LID LIFTS A LITTLE ON SALE OF POULTRY

Non-Layers May Be Sent to Market Now, and Freedom of Sales Expected April 1.

CORVALLIS, March 21.—When is a hen that lays an egg not an egg layer?

The lid on selling hens in Oregon prior to May 1 has been lifted a little, and non-layers may be sent to market now, providing a certificate to that effect is sent along with them, properly dated and signed by the grower.

But suppose one of these old bidders that averages about an egg a week happens to choose the market day for the event, and the dealer finds an egg or more in the coop of non-layers?

"That doesn't make her a layer," explains U. L. Upson, federal and Oregon Agricultural college poultry extension man for Oregon. "If a hen lays so seldom as to be wholly unprofitable, she is a non-layer in the legal sense of the term, even though she does drop an egg once in a while."

Mr. Upson made a representation to the Oregon food administrator of the hardship the rule is working in many parts of Oregon. Mr. Ayer took the matter up with the federal department at Washington, and has received a wire modifying the order. It was also explained that in all probability the ban will be lifted altogether April 1, a full month ahead of the time set in the general order.

STEVE STEIDL GETS SECOND CLASS RATING

Tells of New Fad in Haircuts at Mare Island—Electrical Class Finished.

Steve Steidl has just written his father, John Steidl, of his promotion in the electrical school at Mare Island. He explains the meaning of his new rating. The letter is as follows:

"I made second class out of the electrical school; that is, I am now a second class electrician and of course means that I am a second class petty officer also. Second class is the best one can make out of a school without having had previous sea experience, which I haven't had. There have been perhaps 50 or 100 second and third cruise men graduated or rated out of this school, but none that I know of has got better than second class, although they were eligible to better if they could make it. There were only 10 in my class, of which five made second and five third rating.

"We have now been transferred to the receiving ship with orders to stand by for draft, but I fear it will be two or three months before I get out of here. I would like to get out of this place as soon as possible for I do hate to wait so long. I am hoping that I can get on a destroyer, for I do want something at least a bit exciting.

"There are on the receiving ship a number of fellows who were saved off the Jacob Jones, the destroyer that was torpedoed a couple of months ago. A good many are also from the war zone, most of them sent here to wait until their cruises is over (they are called short timers). Most all of them are re-enlisting.

"We are having more regulations here every day; they are making haircuts the specialty now. Everyone has to have a regulation haircut by tomorrow or be subject to a summary court martial. At the seaman's barber shop here they will take no instructions at all. They cut your hair to suit themselves, which is a feather edge all over but a spot on top and in front about two inches across, where the hair is left about three-quarters of an inch long. It sure looks frightful.

"Ivan McGilvray is on guard up at the magazine. He is with Company B, Section 5, U. S. M. C."

AT THE MOVIES

JULIAN ELTINGE in "The Clever Mrs. Cadax" A Paramount Picture 5287

AT LIBERTY THEATRE
 Friday and Saturday

LIBERTY.

The "Made in Oregon" Paramount photoplay, "The Clever Mrs. Garfax," by Hector Turnbull and Gardner Hunting, and starring the renowned feminine impersonator, Julian Eltinge, will be the attraction at the Liberty Theatre on Friday night and on Saturday matinee and night.

Primarily a comedy, "The Clever Mrs. Garfax" takes its heroine through many hair-raising adventures and provides thrills a plenty. Julian Eltinge as Mrs. Garfax is unbelievably dainty and fastidious in trailing frocks or stunning bathing suit.

This picture is of particular interest to Oregonians as it will be remembered that through the efforts of the Portland Chamber of Commerce Julian Eltinge and his company were brought to Portland for the filming of a part of "The Clever Mrs. Garfax." Many views at the Albers dock and along the Portland waterfront are readily recognizable, as well as some fine "shots" taken on the Columbia highway.

A Mack Sennett Keystone comedy, with an all-star cast, "Her Torpedoed Love," will also be screened.

How Much Does He Save?

A professional man says it costs about 7 cents a mile to run his auto. This includes oil, wear and tear, insurance and upkeep generally. Once a week he drives to the country and buys supplies, butter, eggs, chickens, apples, potatoes, etc. Sometimes he covers 50 miles on a trip. Thus, according to his own estimates, his expense would be fully $3.50 for the 50 miles. If he buys eggs at 5 cents a dozen, butter at 5 cents a pound, chickens at 4 cents a pound cheaper than he can buy them in the city—and he buys them merely for his own family use—how much does he save?—Indianapolis News.

His Case.

"I know a man who knows perfectly how to manage a wife in every particular."
 "He may know how, but does he do it?"
 "No, because they won't let him out of the insane asylum long enough to."

Notice to Prospective Ford Buyers

It is evident from all reports that Ford cars will be hard to get in a very short time as the factory output has been curtailed by 50%. This means that fewer cars will be available. We therefore urge that you place your order immediately so as to enable and assure you of reasonably prompt delivery.

We will be glad to give you any further information by calling at our office.
