MIKE, TRENCH CAT, SOLD FOR $2380.00

Feline Hero of Western Front Is Auctioned Repeatedly for Benefit of Red Cross.

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)

LONDON, May 19.—On an ordinary back-fence, yowling his love-song in the moonlight, Mike wouldn't be considered much of a cat. But in Red Cross auctions so far he has realized $2380 for wounded soldiers and his money powers seem good for that much more.

Mike is the doggedest, unimpressive cat to look at! Tail, ears, eyes, fur, purr and whiskers are his inventory. He isn't a mouzer and he has a laxy predilection for lengthy snoozes in the sunshine.

But he is a hero and that makes him valuable. Mike stuck around in the bitterest fighting at Mons and has been in nine other fierce engagements on the western front. Private Bradley, a killed Scotch lad, rescued him and brought him to Aberdeen where Mike began being sold back and forth by Red Cross patrons.

RETAIL GROCERS FACING PROBLEM

Campaign of Education for Those Laying in Abnormal Supplies of Food Will Be Considered.

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)

TOLEDO, Ohio, May 22.—Confronted with a food crisis, 5000 retail grocers from all parts of the United States met here today for their national four day convention to discuss the question of feeding a nation.

Not since the Civil War have retailers faced such grave problems of feeding a nation at war, with a food shortage on one hand and steadily soaring prices on the other, according to J. J. Ryan, secretary of the National Association of Retail Grocers.

One of the big questions for consideration will be a campaign of education aimed at those individuals who "lay in" an abnormal supply of food in anticipation of a rising market.

"We believe there is going to be a shortage of food if the war lasts any length of time, and the idea of some persons storing a great quantity of groceries while others are in want is against patriotism," declared George Sawkins, Toledo grocer, who will take a prominent part in the convention.

The grocers will seek a fairer treatment of the small grocer, who, because he buys in smaller quantities, is unable to compete with the larger grocer.

Retailers are to make a desperate effort to keep wholesalers from boosting prices but admittedly they are working against heavy odds.

Government contracts and a ready market abroad will compete with the retailers who wish to hold prices to the minimum. The grocers say people cannot afford to pay higher prices. The retailers, if they are unable to hold wholesale prices down, will face the necessity of pushing prices higher steadily or quitting business, officials say.

Delegates from European countries who have usually attended, will not be present this year.

QUAKER SHOWS WILL START ON THURSDAY

After being delayed on the road by a multitude of troubles including bad roads and breakdowns, the Quaker Show company will definitely reach Bend this evening, according to a telephone message received by Loring Pefferle, advance agent. Their first performance will be given Thursday night at the Hippodrome, their entire stay here embracing a 10 day schedule.

GROCERS OF NATION IN BANQUET TONIGHT

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)

TOLEDO, O., May 22.—Following a series of addresses on war problems as they affect grocers, nearly 5000 members of the Retail Grocers' Association will attend a banquet in the Terminal auditorium tonight that will make heavy inroads on grocer supplies of the city which is entertaining them in annual convention.

The day's program included addresses by W. B. M. McIntyre, Davenport, Iowa; W. F. Fluke, New York; C. F. Kurtz, of Iowa State University, and L. M. H. Attenbach, of Denver.
