What have you done today to help win the war?

WHY WE MUST SAVE.

More facts concerning the sugar shortage are coming out daily. In large advertisements the manufacturers of a well known soft drink announce their ready willingness to comply with the government's request that they cut down their production by a half, and sugar hoarders are reported to be under surveillance by the food authorities. Just what sugar means in the war has nowhere been better shown than in an article by a well known eastern physician who writes as follows:

"Our allies need food, and the shortage of ships compels us to send them those foods which combine the greatest amount of nourishment with the smallest bulk. One boat loaded with sugar (or wheat flour, for that matter) can carry as much nourishment as four boats filled with potatoes. A few realize this, but many do not. The submarines have sunk so many of our boats that now we must make each remaining boat efficient and do the work of four boats. This is the reason for saving sugar and flour, because only in this way can we get sufficient food to our allies. Who doubts but that the Italians would have made a better showing if they had been well fed? May not every unfed Italian, French or English family want to quit the war and leave all the fighting to us? Any parent, therefore, who seeks to shield a son from a German bullet, and child who cares for a brother in the war, should give up cane sugar, so that it may be sent to the allies. Nurses, remembering Edith Cavell and their fellow-nurses at the front, will surely wish to forego their candy and send it overseas. And is this not an opportunity for all members of temperance organizations to show self denial and go without sugar, just as they have asked so many men in the past to make a greater sacrifice and go without alcohol?"

"Fill the sugar bowl, but keep the cover on so that no one will carelessly use it. Tag the bowl with the date and let the children keep account how long it lasts. Choose a sugar spoon half as large as the old one, and let the children have a spoonful, but go without it yourself. The amount of sugar saved in this way is surprising. A teaspoonful of sugar saved each day makes five pounds a year. In a few days the limitations do not seem a hardship. I know a hospital in which the nurses have adopted this plan, but they tag their bowls with the words, 'Who is patriotic?'"

"Put fruit instead of sugar on cereals. One apple contains three teaspoonfuls of sugar. Omit frosting on cake. Reduce sugar in recipes one-third to one-half, and continue to do this while the war lasts, even though sugar is again available. Let us use what our grandmothers did instead of sugar—namely, molasses, syrups and honey."

"Explain to everyone that sugar is our ammunition in this war; it is the gunpowder we can all contribute. If we can't fire a shot, we can send a pound of sugar. Food will win the war."

Says the Madras Pioneer: "'Bob' Stanfield has 'cast his hat in the ring' as a candidate for United States Senate, to succeed Senator McNary, present incumbent. Senator McNary is very popular, has made a splendid record for the short time he has been in the senate, and his many friends believe he is deserving of being elected to that position. Therefore, Mr. Stanfield has probably undertaken a pretty stiff job, possibly the largest one of his career."

That "honor" man who escaped from jail Thursday will be needing shoes rather badly.

Don't forget to put a stamp on that deed.

Winter has begun well.

Costume Party—

Unique in many respects was the dancing party given last Saturday night at the Emblem club by a number of the younger women of Bend. The affair was a costume party, the guests appearing in many original creations which caused much merriment. Hartranft at the Klein apartments. Miss Lois Simmons played the wedding march, to the tune of which the bride and groom advanced into the flower adorned rooms. Miss Klein was charming in dark blue broadcloth with a large black picture hat. She carried a cluster of white carnations.

Following the ceremony the young couple departed on the train for Eugene, where they will make their home. Miss Klein is the daughter of Joseph J. Klein and is well known here. Her husband was formerly connected with the forestry office in Bend but has been transferred to Eugene.

League Is Entertained—

The Epworth League were guests at a party given by F. Thordarson and Miss Hazel Hazelton at the Thordarson home Wednesday night. About 30 young people were present to say farewell to Craig Coyner, who has enlisted in the aviation corps and in whose honor the gathering was called. Games suitable to "Turkey Inn," at which place the affair was supposed to be held, were indulged in. Refreshments were served around the fireplace while marshmallows were toasted. An attractive decorative scheme was carried out in the house, beautiful yellow chrysanthemums being the predominating feature.

Knitting Bee—

Faculty women of the Bend high school invited the girl students to an informal tea last Saturday afternoon at the Emblem club rooms. Knitting was the popular pastime. Tea and dainty wafers were served by the hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller Hosts—

One of the many Thanksgiving dinner parties was that at which Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller were hosts at the Pilot Butte Inn Thursday. Their guests were Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Gould and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heyburn.
