night of the polar region wanes once every twenty-four hours a slight glow is seen at some point on the horizon. Often accompanying this glow is seen the phenomenon of the mock suns. Several degrees up in the heavens as many as five of these spectral orbs have been seen at one time. Invariably they are all connected in a geometric figure, the suns seemingly bound together with circles and arms of light. The explanation of the phenomenon is given by physicists as refraction and reflection of light from the real sun below the horizon on the mists in the upper atmosphere.

Reviving Dying Trees.

A curious method of reviving languishing or dying trees was reported recently to the French Academy of Agriculture after being tested successfully in experimental gardens at Autun, according to the Popular Mechanics Magazine. The earth was first removed so as to lay bare the larger root branches, in which longitudinal slits were then cut and kept open by wedges. These cuts were well rubbed with linseed oil, and after awhile numerous small roots appeared, forming a sort of fur, and the trees so treated rapidly gained new life and vigor. The method was recommended for trial in the case of languishing fruit trees.

A Rash Bargain.

The minister dropped into the village barber shop for a shave, at the close of which he proffered the usual ten cent price of the shop.
 "I'll take it in preaching, sir," replied the polite barber, refusing the offered coin. "My friend," rejoined the minister with some dignity, "I haven't a ten cent sermon." "That's all right, sir," quickly retorted the barber; "then I'll go twice."—Christian Herald.
