O'KANE BUILDING

Saturday night and Sunday matinee at Liberty Theatre.

AT THE MOVIES

Liberty Theatre.
Though perfectly innocent in everything she has done, Vesta Wheatley-Randolph, in "The Bondage of Fear," finds that after she is happily married, she must fight for her happiness. Her fight is made necessary because something happens to a former sweetheart of her's. Here is a thrilling, intensely interesting, wonderfully entertaining film that will grip your attention without a let-up through every foot of the five reels. This newest World Picture Brady-Made will be shown at the Liberty Theatre on Saturday night and Sunday matinee, in addition to the new Fatty Arbuckle comedy, "Reckless Romeo." Miss Ethel Clayton plays the principal character and is supported by an especially able cast including Rockliffe Fellowes, Arthur Ashley and John Bowers.

SUPPLIES HERE FOR RED CROSS KNITTING

Yarn and needles for sweaters and mufflers have arrived at local Red

Cross headquarters, and instruction will be given on next Wednesday and Friday by competent knitters, it was announced this morning by Mrs. W. C. Birdsall, of the Bend chapter. Only plain knitting will be required for this kind of work, it is explained. All Bend women who understand knitting, or who are willing to learn, are urged to report at headquarters. Probably the next knitting to be undertaken will be in the making of socks, and this will be started as soon as the proper needles arrive. In the meantime, it is asked that any having needles suitable for sock knitting, report the fact in order to eliminate delay.
