

NAVAL RECRUITS COME TOO FAST

APPRENTICE SEAMEN MUST WAIT UNTIL TRAINING ACCOMMODATIONS READY, SAYS RECRUIT FROM THIS CITY.

Naval training camps are so badly crowded at the present time that men and boys enlisting as apprentice seamen must wait until new accommodations are provided, or until detachments of sailors now in training are shipped out, according to Robert Fulton, until yesterday a student in the Bend high school, now a member of Uncle Sam's naval forces. Young Fulton passed to Portland Wednesday night, and returned to Bend this morning to wait until he is summoned to training camp. Those who are shipping out in some special department of the service, he says, are being taken care of as fast as they arrive.

Seventeen Bend boys were examined for enlistment last night by Recruiting Officer T. L. Carriger and Dr. G. L. Cousineau, 16 passing with high ratings, while the seventeenth will have a chance to enter the service. The percentage is considered excellent.

Those taking the examination were H. McKenzie, Myron Powell, Robert Innes, L. H. Kelley, Robert Horner, John Bates, Ralph Curtis, Steve Steidl, C. Boyd, Roy Clemens, John Steidl, Howard Young, A. Hunnell, R. A. Stevens, M. L. Coyner, G. L. Putnam and V. E. Putnam. They will all leave next week for Portland.

EARLY BEND INVESTOR DIES IN PORTLAND

W. E. Guerin Passes Suddenly at Daughter's Home—Was President of Deschutes I. & P. Co.

William Estil Guerin died Thursday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James M. Coghlan, wife of Dr. Coghlan, 185 North 25th street, following an attack of acute ailment of the lungs only a few minutes before.

Mr. Guerin came to Seattle from Columbus, Ohio, in 1899, where he had been president and actively identified with the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking Valley Railroad company for many years. There he became interested in the Seattle, San Francisco Railroad & Navigation company. The central Oregon country attracted his attention, and he accepted the presidency of the Deschutes Irrigation & Power company, and became an important factor in the upbuilding of Bend and the development of central Oregon, attracting investments of capital and the interest of capable men of known ability and enterprise.

In 1913, Mr. Guerin retired from active affairs, and thereafter resided with his daughter in this city. Mr. Guerin was born in 1847 in Michigan, and was active in business affairs and railroad financing and management early in his career.

Funeral services at the residence in this city will be held on Friday afternoon, and the body will be taken to Columbus, Ohio, for interment. His daughter will accompany the body.

Mr. Guerin is survived by the following children: Mrs. J. M. Coghlan, of Portland; W. E. Guerin, of Cleveland; R. F. Guerin, Seattle; Dr. J. T. Guerin, Seattle. Henry F. Guerin, of Columbus, is a brother.

Mr. Guerin had been in Bend as recently as December, 1916, and had spent a part of the winter at Alhafa. Coming here with his son, W. E. Guerin, Jr., in 1904, he was associated with him in the Deschutes Irrigation & Power Co., a forerunner of the C. O. I. Co., being vice president of that corporation, and was also interested in the telephone, bank and ranch properties.

BILLY SUNDAY UPHOLDS THE WAR

Grand Theatre.

The third episode of "Patria," the striking serial photo-play that is to be seen Saturday at matinee and Saturday evening at the Grand Theatre, is rapidly coming into strong popular favor. The third episode deals with the "Treasure," considered to be one of the stirring episodes of the serial. In addition to this feature will be shown Beatrice Fairfax and a Crazy Kat cartoon.

Bend Theatre.

Norma Talmadge, of recent movie fame, but better known on the legitimate stage, will be seen for the first time in Bend at the Bend Theatre, in "Martha's Vindication," Saturday night and Sunday matinee. The story deals with a girl's strong fight for her reputation. The play is ably assisted by Miss Talmadge's presence.

PITCHERS TO ORDER ARE FURNISHED BY FORMER WHITE SOX

By H. C. Hamilton, (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 4.—Frank Isbell, the bald eagle, is dividing his minor league time between sitting on the bench running his ball club and making pitchers for the major leagues.

Since Izzy departed from a first class job of first basing for the White Sox he has been roaming around in the Western league, owning a team here and there and piloting one or another the rest of the time. He has settled variously in Pueblo, Wichita and Des Moines, with the balance in favor of Des Moines.

When Izzy first came to the Des Moines club he had pitching for him Joe Benz, Red Faber, Claude Thomas and a few others of lesser importance. Faber and Benz have become stars. A little later the Minneapolis American Association grew tired of carrying George Mogridge around and he was sold to the Des Moines club. Izzy promptly began teaching George some pitching tricks and sold him to the Yankees. His recent n-hit performance against the Red Sox shows whether he learned anything.

Mogridge had been with the White Sox half a dozen times and then was turned over to Minneapolis. He had pitched baseballs nearly every place they have them.

Pitchers seem to be Isbell's specialty, but he also has donated some others to the national pastime. Connie Mack has one of Izzy's former payroll burdens or blessings in Pat Haley, catcher. Bruce Hartford, now with the White Sox, is a former pupil of the bald eagle. Carl Sawyer, who supplied the American league with its laughs last year, grew up under Frank Isbell's instructions. Joe Leonard, Washington's third baseman, did most of his early work under the watchful eye of the former American league star.
