TRENCH TALES

"We were holding a line of German trench one day," said an Irish infantryman, "and the Boches counter-attacked pretty heavily. We'd been told the position was important, and we stuck to it for all we were worth but after a bit our bombs and ammunition began to run out. One of the new men was sent back to get help. He found an officer of the battalion further back, who was so knocked out he could hardly move. The man salutes and tells how things are. 'You've no more bombs,' says the officer, half asleep. 'No, sir.' 'No more rifle ammunition?' 'No, sir.' 'Well, then' said the officer, 'Swank them.' 'Yes, sir,' says the man and he gave parade salute and hurried back to the trench. We swanked them all right, and held on until we were relieved. That's the only case I ever heard where a company ran out of ammunition. You'd think that with the quick way we go forward there would be lots of cases but it's marvelous how everything follows up an advance nowadays. The guns are up in quick time, the transports keep the rations and ammunitions up to scratch, the pioneers and labour companies get busy on the captured land almost as soon as we've passed over it. I tell you the thing works like magic."

Today's War Recipe.

(From Britain's official win-the-war cook book.)
Vegetable Pie—Two potatoes, three artichokes, three tomatoes, one dessertspoonful barley flour, two sticks celery, one pint of milk, one dessertspoonful margarine, seasoning to taste. Bring the milk to the boil and thicken it with flour. Cut up all the vegetables into small pieces, mix them, season and put them into a well-greased pie dish. Pour the thickened milk over them, dot the fat over the top in small pieces. Bake for half an hour or more, keeping the dish closely covered, except for the last five or six minutes to give the top a chance to get brown. Test the vegetables to see if they are tender before serving, as sometimes they take longer than a half hour to cook, depending on their age and the heat of the oven. You can use any vegetables you like for this pie, and in any proportions.
Never cut the crust off a slice of bread.

WE MUST SAVE WORLD HAS SPRING CLEAN-UP

American, Wounded at Vimy Ridge, Tells of Need of Help.

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)
TACOMA, Wash., June 20—"France is a graveyard and England is exhausted. America must save the world."

That is the message brought to Tacoma today by William Hambleton from the battlefields of Europe. His assertion is backed by 18 months spent with the Canadian regiments. He was seriously wounded when the Canadians captured Vimy Ridge.

However, Hambleton says the United States will finally win the war. "Well, that depends entirely upon the manner and speed shown by this country during the next few months, in getting started and the spirit aroused in America," he declared.

Hambleton tells a vivid story of the fighting overseas. The Germans take the dead from the fields, he declared today, to laboratories behind the lines where chemicals are made for gas bombs, certain kinds of shells and the acids used in gas attacks.

Two months after Hambleton enlisted, his wife joined a hospital unit. She has been honorably discharged and the two will go to Los Angeles, their former home, to live.

KLAMATH FALLS HAS FIVE BOX FACTORIES

(Klamath Record.)

The Big Lakes Box Company which has been reconstructing the old Savedge Brothers plant, has its machinery installed and several million feet of lumber contracted for and is intending to commence operations the first of next week. The plant is in fine shape and will employ about 35 men and will run all winter if enough lumber can be secured to keep the plant going.

The Chelsea Box Company that has been erecting a new plant near the fair grounds now has most of the machinery in place and will be ready to start within the next 10 days. This plant will employ 35 men and is the fifth box factory in Klamath Falls and vicinity.

These factories start at a time when the demand for box shooks exceeds the supply and with well known experts in the box manufacturing business in both factories, a bright future is predicted for them.

NURSES URGED TO STAY ON JOB

HEAD OF AMERICAN AMBULANCE HOSPITAL IN PARIS ADVISES THEM TO STAY IN THE UNITED STATES.

(By United Press to the Bend Bulletin)
NEW YORK, June 20—Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Sr., head of the American Ambulance Hospital in Paris, strongly urges public health nurses in the United States to apply to their profession the principles of selective conscription during the war. She advises them not to throw up their positions here for the sake of undertaking work abroad.

"One of the great needs of America," she said, "will be for public health nursing. The organizations which are engaged in this work, instead of being weakened by loss of membership should be strengthened to meet the increased demands which will be made upon them. Trained and experienced nurses who are now taking care of women, children and tubercular patients in their homes and in dispensaries can do no greater work for the country and for humanity than by remaining on their jobs."

"They must not consider themselves slackers or feel that they are lacking in patriotism if they stick to their daily round of duties. On the contrary it would be absolutely wrong for them to give up their work and jump at the first chance which offers for war service abroad.

"Somebody has to take care of the women and children while the men are at the front. It is irrational for those who take care of them, and who know and understand their needs to fly off to some other place and work and leave them at the mercy of inexperienced workers. We all know that war breaks down home conditions. Sickness and poverty follow in its wake and there are a thousand and one ills, which have
