What have you done today to help win the war?

SOME READING.

Although it does not look much like it now, we are reminded by the calendar that winter is coming. And that suggests time to keep indoors and read. Here is a list of books that a Chicago librarian says all boys should read. Which ones of them have you provided for your boy?

- "Mother Goose Rhymes."
- Andersen's "Fairy Tales."
- "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp."
- Perrault's "Tales."
- "Pied Piper of Hamelin."
- "Rip Van Winkle."
- "Don Quixote."
- Boutet de Monvel's "Joan of Arc."
- Hale's "Man Without a Country."
- Sir Thomas Mallory's "King Arthur Stories."
- Kipling's "Jungle Books."
- "Tom Brown's School Days."
- Pyle's "Men of Iron."
- "Robinson Crusoe."
- "Treasure Island."
- "Franklin's Autobiography."
- "Hiawatha."
- "Tom Sawyer."
- "Oliver Twist."
- Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare."
- "Swiss Family Robinson."
- "Alcott's "Little Women."
- "Ivanhoe."

D'Annunzio was reported to have met a "fitting death," and now it appears he is alive. Apparently he does not see fit to fit in with the ideas of his friends, but will fight the Huns again.

Make up your mind not to exceed your quota on Thanksgiving Day.

Fats are fuel for fighters; bake, boil and broil more, fry less.

Kerensky seems to belong to the Roaming Off family himself.

Jefferson county now knows where its county seat is.

Save a loaf of bread a week. Help win the war.

If money will do it, Stanfield will get by.

LUMBER HAULED FOR BROTHERS BUILDING

(Special to The Bulletin.) PRINGLE FLAT, Nov. 21.—Four heavily loaded lumber wagons passed through Pringle Flats Tuesday afternoon, from the Maury Mountain mill, bound for Brothers. The lumber will be used in the erection of a large barn for Mr. Coffey.

Mrs. F. J. Hamlin has been quite ill the past week with neuralgia. Word has been received here that Mr. and Mrs. Albert Palmer, formerly residents here, have a fine young son.

Mrs. Stetson is stopping at the Hamlin ranch this week on account of her sister's illness.

The Woman's Country club will meet with Mrs. Eric Danielson this week, Saturday.

Mrs. Eric Danielson drove to Held Monday after a load of freight for herself and Mrs. Stetson.

Mrs. F. J. Hamlin and Mrs. Palmer went to Brothers Tuesday to take the stage for Bend, where Mrs. Hamlin will remain for some time having dental work done.

CARD OF THANKS.
In appreciation of the patronage accorded us by the people of Bend and the vicinity at our annual carnival, we wish to extend our thanks and to promise that the profits derived from the carnival shall be expended in the construction of a Moose club which will be a credit to the community.

Good Things Now In Market

Thanksgiving dinners this year will cost only 10 per cent more than 1916, in spite of the increase in prices. Turkeys, fruits, mince meat and most of the other delicacies that form part of the annual feast are just as plentiful as ever, the pinch being felt where eggs, lard, butter, sugar and fats are used in any quantities.

The housewife who has turkey for dinner this year will be getting off much cheaper than the one who has a leg of mutton or a pork roast, as the fowls cost less per pound. Fowls live weight, are costing the dealers 20 cents a pound and are selling dressed at an average of 30 and in some cases 29 cents. A wagon load of live birds was brought into town last night by a rancher and disposed of on the street at 25 cents. The proprietor of one market said yesterday that he could buy 1000 turkeys more than he needs between now and Thanksgiving, the birds have been raised in such numbers this year in Central Oregon. A great many of these will be held over until Christmas and a few may be shipped out. Last Thanksgiving turkeys were not nearly as plentiful but now ranchers are in town seeking markets at the hotels and restaurants in hopes of disposing of their flocks.

Chickens are also to be had in quantities, the prevailing price being 28 cents. In addition there is plenty of poultry of all kinds. Geese, although to be had, will more likely sell better at Christmas time.

The principal part of the turkeys have come from the close vicinity of Bend, many being raised near Pilot Butte and some at Sisters and Redmond.

A visit to the grocery stores impresses one with the big stock of goodies on hand, with prices almost identical to those of 1916. There is a noticeable lack of currants. What stores are fortunate enough to have this imported fruit are selling them at 25 cents a package while some others have been forced to take re-cleaned currants on account of no shipments having come into the country. Raisins and candied lemon peel are still on the market at their old prices. Citron has taken a jump from 30 to 35 cents.

Mince pies will not be made a luxury beyond the purse of the average buyer. One butcher claims that that very necessary ingredient, suet, is half a cent lower in price than last year. If one leaves out the currants and the old time liquid flavoring, she may still have fruity filling for her pies.

Nuts average 30 cents a pound, according to grade. Peanuts and chestnuts are 25 while almonds in some shops go as high as 35 cents.

The more substantial necessities of the dinner seem to have stationary prices. Cranberries will be two pounds for 35 cents or 20 cents a quart. Celery ranges from 19 cents a bunch to two for a quarter. Apples and oranges and elder are the same as usual, while potatoes are cheaper than they were last Thanksgiving.

It is also interesting to note that sugar was $8.66 per sack at the market price in November of 1916, whereas it is now only $8.46. Vegetables are also lower and more plentiful on account of the late season, which has likewise affected fruits.

FARM LOAN CHARTER NOT TO BE GRANTED

(Special to The Bulletin) PLAINVIEW, Nov. 21.—The Plainview National Farm Loan association has received word from the Spokane bank that no charter can be granted to the Plainview association. The sudden death of C. B. Kogley, last appraiser sent out by the bank, left unfinished reports and it is believed this fact greatly influenced the decision.

Mrs. Hartley took several ladies to the Red Cross meeting at Sisters last week. The ladies are learning to make surgical supplies.

Mr. Hardy, from a ranch near Bend, was a week end caller in Plainview. He has been riding for cattle in this vicinity.

Mr. Hoss and family made a trip to Bend Saturday.

Miss Nellie Scoggin is spending several days in Bend with her sister, Mrs. Louis Bennett.

The O. D. O. club met with Mrs. Tweed last Thursday. Plans for aiding in the Red Cross work were discussed.

The ladies chose lavender and cream for their club colors, and the Mariposa Lily for their flower. After the business meeting two comforters were tied in a short time. Refreshments were served.

WESTERN UNION TO LOSE TWO EMPLOYEES

Both manager E. A. Charlbeorg and operator Don E. McLaurin, of the Western Union office, will leave Bend tomorrow night to enlist in the navy as radio electricians. No word has yet been received from the Portland headquarters as to who will take their places. The men recently came here to fill the vacancies left by C. C. Finley and W. F. Aldrich.
